west Mounted Police, the greatest police organization in the world.

Into the trackless white immensity of the snow country the scarlet-coated riders of the King's "long-arm" rode after offenders against the peace and dignity of his majesty's colonial government.

Sometimes they returned; more frequently they didn't.

There was only one code in the Royal Northwest Mounted in those days; it was:

"Get your man!" The motto of the organization was:

"It can't be done—but we'll do it!"

The hazardous work of the old Northwest Mounted is the basis of "The Man in the Moonlight," a Universal photo-drama starring Monroe Salisbury, which comes to the Grand Theater tonight and Wednesday.

As Rossignol, the Nightingale, Salisbury is tracked to capture by a sergeant of the old police band made famous in the history of the north.

The story is rich in color and gripping in dramatic action. William Stowell, Colleen Moore and Alfred Allen support the star.

Womanly Wit

A young lady whose dramatic ability was greater than her personal attractions called on a popular manager with the view of obtaining a part. The manager chatted about the value of good looks to a woman, ending up with, "Beauty is to a woman what brains are to a man." "There's only one thing more valuable to a man than brains," said the young lady. "What's that?" asked the manager. "Tact!" was the reply.

TO KEEP THE COST of GROCERIES DOWN

Realizing that the cost of doing business is gradually mounting, necessitating on the other hand an increase in price commensurate, Smith's Grocery Has Purchased the Entire Grocery Stock of F. Dement & Co.

We Will Absolutely Guarantee That The Price for Some Time to Come Will Not Be Advanced.

It is our most sincere desire to keep down the cost of merchandise. Groceries make up a large part of the living expense of every household. We will try to make the dollar go the limit for you in purchasing value.

We Most Cordially Invite All the Patrons of F. Dement & Co. to Become Our Customers assuring them that they will have the identical merchandise, coupled with service and value as they have in the past. For a time at least the stock of F.
