THE FIRE QUESTION.

To an innocent bystander it would seem that the function of the Commercial club committee on fire protection was to keep after the city council until results were obtained. If obtaining results necessitated finding money, or developing way and means, first, the committee should work with the council to this end. This being done, it could aid in forming a volunteer department. Beyond that it would seem as though it were unnecessary for the committee to go.

Recommendations for additions to the fire equipment have been made by deputy fire marshals who apparently knew their business. They made an estimate of the cost. The immediate question is simply whether or not the money can be found to purchase this material and, if it can be, whether or not the council will purchase it.

If it is purchased, or if it is not, there is a collateral question, namely, the organization of a volunteer department. This also will require some money which must come from the council. If the council will furnish it the committee can help in the organization of the volunteers. If the council will not, or cannot, furnish the money, it will be up to the committee to suggest how the money can be found.

THE NEXT LIBERTY LOAN.

On September 28 will open the sale of the fourth issue of Liberty bonds. What the total will be, what the quota for the state, what the county quota, is not yet known, but it seems probable that the amount will be so large as to make the Deschutes county quota at least as much as was subscribed on the third loan. This subscription, it will be remembered, was $236,100, against a quota of $117,000. If we do as well next month as we did last spring we shall reach the goal easily.

Although subscriptions to the loan will not be taken by the banks until the opening day, it is the hope of the campaign managers that long before then the people will have made up their minds to take bonds in the necessary amounts so that Oregon's quota will be reached in a few minutes on the opening day. To that end the questionnaire card will be used as in the last drive and individual quotas will be set. While we are waiting for the announcement let's make up our minds that we shall be among the first again.

In connection with the repairs being made on the steel bridge above the power company dam it would be a good plan to place netting along the rail by the foot walk. There are wide spaces between the pipe rail through which a child could easily fall, and that is the place on the bridge most attractive to a child and at the same time the most dangerous. A netting would cost comparatively little and it would bring relief to many a parent whose children have to use the bridge.

Mr. McAdoo has urged that all railroad employes remember the courtesy that is due the public. Treatment of the public by railroads under government control will be one of the tests of the service.

From the look of the court room yesterday afternoon, there are still a number of non-fighters in town whose work is not very pressing.

INSCRIPTION ON FISH'S TAIL

Mystery to Natives of Zanzibar, Though Scientists Say it is Nothing Much Out of the Ordinary.

A strange fish was recently caught at Zanzibar with Arabic characters upon its tail. The fish was not one of a large haul, but was caught by a single fisherman, who brought it to the fish market. There it remained for some time, having no purchaser, as it was a strange fish and one that had never been seen before in those waters. Finally an Indian of the sect called "Memen" purchased it and, on the strange markings being noticed, it was taken to a widely-known Arab scholar, who deciphered the inscription. It was afterward taken to the sultan, who also recognized the wording.

That night 3,000 rupees was offered for the fish and refused, and on the following day 5,000 rupees was refused, according to Scientific American. The original price paid for the fish was 5 pice (about 3 cents) and it was eventually decided to have it preserved. For this purpose it was taken to the government laboratory, where it was treated with formaline. It has since been placed on public exhibition.

There are two distinct inscriptions on the tail, one on each side. On the one side it reads "Lallah Illalah" ("There is no God but Allah") and on the other "Shani Allah" ("A warning sent from Allah"). There is no suspicion of anything in the nature of a fake about the matter and the mystery is so complete that no explanation of the strange phenomenon is forthcoming. The Arabic lettering is perfectly plain and the discovery has caused wonderment throughout the Mohammedan community of Zanzibar. It was identified as holacanthus semicirculatus, Cuv. et Val., a widely distributed Indo-Pacific species of chaetodontidae. An authority on zoology considers the markings as falling within the limits of normal variation of the species.

EXERCISE OF WILL NEEDED

No Reason Why Women Should Not Obtain a Maximum of Physical Strength and Power.

Women can obtain greater physical strength and power so soon as they determine to do so, and adopt a different mode of living. There is absolutely nothing in the woman's organization that forbids it, as we are finding out more and more daily. Many young women are too lazy to grow strong. They cannot walk a dozen blocks, or do anything that calls for the slightest physical strength. Why? Because there is any inherent quality in the woman's body forbidding it? Not at all. Because they never have done it. There is no other reason on earth.

The women who are growing stronger mentally and physically can smile at the objectors who tell them they cannot do this or that, and answer by doing what they are accused of being incapable of doing. But the more timid and younger ones, who yet hesitate to venture into new fields of activity in the face of opposition and ridicule, need the assistance of professional opinion and the encouragement of those who have gone before.—Montreal Herald.

INSECT PRODUCTS OF VALUE

Many Small Creatures Make Contributions to the Country's Wealth of No Insignificant Amount.

We have many insect products of no small value. Most familiar are honey and wax from the bee.

There is also a Chinese bug which secretes a kind of grease on various trees. This hardens into wax, and is collected, melted and purified, when it becomes white and glossy in appearance, and when mixed with oil can be made into candles. The cochineal, a scale insect living on cacti in the American tropics, besides having medicinal qualities, yields the two dyes called carmine and lake. While nowadays most dyes are chemically made, the natural dye of the cochineal is employed in coloring soldiers' uniforms, as it stands the weather better than commercial dyes. The pupae of a Mexican black fly which swarms in great quantities near Lake Texcon are used as fertilizer. No enlargement is needed on the work of the precious silk-worm—a native of China which is now raised here also. Commercial shellac is obtained by melting lac, the resinous substance produced by an East Indian scale insect and deposited in a crust on twigs to contain the insect and its eggs. The export value of lac from Indian ports in one year has risen as high as 33,000,000 rupees. Lac has also been used to make dyes, but while the lac industry is a growing one, the employment of lac in making dyes has probably had its day. The best lac is obtained from Bengal and the central province of India. It is also used as stiffening for hats, sealing wax, as an ingredient of lithographic ink, in electrical work and in the manufacture of gramophone records.

PARIS MUST HAVE ITS FASHION SHOW

By Webb Miller
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PARIS, Aug. 21.—While the German guns are thundering day and night only 46 miles from Paris, hundreds of girls and women are working feverishly preparing for the great autumn fashion show.

Despite the perils of ocean and trans-channel travel, millinery and gown buyers from the big establishments on Fifth avenue and Oxford street, and even from faraway Buenos Aires and Rio Janiero are already flocking to Paris for the opening autumn shows.

Here and there on the boulevards the "last minute" things in women's hats and gowns for the coming season are appearing. The German menace to Paris has utterly failed to shake her position as the world's fashion capital.

At a recent meeting of the Chambre Syndicate de la Couture Parisienne, an association of the principal gown manufacturers, the modistes protested against the reports that the big establishments were curtailing their activities on account of the danger to Paris.

Mme. Paquin, president of the Chambre, said that the autumn show would be as great an event as ever in the fashion world.

"All of the big places are busy this
