

I. W. W. SKULKER, SHOOTING FROM AMBUSH, SEEKS LIFE OF SOLDIER BRIDGE GUARD

Bullet Pierces Clothing, But Fails to Kill; Big Posse Searches in Vain

OBJECT LESSON GIVEN WOBBLY PRISONERS IN CENTRALIA JAIL

Body of Murderer Executed by Crowd Displayed in Cell—Undertakers Refuse Services—Burial Will Be in Trench at Outskirts of City, With No Funeral Service—Round-up of Radicals is on Throughout the Northwest.

CENTRALIA, Nov. 13.—George Paxton, ex-service man, and member of the patrol which is guarding the bridge between Chehalis and Centralia, narrowly escaped death early this morning when he was fired on in the dark by a man hiding on the banks of the Chehalis river. One of six bullets fired, passed through his clothing without harming him. Paxton with his companions, made for the brush whence the shots came, but the skulker escaped in the darkness.

A posse of nearly a hundred is searching the vicinity in hopes of finding the supposed I. W. W.

A cell in the city jail here presents a striking contrast to the solemn scene enacted at Pier No. 4, at Hoboken. There all honors were paid before 113 coffins in which lay the bodies of as many soldiers killed in battle. In the cell here lies the body of the I. W. W. lynched here Tuesday night following the massacre of members of the American Legion.

It was dragged through the streets of the city last night, then placed in jail in plain sight of the alleged I. W. W.'s who are confined here. Riddled with bullets, the neck cut by a rope, and sodden after hours in the Chehalis river, it is a terrible object lesson, not only to the prisoners huddled in their cells, but to all who fail in respect to the men who fought for the United States.

The body will be taken to the outskirts of the city tonight and buried in a trench, without burial services. Undertakers here persistently refuse to touch it.

Chief of Police Hughes told the United Press that the man lynched was Wesley Everetts, one of the most radical "wobblers" in the state of Washington.

ROUND-UP RADICALS ON.

PORTLAND, Nov. 13.—Several hundred alleged radicals are in jail in the principal cities of the Northwest, according to reports received here. A round-up of "wobblers," and seizure of anarchistic literature is being vigorously pushed as the result of the Centralia massacre Tuesday.

SPOKANE "WOBBLES" TAKEN.

SPOKANE, Nov. 13.—The police today swept down on every known I. W. W. and radical hangout in the city, beginning a round-up which is intended to rid the city of every vestige of industrialism. Seventy-five were taken in the first skirmish, a raid on pool halls.

DEATH PENALTY IS ADVOCATED

NEW YORK LAW AND ORDER UNION WOULD SHOW NO MERCY TO CRIMINAL ANARCHISTS NOW AWAITING TRIAL

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The death penalty should be sought for the "reds" held here for trial on charges of criminal anarchy, a letter written by the Law and Order union to the Senate Judiciary committee, asserts. It also contains a protest against the "loose manner" in which the Department of Justice is conducting the campaign against bolsheviks, anarchists, and traitors.

ARREST SAVES RADICAL FROM MILL WORKERS

CENTRALIA CRIME IS UPHELD BY I. W. W.

OTHER CHARGES MADE

Case of Albert Lang, Charged With Anarchistic Utterances to be Turned Over to U. S. District Attorney.

Just in time to save Albert Lang, mill employe, from a severe beating, and possibly from lynching, Officer Tom Carlon answered a call from the Rogers boarding house shortly after noon yesterday, arrested Lang, and 19 minutes later had him safely locked in the county jail. Mr. Carlon reported that he found Lang surrounded by a crowd of mill workers who were highly enraged over remarks Lang is said to have passed upholding the murder of American Legion men at Centralia on Armistice Day by I. W. W.'s.

"It serves them right for monkeying with the I. W. W.," Lang is alleged to have said after declaring that he was an I. W. W., and "proud of it." Lang has also been instrumental in distributing quantities of the ultra-radical literature, the officials say, and they declare further that when the Brooks-Scanlon Lumber Co. roundhouse burned a few weeks ago, he was an interested spectator at the fire, and was heard to remark that "all the mill ought to be burned."

Despite the fact that he was rescued from very probable violence at the hands of other patrons of the boarding house, Lang was unwilling to accompany Mr. Carlon, and did so only after the officer had told him in plain terms that he would take him to jail in an unconscious condition if there were any further talk of resistance.

Sheriff S. E. Roberts, in whose custody the prisoner now is, will advise the U. S. District Attorney in Portland, of the arrest, and of the circumstances prompting it.

CLOTURE RULE OUT OF ORDER

CUMMINS RULES AGAINST LIMITING DEBATE ON TREATY, AND SENATE VOTE UPHOLDS HIS DECISION.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—Senator Hitchcock today presented a cloture petition to limit debate on the peace treaty, but Senator Cummins, who was in the chair, ruled it out of order, holding it to be an attempt to regulate the Senate's future course of procedure. Hitchcock moved an appeal, and on the motion of Senator Lodge, the chair was sustained by a vote of 44 to 36.

