

COAL STRIKE AT END, SAYS UNION CHIEF

ORDER OF COURT TO BE OBEYED.

AMERICA IS FIRST

"We Cannot Fight Our Government," Declares Lewis, As He Announces Decision—Miners And Operators to Meet.

[By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Reports received from some districts indicate that the miners will promptly obey the order to return to work. In other districts, however, it is stated that the miners will be unwilling to resume operations.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—The call for a strike of the bituminous coal miners of the United States will be withdrawn.

"We will comply with the mandate of the court. We do this under protest, but we are Americans, and we cannot fight our government," declared Acting President Lewis, of the United Mine Workers, this morning, following an 18 hour conference with other union leaders here. His voice shook with emotion as he officially announced the end of the strike which started on November 1. The decision to cancel the strike order was made despite the strenuous opposition of a group of miners who wished to defy the courts. The sentiment of Americanism prevailed in the conference.

"There is no question about the strike being ended," one of the highest officials of the United Mine Workers told a representative of the United Press. "We expect the men to obey the withdrawal order. All the power and influence of the union will be brought to bear immediately to get the men to return to work. We expect an argument in some quarters for a few days, but are confident that union members will look at this in the same light we do."

The United Mine Workers have complied with the order demanding the recall of the strike, in good faith, declared Judge Anderson, to whom the recall order was submitted.

SAYS LANDING FIELD UNSAFE

MOVIE MANAGER, EX-ARMY FLYER, UNWILLING TO APPROVE OF LOCATION RECOMMENDED WITHIN CITY.

Because no satisfactory landing field in or near Bend can be found, scenes from "The Clan of the Timber Mountain," the photo drama to be produced here by the American Lifeograph Company, in which an airplane rescue is depicted, will be taken elsewhere, probably in the Willamette Valley, was the statement this morning of Harold Grady, manager, who is making advance arrangements for the filming, which will start tomorrow. Mr. Grady was a flyer during the war, and is unwilling to approve of the old fair ground site, declaring that because of the surrounding hills, it would be decidedly dangerous. "The only place that looked good to me is on the John Ryan ranch," he said, "but there is not time to put it in proper shape."

Members of the troupe, including Lewis H. Moomaw, director, Jean Hersholt, character lead, Carol Holloway, Bert Sprout, Mabel Baker, Ralph Dudley, William Dill, Broderick O'Farrell, Clyde Cook, the camera man, and Richard Oliphant, assistant director, will arrive tomorrow morning, and work will immediately start filming scenes at The Shevlin-Hixon Company mill. Jack Mulhall, leading man, is expected in Friday. After his arrival, mill scenes will continue to be taken until next Wednesday, and after that the camera man will work in the woods near Shevlin-Hixon Camp one. At least one scene will feature Benham Falls. Mr. Grady's offices, have already been taken in Minneapolis.

DOCTORS MAKE 'NEW FEE CARD'

ADVANCE IN PRICES ANNOUNCED BY CENTRAL OREGON MEDICAL SOCIETY WILL RUN FROM 35 TO 50 PER CENT.

An added incentive to the people of Bend to remain in good health was furnished today, when cards appeared in the offices of local physicians, announcing new rates in effect for consultation and treatment. The schedule in general provides for an advance of from 35 to 50 per cent over the fees formerly asked, and represents the action recently taken by the Central Oregon Medical society at a meeting in Prineville. Practitioners point out that while costs have been steadily advancing, with prices being raised in practically all other professions and trades, physicians and surgeons until now, have stuck to the same schedule as that in effect more than a decade ago.

One of the most noticeable changes shown in the new fee bill, is in the matter of telephone consultations. Formerly no charge was made for these, but from now on they will be given at the rate of from one to five dollars per call. Emergency day visits are raised from $3 to $5, and night calls, formerly $4, are advanced to $10. Treatment of cases of narcotic or corrosive poisoning, which had been at the rate of $3, will now cost from $5 to $25, and office consultation and treatment, $2, under the old scale, is now from $2.50 to $5. The minimum in confinement cases is raised from $25 to $35. Examinations of applications for old line life insurance, remain at $5 as before, but the charge for examination of individuals wishing to take out fraternal insurance, is advanced from $1 to $2.50. Charges for treatment of fractures are doubled, and one of the most difficult injuries of the kind to treat successfully, a fracture of the femur, will cost the patient from $100 to $250.

TO TRANSFER YOUTH TO AGED PRISONER

[By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.]

SAN QUENTIN, Cal., Nov. 11.—When Antone Lapara, a handsome Italian of 29, is hanged here December 19, the youth that has put the spring in his step and the resonance in his voice will be transferred, in a measure, from his dead body to the living body of one of the old men prisoners.

The means employed will be a surgeon's knife, and the surgeon will transplant the intestinal glands of Lapara to the old man's body.

This will be the eleventh operation of this nature performed at the prison by Dr. L. L. Stanley, the prison physician, and Dr. G. Stanley Kelker, his assistant. All of the 10 previous operations have given a measure of youth to the old men who receive the glands. They have created something of a sensation in the medical world.

Second Armistice Day Brings Recollections of Ending of World War

One year ago today, American soldiers, sailors, and marines now members of Percy A. Stevens Post number 4, American Legion, celebrated Armistice Day, some in the trenches, some on the high seas, some in the camps and cities. For some, it was a real, sure enough celebration, for others it merely meant a little stricter discipline, but to all, it meant one big thing—the war was over. Typical of the manner in which the first Armistice Day was observed by the men in the service, are the statements of some 30 returned service men, who in response to a general question, gave brief written statements as to the major and minor offensives in which they engaged on that day.

LONDON CELEBRATES ON ARMISTICE DAY

[By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.]

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The first anniversary of Armistice Day found the president of France the guest of the British King and Queen, and Londoners were not unmindful of the date when they turned out in thousands to cheer the distinguished visitor and his wife on their way to the Guildhall, where they were the guests at luncheon of Lord Mayor Sir Ernest Cooper, and the corporation of the city of London.

As is customary on such occasions King George did not accompany his guests but let them have the whole of the popular welcome to themselves but otherwise it was a full state turn out. Troops lined the route from Buckingham Palace to the city, and a sovereign's escort of Household Cavalry conveyed the royal carriages containing the president and his staff. At the western entrance to the Strand, the procession was halted for a few moments to permit the mayor and corporation of Westminster to present an address of welcome, to which the president replied briefly.
