

REFORM IS NOT CONSIDERED BY RUSSIAN REDS

REVOLUTION IS ONLY IDEAL.

LENINE TELLS AIMS

First Political Move to Drive Out Americans, Second to Force Universal Fraternity of Labor by Means of Terrorism.

(Copyrighted, 1919, by United Press.)

PARIS, Aug. 4.—Nikolai Lenine, prime minister of the Russian Bolshevik government in Moscow, in the first bona fide interview ever granted, asserts that the first political aim of the Bolsheviks is to drive the Americans and Japanese out of Siberia.

Revolution, not reform, he declares, is the Bolshevik program.

According to the plan of action which Lenine has outlined, the Bolsheviks will organize the workers of the world, including those of America, into a single fraternal union. They will crush all resistance, Lenine boasts, and will advocate terrorism if necessary.

TITLE TO LAKE LAND DISPUTED

SQUATTERS WAIT FOR GOVERNMENT SURVEY, BUT CONTENTION IS MADE THAT RANCHERS HAVE RIPARIAN RIGHTS.

While the dry bed of Silver lake is dotted with the cabins of squatters who are tilling the land exposed by the evaporation of the water, the status of the land is a matter of dispute between ranchers and the newcomers who have made their homes on the new ground, according to Silver Lake residents. No survey has been made by the government, and in consequence no filing under the homestead law is possible, and until such filing can be made, it is contended by some that ranchers whose holdings extended to what was formerly the lake margin have riparian rights on the area formerly covered by water. Squatters, it is said, have been advised to leave, but are persistently remaining in hopes that the rich alluvial lands may be thrown open to entry.

Approximately 11,000 acres have been added to the farming resources of the Silver Lake region by the drying up of the lake, and a portion of this is being cultivated with the permission of ranchers whose holdings join the new ground. Grain hay is being successfully grown, and will yield as high as two and a half tons to the acre.

This hay, it is stated, will be for sale, but on the old established ranches the 1919 cutting will be chiefly reserved for feeding during the winter, as stockmen are unwilling that a shortage of fodder should force them to sell off as large a percentage of cattle as was found necessary last year.

FRIENDS SEEK EX-ARMY MAN

WALTER BEESLEY STARTS ON FOOT THROUGH WOODS, WITH NO EQUIPMENT, AND FEAR IS FELT FOR SAFETY.

Although a search party has been out since early this morning seeking a clue to the whereabouts of Walter Beesley of this city, who disappeared Friday, no trace of the missing man had been found this afternoon, Sheriff S. E. Roberts reported. Beesley left the home of Fred Winters, where he and his wife had been staying, and was last seen at noon Friday walking from Bend on the logging road near the Orewiler mill on the Tumalo. Friends fear that he may be temporarily unbalanced as the result of injuries received during his service with the American expeditionary forces in France.

Mr. Winters, a close friend of the missing man, states that Beesley had been unusually taciturn for several days, and that the evening before his departure he had remarked that he was going to look for work. He had had no difficulty in securing employment in Bend.

Friday morning Beesley donned a new suit of blue serge and put on a suit of coveralls, wearing his blue coat over the one-piece garment. Aside from his razor and a bottle containing an iodine preparation which he had been using, he took nothing with him. News of his being seen so far from the city,

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The anniversary of England's declaration of war against Germany falling on a regular public holiday was utilized today for several official and unofficial peace celebrations which had to be eliminated from the official joy day, July 19.

Great crowds of holiday makers thronged the banks and bridges, and the river was swarming with small craft of every description, so that the aquatic marshals, in the persons of the Thames police, and the King's Watermen, had considerable difficulty in keeping a clear course for the procession of boats.
