BROKEN TOP.

A "waste" place that is being made accessible to the tourist and camper, in line with the suggestion made here yesterday, is Jefferson park, the territory surrounding Mount Jefferson. Here the forest service, according to recent news dispatches, is building trails which will make it possible for a person to go through the park, around the mountain, visit the lakes in the Santiam and cross the Metolius river into the Deschutes forest without leaving the range.

The same thing is possible in this vicinity by the construction of roads and trails in the vicinity of Broken Top, one of Bend's finest outdoor assets. Already the mountain can be reached from one side by automobile, but only during a limited season, and over a somewhat difficult road. Plans are now under consideration for a road which will approach the mountain by a better grade that will be open for a longer time. This road will not only make it easier to get to the mountain but will open several new lakes, and everything should be done to make its construction certain.

Broken Top is a "waste" place that means much to Bend.

GET THE FACTS.

One of the most interesting things that was noticed at yesterday's hearing before the conciliation board was the frequency with which mention was made of some minor misunderstanding that was said to be causing unrest. To an innocent bystander it seemed as though some means might be found of making the facts known concerning these little things as they come up so that this source of friction, at least, might be done away with.

More than half the time folks who are sore at each other are sore because they think things are so that are not so. In other words, they are not fully acquainted with the facts. When the facts are known it usually appears there is nothing to be sore about. If the facts are known and folks then disagree as to the conclusions to be drawn the issue is joined.

What we would like to see is a kicker's box or column where grievances could be stated and the reply given bringing out the facts, and The Bulletin would be glad to devote a part of its space for this purpose if folks will make their kicks through it.

The dear, old Oregonian suggests there is no truth in the Seattle story of the hen that is laying four eggs a day and says: "The hen is not human and that should settle it." From which we gather that it is the opinion of the Oregonian that if the hen were human she might lay four eggs.

It's been a frosty September, so far.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY PICKS NEW OFFICERS

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. Church met at the home of Mrs. E. D. Gilson Thursday afternoon. It being the last meeting of the year, election of officers was held. The following is a list of ones elected:

Miss Alice Spaulding, President; Mrs. G. E. Yokum, Vice-President; Mrs. W. H. Staats, Recording Secretary; Mrs. E. D. Gilson, Treasurer; and Mrs. Erickson, Corresponding Secretary.

The president conducted a very interesting meeting. The society members are doing much good in foreign fields. Besides helping the poor and doing other usual missionary work they are educating a girl at Gomba, India and keeping a Bible woman at Gujvat, India.

SIEGEL COMPANY PLEASES.

The Fred Siegel Stock Company was entitled to a capacity house last night at the Liberty in "It Pays To Advertise." In every respect the production merited a much better attendance than was given it. The cast, nine persons in all, is well balanced. There is refinement in the company throughout its production not seen here before.

Although handicapped for room, the company adapts itself to conditions without the slightest impairment to smooth acting. There was comedy in last night's production. The acting was just as good as you will see in the stock companies playing in the large cities of the Coast.

Tonight the company will play "Baby Mine" a clever comedy drama. Tomorrow night as a closing offering the company will present "In Walked Jimmie."

Venerated Relic Lost.

The Black Rod was a relic brought to Scotland by the wife of Malcolm Canmore, and long held in extreme veneration by the Scots. It consisted of a cross of gold, inclosing a piece of the true cross, set in an ebony figure of Christ. It was deposited with the regalia in Edinburgh castle, and carried with them to England by Edward I, and used by him to give increased solemnity to the oaths he exacted from the Scottish magnates. All trace of it is now lost.

Third Covenanter Letter Gives Assembly Function

the disputants, to advise the reconsideration by members of the League of treaties that have become inapplicable and the considerations of endangering the peace of the world, and by a two-thirds vote to admit new members to the League. Except, therefore, for some definite powers relating to the organization and membership of the League, its authority in international affairs is confined to making a report in certain disputes, and giving some advice to the members.

What then is the meaning of the third clause of the article which provides that "the Assembly may deal at its meetings with any matter within the sphere of action of the League.

or affecting the peace of the world." Clearly this does not mean that it can deal only with the subjects to which its authority extends by the provisions of the Covenant, for that would reduce its field of discussion to almost nothing. Nor, on the other hand, does it mean that the Assembly can take action binding upon the members in all matters within the sphere of action of the League, because specific provisions are made for dealing with those matters, and the interpretation suggested would render all such provisions futile. The Assembly would have power to overrule them all. Moreover, Article V declares that except where otherwise expressly provided decisions of the Assembly or council shall require the consent of all the members of the League represented at the meeting. But a unanimous decision of forty-five countries can never be attained where there is any serious difference of opinion, and where there is not it is needless. To authorize the Assembly to take unanimous action on any subject they pleased would, therefore, be simply conferring a power that cannot be used.

Importance of Discussion. In view of the other specific provisions of the Covenant the intention of the clause is perfectly clear. It means that the Assembly is authorized not to decide, but to discuss, all matters within the sphere of action of the League or that affect the peace of the world. In this it is the successor to the conferences at the Hague. Save for the very limited authority expressly vested in it the function of the Assembly is discussion, and that is of immense importance. The mere fact that any nation, however small, can bring its grievances and its aspirations before a general body of representatives gathered from all the free, orderly and civilized peoples of the earth is of inestimable value. It is a fertile means of creating that enlightened public opinion on international questions which has been heralded as one of the chief objects of a League.

International distrust often arises from misunderstanding which can be removed by open conference; and points of contact are points of mutual comprehension. The influence of external public opinion may well tend to enlarge, and thus reduce what is bad in excessive chauvinism without lessening healthy patriotic spirit.

An Inquest of the World.

Disraeli once said that Parliament was the great inquest of the nation. The Assembly of the League may well become the great inquest of the world; the body where plans for the betterment of mankind are advocated, and where codes of international law are prepared and debated.

It may be observed that although each member of the League is entitled to send three representatives

Seven Reasons Why There Should Be An Electric Range in Every Bend Home.

- 1st—Saving of time, labor and fuel.
- 2nd—Meats, vegetables and other foods retain natural flavor when cooked on an ELECTRIC RANGE that are otherwise lost in vapors when subjected to uneven heats produced by wood, coal or gas ranges.
- 3rd—Get out of bed, turn the button and breakfast is started while you are dressing.
- 4th—No dirt, no ashes, Mother's work is easier and her disposition is happier and her days are longer.
- 5th—A blessing when days are hot; cook on an Electric Range and you do not realize there is any heat in your kitchen.
- 6th—Very low rates maintained by the Bend Water, Light & Power Co. put all the comforts of the ELECTRIC RANGE in reach of all.
- 7th—Cleanliness, ease, comfort and the fact that Mother's burdens are lightened should be the main reasons for an Electric Range.

to the Assembly the voting is by states. Some people have desired a great parliament of the peoples of the earth, but as yet that is utopian. The organization of the modern world is built upon nationality, and whatever a remote future may bring forth, at present peace and order, justice, progress and liberty must be based upon a concert of free nations.
