MONDAY, JULY 14, 1919.

TO PROMOTE GOOD WILL.

There was a time last winter when the irrigationists of Jefferson county suspected that we intended to do what we could here to prevent them from getting water from the Deschutes. There was also considerable feeling in Bend that the contract which the North Unit was making with the C. O. I. Co., was neatly planned to carry the waters of the river by Bend, and out of Deschutes county, leaving nothing for future irrigation needs in this county.

Fortunately the suspicions were dispelled. Both sections came to realize that the irrigation future of each was tied up with the other, and that the whole thing to look to and to work for was the development of the whole Deschutes project, including the North canal project in this county, and the North unit project in Jefferson, as well as the east and west units near Bend and Tumalo. With the realization came concerted action, and as a result the reclamation service announced that a study of the reservoir possibilities of Benham falls would be made.

In a few days expert geologists will be here to begin the study of Benham falls. Since their coming was first announced last winter, it has been the Bend Commercial club that has continually prodded the reclamation service to get them here, which ought to be further evidence, if any were needed, of the club's interest in the whole matter. As a final touch, would it not be desirable for the club to invite representatives of the North unit district here to meet the geologists and share in any discussion of the project there may be? The whole thing calls for mutual trust and good will.

SAYS OREGON VOTER.

"Bend Bulletin suggests that Central Oregon be given representation on the highway commission. If there is any part of Oregon that can produce as live a wire as W. L. Thompson, Bend ought to be able to do it." We are glad to see the Voter editor keeps in touch with The Bulletin, and await with interest his apology for remarks made a few issues back.

President Wilson has knocked the daylight out of the law that was planned to knock the daylight out of the law.

CHILDREN OF COUNTY TO GET COACHING IN STOCK JUDGING

The children of Deschutes county, especially those who were recently enlisted as members of the First National Bank Pig club, are going to receive some stock judging coaching from farm experts of the county, so that they may compete for prizes this year at the Pacific International Livestock show in Portland, next November, and the state fair at Salem in September. The fair board has appropriated $300 for this contest in Salem, and the Pacific International Livestock association, $500.

In a bulletin received here this week, some suggestions are given for the information of live stock club members. The members are urged to study stock judging in preparation for these contests. County elimination contests are suggested. The rules governing the contests are:

- Eligibility.
1. Entries are open to all counties of the state.
 2. Each county shall be restricted to entering one team of three members.
 3. Each team shall be chosen from a regularly organized club.
 4. All members of a team shall be between the required club ages of 9 to 18 years, inclusive, on October 15, 1919, and shall be members of the same club organization.
 5. Each contestant shall be enrolled as a regular member of a livestock club, (pig, sheep, calf, etc.) organization with the state club

Few Fine Pearls Found.
New fine pearls are rarely found nowadays because the demand has been so great and the fisheries have been worked so continuously that the pearls are not given time to grow. If a fine pearl is bought, it is rarely one that has not been in the market for many years and passed from one dealer to another. Dealers today depend to a large extent upon purchases of pearls from collections of rajahs and princes in India and of old families in Europe. They declare that every time a large and really fine pearl appears in the market a hundred wealthy persons bid for it. Consequently the best pearls are beyond the reach of any but the wealthiest people.

Quips Which Tickle Travelers.
Nature seems occasionally to have been in an impish mood of jocularity when she was about her work of shaping and molding things. For instance, why did she make the Dalmatian side of the Adriatic one mass of islands and creeks, which are just so many hiding holes for any power that has designs on Italy, and at the same time lay the Adriatic seaboard of Italy as bare and flat and plain as she could plan it? Was it to make the Italian people wide-awake and watchful and resourceful? Besides, the modern world in its pride must never forget that the peninsula produced the Roman.

leader during 1919, and must have made a report to the state club leader of his work.

- Requirements.
1. Each contestant shall place, according to his judgment, the animals in four classes and give oral reasons for placing one class.
 - Classes and Time.
1. Four animals shall constitute a class.
2. Each contestant shall place one class of hogs, one class of sheep, one class of dairy cattle and one class of beef cattle.
3. Each contestant shall give oral reasons for placing the class that corresponds to his club report. Each member of a team shall give oral reasons for placing the same class. (Example: A team from a pig club shall give oral reasons for placing a class of hogs.)
4. Fifteen minutes will be allowed for the placing of each class and 20 minutes will be allowed for the placing and taking of notes on reasons for placing the class. Contestants will be notified three minutes before the time is up on all classes.
5. Each contestant shall write his placing on a card and hand it to the clerk as soon as he has finished the work of placing a class.
6. Each contestant shall appear individually before the judges when giving oral reasons for placing. No contestant shall be allowed to hold any card or paper that will assist him in giving reasons before the judges.

KNOWN AS WITCHCRAFT TOWN

Old Salem, Mass., Has Never Been Able to Live Down the Much-Disliked Name.

Salem is nationally known as the witchcraft town of history, a title which it has been trying to live down for 200 years. Fortunately for Salem, the terror of witchcraft infestation is fading from memory.

