they are in a drunken orgy. The child wanders over to Leneau's place and falls into a bear trap, where he is found the next morning. Leneau and his wife, still mourning for their own child, refuse at first to give him up or look for his parents. Later, Leneau has had mortal combat with the kidnappers, he learns that living Roughneck belongs to a judge little at Vancouver. He leaves his despondent wife to take the child back to the city. Then comes the surprise finish, which is too good to spoil by simply relating it.

In a play that will delight the grown ups and the children alike, Baby Marie Osborn appears Tuesday and Wednesday nights in a "Sawdust Trail." This is the story of a mother, to which a little girl was a mother, and she won for herself another mother. The story is very simple but tugs at the heart strings all the way through. It sounds like heavy stuff when you say "Harold, the Last of the Saxons," but it isn't because Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Drew are featuring in a comedy by this time. It is funny, very funny, and will be at the Liberty on Tuesday and Wednesday.

A romance of sweet sixteen. Such is "Puppy Love," Lila Lee's latest picture which will be featured at the Liberty Thursday. She is the daughter of a hod carrier who has inherited wealth. She is pretty and full of joy and life. Her sweetheart is romantic also. At the time when their love has become a tremendous passion she is torn ruthlessly from his side and sent away to a town which is overrun with old maids. He goes to the burg as a cub reporter to write up the afflicted village for the Sunday section of his newspaper.

There is another admirer, a fat youth who suffers fearfully from the separation. He too, goes to the village to become an anchorite. The town dude also learns to like the girl. There are misunderstandings; the girl tells the boy she hates him; she sends back his presents.

The old maids are indignant at the article and set out to chastise the author but light on the wrong man—the lad who is eloping with the girl. Finally the boy and the girl make up, but whether they ever get married, the author does not profess to know. Harold Goodwin is the leading man.

One of the best photo play stories ever furnished Enid Bennett, the Thomas H. Ince star, as a vehicle, is "Partners Three," the Paramount picture which will be shown at the Liberty theater Friday and Saturday.

The action revolves about Agnes Cuyler, who at the beginning of the picture, is discovered to be a cabaret dancer. Accepting an offer of marriage by a westerner to escape a tasteless existence, she jumps from the frying pan into the fire.

Fatty Arbuckle, the heavyweight Paramount comedian has an excellent comedy in "Love," which is the big attraction at the Liberty next Friday and Saturday. Fatty is a humorous lover in this comedy and antics evoke laughter and applause at every showing. Numerous surprises are introduced and the comedy as a whole is excellent.

LED TO RESCUE BY DREAM

Tug Captain's Confidence in Vision He Had Proved Fortunate for Two Fishermen.

Guided by a dream, Capt. Adam Paczocha of a Lake Michigan tug found two men who had been drifting about helpless in a broken motor-launch for four days. The rescue was just in time to save the men's lives, for the feet of one were frozen and the other's hands were frostbitten and they were exhausted from cold and hunger.

Captain Paczocha had his dream while taking a nap at his home in Milwaukee one afternoon. When he awoke he described to his family how he had seen a launch drifting about helpless in the storm-swept lake and how he had swung his boat alongside and saved two men.

"I'm going to find them," said the captain, after telling of the dream vision.

He set out the next morning and by midafternoon he had located the launch. The two men in the launch were George Costigan and Joseph Budziec, Jones Island fishermen who had met with misfortune while out hauling in their nets. Driven about by a sudden storm that arose on the lake they sought to make shore until the gasoline engine in the launch gave out. Then they drifted about helpless.

The rescued men's first request was for cigarettes. They had been unable to smoke for four days because their matches had become wet.

Untasted Emergency Ration.

A correspondent, writing from the front before the fighting came to an end, said that the emergency ration supplied to our soldiers still remained a mystery to them. Few indeed have even tasted this scientific life-saver of which the army boards are so proud.

