YOUR RED CROSS CALLS
ROLL ARMISTICE WEEK

Membership Rather Than Money Is Asked to Complete War Relief.
Red Cross Chapters, branches and auxiliaries in the Northwestern Division, comprising Alaska, Idaho, Oregon and Washington, will participate in the THIRD RED CROSS ROLL CALL, November 2 to November 11, Armistice Day. The American Red Cross, the greatest relief organization in recorded history, the "mobilized heart-action of the American people," will engage in no more "drives" for huge sums for war relief, but will continue its annual roll-call, which is simply the occasion on which the American people express their belief in the ideals and work of the Red Cross by enrolling as members. "All you need is a heart and a dollar."

For five reasons, say the leaders of the Red Cross, this THIRD RED CROSS ROLL CALL should enroll every loyal and public spirited American citizen among the millions of members of the organization that served our boys at home and overseas, saved the morale of France and Italy in our early days in the war, relieved the millions of refugees, fed the starving babies of Europe, saved whole nations from extermination, stood as next friend to those families in America whose dear ones were in the service, threw its tremendous resources into the fight against influenza, dealt with great national disasters of flood and fire, and now carries on to do its part to nerve America and to make the war worth having been won.
These five reasons are:

1. The War Task of the Red Cross is Not Yet Fully Performed.

To men still in service, and to their families at home, to discharged soldiers not yet fully adjusted to the routine of civilian life, to 30,000 boys suffering or convalescing in Military or Naval hospitals, the American people still give cheer, comfort and service through their Red Cross.

In certain portions of the Old World the American Red Cross still feeds and clothes the undernourished and ragged babies, cares for the aged and the infirm, and assists the people of these disease-ridden, famine-stricken, war-ravaged countries to organize their own resources. Since the signing of the Armistice, this work has steadily declined, but it is not by any means fully completed.

2. The Red Cross is the Disaster Relief Agent of the American People.

The speed and efficiency with which the Red Cross met emergency needs at Corpus Christi illustrated the value of nationwide Red Cross organization. In case of disaster, whether it be forest fire in the Northwest or a great Mississippi Valley flood, the first effective relief will hereafter come from nearby communities, working through their Red Cross Chapters.

3. In Case of Epidemic Local Red Cross Organization is Indispensable.

During the influenza epidemic, Red Cross action and co-operation saved three thousand lives, because the Red Cross was fully organized in every community in the United States. Against a possible recurrence of influenza this winter and against a danger of epidemic in the future, continued universal membership in the Red Cross is essential.

4. Red Cross Peace Program Calls For Universal Support and Co-operation.

The American Red Cross is still an emergency organization. It must be realized that there is such a thing as a continuing disaster: 300,000 babies under one year of age die every year because of ignorance; thousands of mothers die unnecessarily in childbirth; it is still possible for an epidemic like the influenza to take a toll within a compass of a few weeks five times greater than the losses of our nation in a year and a half of war; hundreds of thousands of people in the prime of life die in the United States every year from wholly preventable diseases. This is nothing short of a disaster which is a continuing one and will be permanent unless the people co-operate with one another to use the knowledge and wealth already in existence to bring the nation into a better day. The Red Cross through its millions of members comprising every element in every community, many of them themselves vic-times of the foes that cut short human life and rob it of its sweetness, can serve nation and community as can no other agency in supplementing, reinforcing, and supporting well-directed efforts for the conservation of the most precious things in the world, human life and happiness.

5. America Has Set the Pace in a World Red Cross Movement.

The League of Red Cross Societies of all nations has been formed through the inspiration of the Red Cross achievement of the United States. This League has no executive power whatever over the Red Cross of any nation, but will extend into every nation the benefits of a national, voluntary Red Cross society on the American model, to deal with problems of health and child welfare and to cope with the relief problems that are so pressing over so great a part of the earth's surface. Through these organizations many nations will meet their own problems which would otherwise be appealing to America for relief and assistance. The United States, whose people have shown the world how to rise out of despair into hope, must keep the Red Cross banner floating high. The success or failure of this great world movement of practical idealism will depend largely upon the manner in which the American people answer the THIRD RED CROSS ROLL CALL.
