

LIQUOR LADEN AUTO IS LOST DURING NIGHT

FEAR IS FELT FOR U. S. DEPUTY.

WORD PHONES REPORT

W. C. Cooper, in charge of one of two prisoners being taken to Portland, last seen at Maupin—Sheriff is warned.

That G. W. Wilson, arrested two days ago by Federal Agent Tom Word on a charge of bringing liquor into a dry state, may have made his escape while being taken to Portland for trial by W. C. Cooper of this city, is the belief of Sheriff S. E. Roberts, following a long distance telephone conversation with Mr. Word, who was in The Dalles early this morning. Apparently from five to seven hours had elapsed since the federal representative's arrival in The Dalles with James King, the other prisoner, but the car in charge of Mr. Cooper had not yet shown up. More than 400 quarts of whiskey, which King and Wilson are alleged to have brought into Oregon from California, were carried in the two cars, and Wilson was at the wheel of the machine in charge of Mr. Cooper when the autos pulled out of Bend at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

May Head for Portland.
According to information which has reached the sheriff's office, Mr. Cooper was last reported at Maupin, and the federal agent's report by telephone this morning indicated that in some way Wilson had gained the upper hand and might be speeding for Portland with his carload of liquor. "I think I've been double-crossed," Mr. Word shouted over the phone, but did not say in exactly what way Wilson might have regained possession of the car and its cargo of wet goods.
No further information had been secured up to late this afternoon. Sheriff Roberts is keeping a close lookout in case Wilson might attempt to come back through Central Oregon, but this is not considered as highly probable.

By Fred S. Ferguson
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

This situation is reminiscent of the closing days of the framing of the German peace treaty. Following Premier Clemenceau's rejection of the revised plan for admitting Germany to the league of nations, which is understood to have been specified for a date not far distant, the "Big Four" is trying to reach a compromise.

AUTO TRUCK IS HIT BY TRAIN

BERT ESMOND JUMPS AND BREAKS ANKLE—DRIVER STAYS WITH MACHINE AND SUSTAINS NO INJURIES.

Jumping from the truck driven by H. McCall of Paisley just before the machine was struck by a locomotive at the Franklin avenue crossing last night, Bert Esmond of Silver Lake sustained a fractured ankle and severe contusions of the hip and shoulder. He was immediately taken to St. Charles' hospital for treatment. The driver stayed with the truck and was uninjured, the machine being merely brushed off the track by the slowly moving train.

Engineer Shearer, in charge of the locomotive, states that whistle and bell gave warning in ample time before the crossing was reached, and that neither of the men on the truck was aware of the train's approach is accounted for by the fact that the roar of the motor, unsoftened by a hood, prevented them from hearing any other sound.

The Redondo arrived in port unaided, although her bow was crushed in. The captain reported that several of the crew of the Graf Waldersee were injured in the crash.

Admiral Gleaves received a wireless saying that the Graf Waldersee is within nine miles of Long Beach, but that the condition of the ship is becoming worse.

Later advices stated that the Graf Waldersee had been beached and the crew taken off. It was filling rapidly when it reached shore.

RAILROAD MEN EXTEND HELP TO STRIKERS

COMMERCIAL WORK IS FORBIDDEN.

BLOW IS HEAVY ONE

Order Will Close Thousands of Small Offices, Prediction—Union Operators Intercepting Many Messages.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.)

LOS ANGELES, June 12.—Orders to railroad telegraphers not to handle Western Union messages have been issued by the president of the railroad operators' union, but have been delayed in transmission, according to International Vice President Marshall of the Commercial Telegraphers' union.

Marshall said that he had received messages over railroad wires stating that President Manion had issued the order in St. Louis. The order will close thousands of Western Union offices in small towns, Vice President Marshall declares.

While the commercial telegraphers' strike has apparently not crippled wire communication to any alarming extent, railroad operators, who are strongly organized, are causing considerable trouble to Western Union men between Bend and Portland who are staying with their jobs, it was learned today. Calls are frequently answered by a railroad operator, and only after the message has been completed does the word "scab" flashed back in dots and dashes apprise the sending keyman that his work has been of no avail and that a fresh call and a repetition of the message is necessary.

Commercial telegraphers are also forced to listen to various uncomplimentary remarks in the Morse code sent by operators in a number of railroad offices.
