Ever Think

of the difference between the old corner grocery, with its open barrels of foodstuffs, and its counters crowded with buckets and boxes, its few narrow shelves---and a modern up-to-date store?

Come in some day and look over our clean, fresh stock---our long rows of shelves full of canned and semi-prepared foods, our bins of fresh vegetables, our cases of bakery stuff. It will set you thinking.

In the vicinity, Supervisor N. G. Jacobson of the Deschutes national forest reported today. While the fires are being made on privately owned land, the state law which provides for the prosecution of individuals willfully or carelessly setting forest fires still applies and will be enforced to the letter, Mr. Jacobson says.

The supervisor suggested that Bend youngsters could save themselves considerable trouble by making sure that any camp fires are carefully extinguished before leaving at night.

GOVERNMENT MEAT BIDS TURNED DOWN

Unsatisfactory Offers Made on 142,000,000-Pound Surplus, Learned from War Department.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 26.—All bids on the 142,000,000-pound surplus of army meat have been rejected by the war department, due to unsatisfactory prices and inadequate distribution, it was learned today.

89,000 TROUT FRY SENT TO HATCHERY

Tiny Fish from Eggs Taken at Elk Lake to Be Fed Until Large Enough for Planting.

The second carload of eastern brook trout fry to be placed in the Tumalo hatchery this year arrived in Bend this morning, and the contents of 178 cans were emptied into the fish pools to be fed until large enough for distribution. It is estimated that the fry in the shipment will total 90,000.

The car was sent from the Bonneville hatchery, and is part of the result of a large take of eggs collected at Elk lake last winter and brought to Bend by Pearl Lynes and assistants before the plant on the Tumalo was ready to be used.
