The boys had been playing ball all the morning on the vacant lot next door. Often there were many arguments but always they were settled and the game progressed. At noon mother reproached Tom for his part in them. "What would you think if mother would quarrel with her friends as you do?" she asked.

"But you can't, 'cause you women aren't good players," Tom explained carefully. "When you get mad over something you just resign. A good player quarrels it out and then goes back to the game like we fellows did this morning."

And the mother had no answer.

Man's Adam's Apple.
"Scientists are inclined to accept the theory," says John Walker Harrington in Popular Science Monthly, "that man came by long descent from ill-formed, spineless things that came to life by chemical action, probably in some tepid mineral spring, and found their way to the ocean. Then came the fish, which, as soon as they got backbones, began to develop something like Adam's apples. A man without an Adam's apple would be a poor fish. From the primitive forms of the ancient seas are believed to have come the mammals, from which spring the human race. It is a long story."

Bedouins Retain Civilization.
The Bedouin tribes of North Africa are perhaps as impervious to the influence of modern civilization as any people in the world. Since the French took control of North Africa these wild tribes have been, supposedly, under military discipline and guardianship, but they have maintained their own tribal organizations and almost complete independence, so far as their actual lives are concerned.

They follow the traditions of Islam and their dwellings, their furnishings (which are few and far between) and their clothing date back to the days of the Bible.

A Food Luxury.
Large jars of baked clay were used by the ancient Romans as cages for dormice.

Why dormice?
To eat, of course. Dormice were esteemed a great delicacy by epicures in those days, and were kept in the jars while being fattened for the table. If a theater party was in contemplation after dining—meaning a visit to the amphitheater or circus—the host, it may be supposed, had already bought the tickets. But they were not of pasteboard, with coupons. They were made of baked clay and stamped with letters or numbers referring to the position of the seat.

BROUGHT BACK PYGMY HIPPO
Hunter Spent Weary Months in Jungles to Prove That the Species Really Existed.

It seems incredible, but there exist hippopotami that do not exceed 30 inches in height. For a long while nobody believed that there were any pygmy hippos in Liberia. The natives insisted that the Hippopotamus Liberiensis lived deep in the forests; but that was another reason why explorers and hunters shook their heads in incredulity. The hippopotamus lives along the rivers, they said, and this talk about pygmies of this species in the forests is nonsense.

Nevertheless a pygmy hippo was caught as far back as 1873, and brought from Africa to the zoological gardens in Dublin. It might have convinced the world, only it arrived in a dying condition, and perished before it could be exhibited. After that, people took to doubting it again, and considered the one recorded specimen as a freak. But Carl Hagenback, the famous animal man, made up his mind, at last, that the pygmy hippo could be, and should be, introduced to man. He sent an intrepid hunter, Schomburgk, after it, and Schomburgk, after spending a year and a half in the jungle, reappeared with three pygmy beasts, two of which were at once brought to the New York zoo and placed on exhibition.—New York Herald.

MAKE BUSINESS CALL BRIEF
Well to Remember That Executives, as a Rule, Have Little Time to Waste.

Mouth-talk or brain-talk—which kind do you chiefly use during a business call or conference? "I can't see half as many men as I could see or as I should like to see during the day because my callers, once they get in to see me, waste my time with inconsequential talk," said a busy executive recently. "Consequently, my secretary is under instruction to admit only such persons as she thinks I must see."

If you make a business call know beforehand what you are going to present and how. Don't waste time in nonessentials and trivialities. Fix the objective of your talk before you call. It may be a yes-or-no decision; it may be a promise merely to consider your proposition; it may be the fixing of a specific date when you can go into the matter in detail. Whatever your objective is, work toward it as rapidly as you can; and when you have reached it pick up your hat and say "Good-by." This is one of the surest ways of making a favorable impression.—Pace Student.

Always the Boss.
I was visiting my brother, who is a country minister, and one day he asked me to be a witness at the wedding of a couple who had just come in.

The bride was tall and heavy, while the bridegroom was much undersized. The minute the ceremony was over, the bride grabbed the minister, and gave him a resounding kiss, then flung her arms about the bridegroom and fairly lifted him from the floor in her embrace.

Turning to me, she said in a stage whisper, "Ain't he cute? I married him because he is so much smaller than me, and he's six years younger, too, so I can manage him. I've always been boss, and I always mean to be."

Strange to say, upon inquiring about this couple some five years later, I found that they were an exceedingly happy and prosperous pair.—Chicago Tribune.

"Farm" That Raises Jewels.
The island of the Holy Ghost, Lower California, has the only farm in the world which sows and reaps a crop of jewels. Through artificial propagation and care pearls are actually raised there in the San Gabriel cove. In their natural condition the pearl beds are scattered and the oysters are prey to many submarine foes, but on this farm they are protected by a substantial masonry dike which walls off a portion of the bays, reaching above high-water mark. Openings admit the free passage of the sea water, but are guarded by heavy screens. The bottom of this segregated area was cleared of all growth and paved with rock brought from the mainland and laid by divers. Here the pearl oysters are cultivated just as edible oysters are.

Soldiers Feel Wounds They Inflict.
Mr. Arthur MacDonald of Washington, honorary president of the International congress of criminal anthropology, tells in the Medical Record some of the oddities noticed in nervous soldiers. For instance:

One "who bayonets another in the face may develop a hysterical tic in his own face; one bayoneting enemies in the abdomen may have abdominal contractures in himself. Hysterical blindness may follow from seeing horrible sights; hysterical deafness when the cries of the wounded are unbearable."

And he adds that in some of these cases the only relief is a real wound.

Pilotless Airplane Flies Far.
For two years experiments have been making in France with a pilotless airplane which seems to be a success. The apparatus is guided from land by telemechanic means. At a trial before Colonel Dhe, director of aviation, it traveled over a prescribed course of 180 kilometers and landed at a designated airdrome.
