HISTORIC BERMUDAN CHURCH

St. Peter's Has Many Mementoes of Interest to Both Englishmen and Americans.

One of the most interesting churches to be found anywhere is old St. Peter's in Bermuda. It is in the old town of St. George's, and was built in 1713 on the same site as the first church, built in 1630. It is built of the native white limestone, as are all the buildings in the Bermudas, and it shows the marks of time. Everything in and about St. Peter's is intensely interesting. Its churchyard contains, among others, the grave of Hester Tucker, the "Nen" beloved of Thomas Moore, the poet, who was an official at St. George's at one time, and promptly fell in love with pretty Hester. Every square inch of the old church walls, inside, are covered with memorial tablets, many of them being the work of famous English sculptors. Not a few of the tablets perpetuate the memory of members of the English nobility, and it makes one realize what a scourge yellow fever and smallpox were before science got in its beneficent work, for allusions to smallpox and yellow fever being the cause of the deaths are very numerous. St. Peter's has a massive silver communion service presented by King William III of England, and a christening basin, the gift of Gov. William Browne of Salem, Mass., in 1788. The pieces presented by the king all have the insignia of the Order of the Garter.

Fighting Families.

"The Smiths will win the war" never appeared on a poster during the conflict. Food, airplanes, propaganda and other agencies all were offered at some time as the balance of power, but the claims of the Smith family were overlooked. They were ready for the fight, however, 51,000 strong. An army by themselves were the SMITHS who joined the colors. They outdistanced all competitors for the first honors, for the Johnson family only sent 29,000 members to the conflict. The Jones boys numbered a mere 22,500, running even with their rivals the Greens. America's other prolific family, the Browns, sent 9,000 men to fight for Uncle Sam. The American melting pot also turned out 4,500 Cohens to help chase the Hun back of the Hindenburg lines. In addition to these armies, there were enough bearers of military names to frighten an enemy that had studied American history. No less than 74 George Washingtons were in the ranks; two Ulysses S. Grants and five more without the middle initial, and 70 Robert E. Lees.—Bassett Blackley, in Leslie's.

She Fears Nobody.

Precocity, thou art indeed often the sauce of life. When the 12-year-old daughter of a negro laundress brought back a customer's laundry at 11 p. m. Saturday the customer, femininely curious, inquired: "Aren't you afraid to be out alone so late at night?" "Oh, no, I got a gun," responded the daughter of Africa, producing a .32-caliber, loaded revolver from the pocket of her coat and flourishing it about. "I never shot it yet," she continued unconcernedly to further frightened inquiries, "but I would, all right, if anybody bothered me." She was hastily ushered out.—Detroit Free Press.

Clemenceau Was Peevish.

When Rodin modeled the bust of M. Clemenceau, which now stands among those of other great Frenchmen in the senate chamber, his subject was not at all pleased with it. The big skull, projecting cheek bones, wrinkled eyes and drooping mustache were certainly not flattering. Scrutinizing it, the "Tiger" knit his brows and growled: "Who is this Mongol?" There are even those who say that

OLD WELL STILL PRODUCING

Hole Drilled for Oil in Pico Canyon, California, Continues to Pour Forth Wealth.

The first known discovery of petroleum in California was made in 1863, by a Mexican hunter, who had followed a deer trail to the head of Pico canyon in Los Angeles county, near the present town of Newhall. He came upon a seepage of sticky fluid that was unknown to him. Prompted by curiosity he collected a small quantity of it and took it to the mission settlement at San Fernando. There a Doctor Gelsch, who had formerly resided in Pennsylvania, identified it as petroleum and at once formed a company and staked out claims. In 1870 a shallow well was drilled at the head of Pico canyon, and is said to have produced at the time of drilling between 70 and 75 barrels of oil per day.

About this time D. G. Scofield formed what was known as the California Star Oil company. Later the Pacific Oil company was formed, and the two companies were operated under the same management—C. A. Mentry being field superintendent, and Mr. Scofield, vice president and general manager.

The old well today is the property of the Standard Oil company of California, and stands as the first and oldest well in the state. It has never been a prominent factor in California's petroleum industry as it is known today, but while hundreds of wells since drilled haven't even a derrick left to mark their location, "No. 4," as it is known, is still alive and still producing.—Petroleum Record.

The Quaker Bonnet.

I have heard that there is as much technique in the making of the bonnet of the olden pattern for the Friends as there is in the Japanese art of drinking tea. In Ohio there is a section that wears the Quaker garb with the bonnet; there is another in Iowa that still keeps to the characteristic costume; in New York in a settlement on both sides of Lake Cayuga are Friends who follow the simple, historic fashion; and in Fairhope, Ala., a single tax settlement very largely settled by Friends, are others. Much importance is attached to what is called the "expression" of the bonnet. In the very simplicity there is quite as much room for the manifestation of a particular taste as in the more elaborate millinery of "the world's people." Even to hair a hair things must be right. The finished product comes in for a close critical scrutiny at every possible angle. The true Friend abhors display and self-advertisement, and, therefore, she does not care to have it known when a fresh bonnet is bought. That is why each must be the same as the one that preceded it.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Rooster Ate 486 Kernels.

A storekeeper at Montgomery City has sprung a new one in the guessing game. He took a big rooster and, after letting him fast for a day, put him in his show window with a large pan of corn, the kernels of which had been counted.

He offered a prize to the persons guessing nearest the number of grains the rooster would eat in 20 minutes. The rooster had a ravenous appetite and for five minutes it looked as if

BACK LIKE A BOARD? IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

There's no use suffering from the awful agony of lame back. Don't wait till it "passes off." It only comes back. Find the cause and stop it. Diseased conditions of kidneys are usually indicated by stiff lame backs and other wrenching pains, which are nature's signals for help!

Here's the remedy. When you feel the first twinges of pain or experience any of these symptoms, get busy at once. Go to your druggist and get a box of the pure, original GOLD MEDAL Hispania Oil Capsules, imported fresh every month from the laboratories in Haarlem, Holland. Pleasant and easy to take, they instantly attack the poisonous germs clogging your system and bring quick relief.

For over two hundred years they have been helping the sick. Why not try them? Sold everywhere by reliable druggists in sealed packages. Three sizes. Money back if they do not help you. Ask for "GOLD MEDAL" and be sure the name "GOLD MEDAL" is on the box.

there would not be a single kernel left.

But by the time the 20 minutes had elapsed he had curled up in a corner. He had succeeded in putting away 486 grains. A woman whose guess was 488 got the prize.—Kansas City Times.

Tombstone's Weird Stain.

In the village churchyard at Herbrandston, near Milford Haven, there is the grave of a young army officer (at one time stationed with his regiment at South Hook Fort, close by) who met death from a wound by a knife while playing a practical joke on a brother officer.

The tombstone, a marble cross, has become slightly discolored. One of the discolored spots has taken the almost perfect representation of a hand grasping a knife or dagger.—Cardiff Western Mail.