It looks like ground oatmeal; but it is said to be the last word in concentrated calories and protein. It contains the juices and sustaining parts of all meats and vegetables known to man, with a little gluten thrown in. Most soldiers have not dared to taste it. A court martial threatens anyone who eats the emergency ration unnecessarily, and almost never, so they say, did any soldier find it necessary. Hot meals from rolling kitchens were virtually always to be had.—Youth's Companion.

BOY "DROPPED INTO MONEY"

New York Youngster Found Floors of Deserted House Fairly strewn With Bank Notes.

A coal chute may be a prosaic substitute for Aladdin's lamp, but one found by a New York boy delivered the goods as satisfactorily as ever did the old oil burner of "Arabian Nights" fame, observes the Kansas City Star. Vincent Mastaglio had been dazzling his playmates with great rolls of $10 bank notes and pockets full of jewelry for several days when the police learned of his suddenly acquired riches and took him into juvenile court, where he told of discovering his treasure trove.

He was playing in a New York East side street the other day when he fell through a coal hole. There wasn't much in the cellar to excite his interest, so he tried the upper floors of the house, which he found to be deserted. There, he told the police, he found rooms with their floors strewn with money; $5 and $10 bills had been wadded and thrown in every corner, and jewelry littered the dressing tables.

Investigation by the police verified the boy's statement. They learned that the house had been occupied by Mrs. James Sandham, a recluse ninety years old, who had died a few days before. The boy was the first woman to enter the house after the woman had been removed to a hospital, and the money, thought to be rents from her tenants, had lain where she had received it on the floor as she received it.

WHITE TRIBE IN CHINA HILLS

Are Said to Resemble Anglo-Saxons, and Are Noted for Their Fierocious Courage.

A tribe of white men whose chief characteristic is their ferocious courage, has been found in the western mountains of China by Dr. Joseph Beech, president of the West China Union university, at Changta. Doctor Beech, who recently arrived in this country to aid in the Methodist Episcopal centenary campaign for $85,000,000 for missionary work at home and abroad, tells also of another race of white men, who greatly resemble Bohemians, to be found in the great hills.

"There are 40 or 50 different tribes," Doctor Beech said, "all speaking different languages and all different in physical appearance in the mountains of west and southwest Szechuen. On our maps these tribes are called a part of China, but they are really independent, and have fought the Chinese from time immemorial.

"This tribe, resembling Anglo-Saxons, lives in the district of Sung Pan. It is described to me as consisting of large men whose bravery is considered a marvel by the Chinese. 'They never run away,' a Chinese friend told me. 'They love to fight.'"

Taking Out the Squirrel. Relief is in sight for the man who hurrying through his breakfast to get downtown, has had to run for the car with one eye blinded by a generous stream of very acidic juice which sprang out of his grape fruit as he applied an overamount of pressure. Department of agriculture experts have taken out the squirt, and incidentally some of the other qualities of the grape fruit which prevented it from becoming as popular as it might otherwise have been. The new fruit has been produced by crossing the grape fruit with the tangerine orange and it is called the tangelo. It is described as being not nearly so sharp in taste as the grape fruit and as resembling a ripe orange. It requires no sugar and the pulp is so tender that it may be removed with a spoon without having previously cut the segments.

Recovered Pocket Piece.

An Odd Fellow's pocket piece, with an inscription showing that its owner had belonged to Keystone lodge, in Bethlehem, Pa., was picked up on a battlefield in France and eventually came into the possession of C. L. Fox of Houlton, Me. An article about the little aluminum disc was published in the Houlton Times and a copy was sent to the lodge in Pennsylvania. C. H. Fogg of the Times, later received a letter from the secretary of Keystone lodge saying that the pocket piece belongs to Walter Schonenberger of Bethlehem, and that if Mr. Fox would send the disc to him he would see that Mr. Schonenberger got it after he returned from France.

To Reorganize Scarlet Riders.

Canada's scarlet riders, the Royal Northwest mounted police, who left the dominion to distinguish themselves further on the battle fields of France, are to be reorganized on a pro-Prav basis, according to an announcement by government officials. Squadrons of the famous riders who for years have patrolled the prairies, mountains, forests and arctic wastes of Canada, will be returned from overseas and permitted to rejoin their old force, which will be recruited to twelve hundred men.