Invariably the visitor comes to Salem with the idea of witches firmly fixed in his mind, but the only evidence of their existence that he can find is a tiepin bearing a tiny witch astride a broomstick. Besides buying witch-adorned souvenirs, which Salem provides to meet the demands of visitors, there are other ways of satisfying witch-hunting ambitions.

To a person already keyed to a high pitch by vague recollections of witch days Salem on a frosty moonlight night seems to slip back a century or so into the solemn superstitious little Puritan town, where one must think several times before making the most casual remark lest it be construed as evidence of friendly dealings with the devil.

Over by the cemetery the tombstones of the witch accusers gleam ghostly in the moonlight. It seems plausible that any of those venerable judges of 1692 might glide suddenly into view and stroll with dignity down the street or that Mistress Sarah Good or Elizabeth How should appear and ask sternly if it was your ancestor that labeled her a witch.

Out on Gallows hill, too, there is "atmosphere" undiluted. Here 19 unfortunates convicted of witchcraft met their fate before Puritan common sense overcame Puritan fanaticism. Gallows hill is a monument to Salem's darkest days.

EASY TO SEE ONE'S BRAIN

Scientist Asserts That All That is Necessary is a Candle and Some Perseverance.

"Have you ever seen your brain?" is not such an outlandish question as one might suppose. In fact, it is quite possible to see one's own brain, according to Dr. Fraser Hallett, says London Tit-Bits.

Many years ago Purkinje startled the scientific world by announcing that by passing a candle to and fro several times by the side of the eye, this might be done. The air in front, he declared, was transformed into a kind of screen on which was reflected what he supposed to be a magnified image of part of the retina.

This started a research movement among the scientists of the period, and a controversy began.

Sir C. Wheatstone thought the professor was slightly out of his bearings. He declared that what the latter had seen was merely the shadow of the vascular network.

Then Dr. Fraser Hallett returned to the attack, and stated that he had succeeded in identifying the picture with the representation of the "anterior lobe of the cerebrum."

The candle should be moved to and fro about four inches below the eye and three and a quarter inches from the face. If the movement is suspended, the image disappears. Night is the best time for this experiment, but it can be seen faintly, in any dark place even in the daytime.

Exterminating Pests.

Uncle Sam employs approximately 300 professional trappers and hunters to assist western stockmen in exterminating wild predatory animals from the range country. These hunters have killed 70,713 predatory animals in the last three years, which has resulted in a direct saving estimated at nearly 5 1/2 million dollars a year to the stockmen of the Rocky Mountain section. The total kill consisted of 60,473 coyotes, 8,064 bobcats, 1,829 wolves, 291 mountain lions and 137 bears. The pelts of the animals killed were sold for approximately $100,000, which, of course, is of considerable aid to the government in financing the work. In addition to animals killed by trapping and shooting, great numbers of coyotes have been killed by the carefully organized poisoning campaigns conducted by the biological survey.

Modern Gallantry.

I shall be even disposed to rank it among the salutary fictions of life, when in polite circles I shall see the same attentions paid to age as to youth, to homely features as to handsome, to coarse complexions as to clear—to the woman as she is a woman, not as she is a beauty, a fortune or a title. I shall believe it to be something more than a name when a well-dressed gentleman in a well-dressed company can advert to the topic of female old age without exciting, and intending to excite, a sneer—when the phrases, "antiquated virginity," and such a one has "overstood her market," pronounced in good company, shall raise immediate offense in man, or woman, that shall hear them spoken.—Charles Lamb.

Movable.

"Where is Mr. Fluddub lunching today?"
"Well, he may be at the next corner or he may be a couple of blocks down the street."
"I thought his habits were very regular. Can't you tell me where he is lunching?"
"Not precisely. He lunches at a banana cart, but it moves around."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

WETS START FIGHT ON PROHIBITION

Bill is Introduced to Repeal War Measure as Soon as Legislation is Introduced.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 14.—Anti-prohibitionists today began their fight for the repeal of war-time prohibition as soon as the house commenced consideration of the prohibition enforcement bill. An amendment was introduced to repeal the war-time act, eliminating all definitions of intoxicating liquor as a beverage that contain more than one-half of 1 per cent. alcohol.

Seven Reasons Why There Should Be An Electric Range in Every Bend Home.

1st—Saving of time, labor and fuel.

2nd—Meats, vegetables and other foods retain natural flavors when cooked on an ELECTRIC RANGE that are otherwise lost in vapors when subjected to uneven heats produced by wood, coal or gas ranges.

3rd—Get out of bed, turn the button and breakfast is started while you are dressing.

4th—No dirt, no ashes. Mother's work is easier and her disposition is happier and her days are longer.

5th—A blessing when days are hot; cook on an Electric Range and you do not realize there is any heat in your kitchen.

6th—Very low rates maintained by the Bend Water, Light & Power Co. put all the comforts of the ELECTRIC RANGE in reach of all.

7th—Cleanliness, ease, comfort and the fact that Mother's burdens are lightened should be the main reasons for an Electric Range.
