ONE YEAR AGO TODAY (April 30)

Germans renew powerful attacks against weakened British and Belgian lines in Flanders.

In the bitterest day's fighting of the 1918 offensive French Jose Scherpenberg hill, north of Ypres.

Few American troops thrown into the fighting below Amiens to stem Hun tide.

Von Armin applies crushing tactics to destroy Allied line from Arras to the North Sea.

Council of Allies agrees only American troops can save the war, and plans to release all shipping to hasten troop movements from America.

SUBSCRIBE NOW TO THE VICTORY LIBERTY LOAN. WHAT WOULD YOU HAVE PAID FOR VICTORY THEN?

FAMOUS WAR FLAG FOR FIRST STATE IN VICTORY LOAN

Emblem that Flew When War Was Declared to Go to State With Best Record

The flag that floated over the capitol building at Washington when Congress declared war on Germany will be presented to the state attaining the highest percentage of oversubscription of its quota in the Victory Loan. Already it is a historic relic.

Not only was this flag flown during the passage of the war resolution, but twice before, the first time during President Wilson's second inaugural, March 5, 1917, and the second time while the president was making his plea before Congress for war on Germany, April 2, 1917.

Elliott Woods, superintendent of the capitol building, gave the flag to the Treasury Department which will make the award.

In years to come many a pilgrimage will be made to the capitol building of the state winning it as a prize in the Victory Loan.

Plenty of Pine.

Deliveries of southern pine to the government from July 1, 1917, to May 28, 1918, were 2,600,000,000 feet, which, it is estimated, would require a solid train of cars extending from the gulf of Mexico to the Canadian border, and would make a board walk three feet wide extending six times around the world, or build a solid board fence 50 feet high that would circle the geographical borders of the United States.

NEW TAX STARTS WORK TOMORROW

Wide Range of Necessities and Luxuries Come Within Scope of War Finance Measure.

Pennies are going to come in mighty handy after today, for, starting tomorrow, the government is going to take them away from you to help pay the cost of the war. Uncle Sam is going to be a penny richer every time you buy an ice cream soda, or 25 cents' worth of pills, salve, tooth powder, hair dye, perfume, etc.

Commencing Thursday, you'll pay 10 per cent. tax on the following articles costing more than the amount mentioned. Picture frames, $10; trunks, $50; traveling bags, $25; handbags, purses, $7.50; table lamps, $25; umbrellas, parasols, $4; fans, $1; smoking jackets, $7.50; women's hats, $15; men's and boys' hats, $5; caps, $2; shoes, $10; neckties, $2; men's silk hosiery, $1; women's silk hosiery, $2; men's shirts, $3; pajamas, nightgowns, underwear, $5; kimonos, petticoats, waists, $15.

The new "luxury" taxes will hit a lot of other things, ranging from movie shows to chewing gum and candy, and from automobiles to smoking materials.

TED ATLAS WOULD WRESTLE GUSTAVO

Challenge Stipulating $1000 Side Bet Is Sent Through His Manager.

Leo Doudlah.

Believing that he has a wrestler in tow who can handle Ad Gustavo, undefeated since he has made Bend his headquarters, Leo Doudlah, formerly of Bend, has written to Tom Carlson asking a match with the northwest middleweight champion and declaring that his protege, Ted Atlas, will want a $1000 side bet as an inducement. The challenge also stipulates that all the gate receipts shall go to the winner of the bout.

Atlas wrestles at 150 pounds, within eight pounds of Gustavo's weight, so that there is little to choose between the two men in this respect.
