must continue the Saturday train, under the ruling of the commission. J. A. Churchill, superintendent of public instruction, has announced that the course of study for the public schools will not be ready for distribution until the latter part of August. Because the state textbook commission made numerous changes in the school books at its meeting early this month, it will require some weeks for the superintendent to map out courses of study to correspond with the new textbooks.

To Meet Weekly.

Although those who attended last night will be charter members of the local post, the charter will probably be open until the first anniversary of the signing of the armistice, Mr. Eivers said. He predicted that it would not be long until every service man in the county would have his application in.

Monday evening at 8 o'clock was settled on as the regular weekly meeting of the post, and until further notice this will be held in the gymnasium.

GARBAGE COLLECTION PLAN IS EXPLAINED

Householders Not Forced to Employ City Collector, but Must Maintain Proper Sanitation.

Correcting the impression gained by many in the city that all householders are compelled to patronize the municipal garbage collector, the health committee of the city council, through one of its members, declared this morning that there is nothing in the newly passed sanitation ordinance to limit choice in selecting service of this kind.

"The only thing the council aims to accomplish in this is to keep the city sanitary," he said, "and to avoid the repetition this summer of epidemics of past years, which have been spread chiefly by flies from filth accumulations. Garbage kept outside must be in covered metal cans, and if this is not done it must be immediately removed. If property owners wish to do this themselves, or to have it done by a private collector, it is certainly their privilege, but if their premises are not kept in the proper condition the city garbage collector must clean up for them. For this service a charge of $1 per month is made for each home. Incidentally, it is probable that in many cases householders will find the city service as cheap and possibly more reliable than that rendered by a private collector."

The matter was brought to the attention of the health committee by complaints from a number of Bend residents who had been given to understand that they had no choice but to employ the city collector.

Reading advertisements has helped to make this a united country===

Jim Hawkins props his feet on the rose festooned porch railing in an Oregon suburb and reads the same motor car advertisement that Cousin Peter is studying as he rides home from work in the New York subway.

In Arizona you can buy the same tooth paste and tobacco that are used by the folks in Maine. California fruit growers advertise their oranges and lemons to the people of the east. New Hampshire factories make ice cream freezers for Texas households.

There can be no division in a country so bound together by taste, habit and custom.

You can meet up with anybody in the United States and quickly get on a conversational footing because you both read the same advertisements. Advertising is the daily guide to what's good to buy.

Advertisements give you the latest news from the front line of business progress. Reading advertisements enables you to get more for your money because they tell you where, what and when to buy.

And it is a well-known fact that advertised goods are more reliable and better value than the un-advertised kinds.
