DISREGARDING FACTS.

In the latest number of the Oregon Voter "high lights, county by county" are given on the recent referendum election. Concerning this county, the Voter says:

"Deschutes.—Even a local road bond issue failed to get enough life into more than 27 per cent. of Deschutes county's registered voters to drag them to the polls. Yet those who went voted 81 per cent. for the local bonds and 83 per cent. for irrigation guarantee, heading the entire state for this measure which it supported so ardently in its press and in the legislature—and at that only 1 per cent. higher majority than Clatsop county gave the same measure after getting out twice as many votes in proportion to population. In spite of the knocking of the reconstruction bonding bill by Bend's member of the land settlement commission, Deschutes led Eastern Oregon in behalf of that measure and gave one of the highest percentages in the state, which suggests that Bend hasn't much use for a knocker. Deschutes also treated Portland kindly by a two-thirds vote for the hospital amendment, the highest proportionate vote in Eastern Oregon and among the highest in the state. Bend and Deschutes, Portland thanks you, and is forced to admit that although few of your voters voted those who did vote were filled with a spirit of generous enterprise."

Thanks for the thanks, but we doubt if this community cares for any gratitude from Portland or its self-appointed spokesman, the Oregon Voter, when with it there is given a respected citizen so dirty, so mean, so unfair criticism as is given G. H. Baker in the quotation above.

G. H. Baker is "Bend's member of the land settlement commission." It happens that Mr. Baker has not only read, but studied, the provisions of the law under which the commission acts and at meetings of the commission he has made an effort to have the law administered according to the plain intent of its words—for the benefit of the returned soldier, sailor and marine. This effort is now interpreted as "knocking of the reconstruction bonding bill," presumably because that bill contained an appropriation for the land settlement commission.

It does not appear whose this interpretation is, whether that of the Voter editor, or of members of the commission and passed on to the Voter, but whose ever it may be it is false.

Mr. Baker did not knock the reconstruction bonding bill. On the contrary, he spoke and worked in its behalf. Nor has he "knocked" the present law, nor his fellow commissioners. He has, in all sincerity, tried to have the law administered as a SOLDIERS' land settlement act, and not as a model farm experiment, as planned by its originators before the soldier became available as a means of getting appropriations out of the legislature. The Bend Commercial club has expressed its approval of Mr. Baker's course, and the head of the home service section of the northwest division of the Red Cross has stated that he believed Mr. Baker right.

As further evidence of Mr. Baker's sincerity let it be known that although he could easily obtain union labor sympathy and support in the fight he has made in the commission he has wholly refrained from taking the matter up with any of his union affiliations. He did, however, work with his union friends in support of the reconstruction bill, which is one of the reasons why the favorable vote was so large here and not because Bend was showing its disapproval of a knocker.

There is a thing, however, of which the town disapproves, and that is the text book whose text is tainted. We have a use for Mr. Baker, but none for such disregard of facts as the Voter is guilty of.

Perhaps it will explain where it got this news about Mr. Baker's opposition to the reconstruction bill, and also explain its views of the use of the soldier as a means of obtaining legislation—and then ditching him.

BOYS STEAL WHEELS, THEN CHANGE PARTS

Ten-Year-Old is Leader, He Admits to Judge—Five Bicycles Taken in the Last Few Weeks.

The puzzle which the local authorities have been trying to solve for several weeks past, namely in regard to the disappearance of a number of bicycles was solved yesterday when two small boys, taken into custody by Officer Frank Kulp, confessed to Juvenile Judge W. D. Barnes, that they had perloined the missing wheels. Not only that, but they had followed the old auto game, and had mixed parts so skillfully that it will be a good day's work for a skilled mechanic to unscramble them.

Roy Fuitts, aged 10 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Fuitts of this city, admitted that he had received his instructions from older boys and had then interested 13-year-old Marvin Walden, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Walden of Bend, in the plan. Both boys were paroled with instructions to report at stated intervals to Police Chief Nixon. Failure to live up to their promise will mean commitment to the state training school the boys were informed.

JUNE UNUSUALLY COOL THIS YEAR

Seven Nights Have Temperature Below Freezing—Many Cloudy and Partly Cloudy Days.

Deschutes county experienced one of the coolest months of June on record during the last 30 days, according to official climatic observations made by the local representative of the weather bureau. The hottest day of the entire month, the 25th, merely sent the mercury up to 88 degrees, while on the 16th a minimum of 22 degrees was reached. Seven nights had a recorded temperature of below freezing.

Sunshine during the early part of the month was far from adequate, but in the latter weeks of June there has been a marked improvement, and the few frosts coming within this period have done little damage except to garden truck. Ranchers believe that there is still a good chance that normal crops may be produced this year on irrigated land.

As to distribution of sunshine, 12 days were clear, 12 partly cloudy and six cloudy. Rainfall, part of which was hail, totalled .28 inch, and thunder storms, of no particular violence, were noted on June 14, 16 and 27.

TWO SMALL FIRES SEEN IN TIMBER

Two timber fires were reported this morning by lookouts on the Deschutes national forest, one being located near the Long Prairie ranger station, the other at Bates butte. It was not considered that either was serious.

Nicaraguan Burial Custom.
Among the Indians of eastern Nicaragua when a person dies the body is buried at once and a little house is built over the grave in which the soul can live for the time being. A field of sweet manioc is planted. In about eight months' time the roots are ready for use, so a general invitation to a great Sau or Sixero dance is sent out. A cotton string is stretched over the tree tops from the spirit house over the grave to the dancing place, where the end of it hangs down into a great bowl of mishla.

Powerful Explosive.
A new and very powerful explosive which may be used in mining and for other purposes, is lead azide, a salt of hydrometric acid. This acid forms a great number of salts, as mercury azide, silver azide and sodium azide. Large crystals of lead azide and mercuric azide have been found to be very sensitive to mechanical shocks, the sensitiveness increasing with the size of the crystals. Even the breaking of a single large crystal is said to bring about explosion.