Trade With South America.

South America looks to us for so many manufactured articles it once purchased abroad that in the last two years our trade with that continent has more than doubled. And we are returning the compliment by sending southward heavy orders for raw materials.

Paying War Debts.

There is no uniform rule of action regarding the payment of war debts. Some war debts have been entirely paid off, and others have been greatly reduced. In 1793, following the Revolutionary war, the public debt of the United States was $80,352,634. It was reduced year by year until 1812, when it was $45,209,737. During the war of 1812, it increased until 1816, when it was $127,834,933. Then followed a long period of steady yearly reduction till in 1835 it stood at the nominal figure of $17,512, with much more than that balance in the treasury. Circumstances brought a long period of growth in the public debt till 1868, following the Civil war, it was $2,773,250,173.

IMPORTANT DATE IN HAWAII

Modern History of Islands May Be Said to Have Begun on October 23, 1819.

The one hundredth anniversary of the departure of the first missionaries from the United States to the Sandwich Islands, as they were then known, will be celebrated at Honolulu, October 23. On that date in the year 1819, the brig Thaddeus, Captain Hunnewell, sailed from Boston for Hawaii. The vessel anchored at Kailua, Kona, Island of Hawaii, April 5, 1820, and the missionaries landed that day to begin their work of civilizing the natives and converting them to Christianity. Those who arrived in Hawaii on the Thaddeus were Asa Thurston and Hirman Bingham, ordained missionaries, with their wives; Daniel Chamberlain, Thomas Holmes, Samuel Whitney, Samuel Rogles, Elisha Loomis and four Hawaiians—Honohi, Hopy and Kanui—who had received some education at Cornwall Institute, and George Hurohomo, son of Kaunuuhi, the king of the Island of Kauai. The Hawaiians had been taken to the United States in trading vessels. Traders and whalers had been visiting Honolulu for some years before the arrival of the missionaries, but it is from the latter event that the modern history of Hawaii dates.

Wonderful Slot Machine.

Most people are familiar with the machines which sell chocolate and chewing gum. An interesting development in this field is a large apparatus that dispenses bottled beverages, sandwiches and chewing gum. Its cooling chamber has space for the accommodation of 96 bottles, while a precooling compartment, in which bottles are chilled by immersion in the water that drains from the ice, has an equal capacity. In order to encourage patrons to return empty bottles to the machine a stick of gum is discharged when a bottle is placed in the receiver provided for it. A counterfeit detector rejects spurious coins. A complete record of all transactions is kept by a sales-registering mechanism. The only attention the machine requires is that involved in stocking and icing it.

lover. She springs a trap that puts the corrupt plotters in the position where they are forced to exonerate the district attorney and to give up all connection with the city administration.

The district attorney, in possession of all the facts, realizes the full measure of Ruth's sacrifice for him. In an exciting court scene, where the powerful climax is reached, the lovers are united.

Nazimova's impressive and spectacular picture of the far east, "The Red Lantern," which comes to the Grand theater next Friday, Saturday matinee and evening and Sunday matinee, is undoubtedly the crowning achievement of her screen career. It has been announced that the production cost in the neighborhood of $250,000. It is believable if one considers the lavishness of the scenes and settings and the seemingly painstaking care with which they have been incorporated. Being the story of a Eurasian girl, whose mixed blood caused her untold tragedy, only an appropriate background could be used to set it off to an advantage. Therefore a bit of China is reproduced, particularly that portion of it known as the Forbidden City, and within its walls is enacted the life drama of this strange exotic creature, this inscrutable daughter of destiny.

She endeavored to be true to both races from which she came. The conflict of soul tortured her and drove her to the depths of despair. And so she lived her life. The cherry blossoms bloom as of yore; Peking goes on in its mysterious way, and the feast of the red lantern sends out its quaint aroma as it did thousands of years ago.