Bend Legion Post Approves Measures for Law and Order

Percy A. Stevens Post, American Legion, through its board of directors, today endorsed the action of the Legion members of Centralia following the killing of four ex-soldiers by I. W. W.'s, and made public the following resolutions:

"To the Grant Hodge Post of the American Legion of Centralia, Washington, the Percy A. Stevens Post No. 4, of the American Legion of Bend, Oregon sends its heartfelt sympathies for the recent tragedy perpetrated by the I. W. W. resulting in the death of four members of your post.

"The Percy A. Stevens Post commends your post upon your action to rid your community of the undesirable element, whose traitorous acts of last Tuesday have scarcely a parallel in the history of the country. This post believes that your conduct has been fully justified. Your members are martyrs to a better standard of American citizenship for which the American Legion stands, and to obtain it, every means consistent with good citizenship must be employed to rid the nation of the element whose principle aim is to destroy the institutions of American government.

"The Percy A. Stevens Post of the American Legion may be counted upon to lend its force for the maintenance of law and order. CHARLES W. ERSKINE, Chairman."

HONOR IS PAID NATION'S DEAD

IMPRESSIVE SERVICES HELD ON HOBOKEN PIER FOR SOLDIERS WHO GAVE LIVES IN BATTLE OVERSEAS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Rain rattling on the tin roof and dripping from the eaves of Pier No. 4 in Hoboken, sounded a solemn requiem for 113 of America's warrior dead today. In even ranks on the dock stood 113 simple wooden coffins, each flag-draped, and piled with flowers. Representatives of the American government, the army and navy, the Russian embassy, and the state of Michigan, where most of the soldiers had enlisted, were gathered for impressive military funeral services.

ELECTION WILL BE DECEMBER 20

SETTLERS ON TUMALO PROJECT TO VOTE ON ORGANIZATION OF AN IRRIGATED DISTRICT.

Hearing in the matter of the petition signed by A. J. Harter and 73 other ranchers in the Tumalo section asking that a date be set for an irrigation district organization election, was held by the Deschutes county court yesterday afternoon, resulting in the announcing of December 20, as the time at which the balloting will take place. Sam Macartney, George Sandel, and A. J. Gonnason were appointed judges of the election. No objection to the petition were filed with the court.

The contemplated district includes the lands now within the boundaries of the Tumalo irrigation project.

CRIME ANGERS BEND CITIZENS

DEATH OF WARREN GRIMM IN CENTRALIA AROUSES INDIGNATION OF MANY FRIENDS AND ACQUAINTANCES.

News of the killing of four members of the American Legion in Centralia by I. W. W.'s, was received in Bend with indignation which boded ill for any "wobblers" who might be found in this vicinity. Not only was this due to the nature of the wanton crime, but also to the fact that one of the victims of the Centralia anarchists, Warren Grimm, was intimately known to a number of Bend people, while many others who had seen him in action on the gridiron when he played for the University of Washington, felt a sense of real loss.

Warren Grimm was a close personal friend of Fred A. Woelffen at the university, and in officers' training camp at the Presidio, where the two were "bunkies." Elmer Ward, of the Brooks-Scanlon office force, knew him intimately at Centralia, and Frank Chitty, recalled the time when the murdered man then practicing law in Centralia, had performed a legal service for him, and had refused compensation giving as his reason that he too was planning to enter the service at an early date. Ray Canterbury, vice-president of the International Timberworkers Union, formerly of Chehalis, knew him in his high school football days, and spoke feelingly of his high character as a man and his ability as an athlete.

ROAD ROLLER CHARGE FAIR SAYS EASTES

HOUR BASIS IS AID TO CONTRACTOR

CITY TO COOPERATE

Should Work With County, is Mayor's Belief—Judge Barnes Renews Offer to Give Bend Use of Roller Free.

Under existing conditions, the charges made by the Deschutes county court for the road roller which is being rented to contractor Joe Rock, are entirely fair, was the declaration of Mayor J. A. Eastes last night, after a tour of inspection of city street improvement jobs, made in company with J. C. Rhodes, chairman of the streets committee of the Bend council. Mr. Eastes found that the roller, for which the contractor is obligated to pay $2 an hour, has been idle the greater part of the time, being used from two to four hours a day, and being held from road work outside the city because of this. "I don't blame the county court a bit," Mayor Eastes said.

Facts Not Formerly Given.

Mr. Eastes explained that when the matter of the county agreement came up at a recent council meeting, he had objected to the rate charged because he had understood that the roller was to be used daily for a full eight hours. Now that all the facts are at his disposal, he sees only one objection remaining in the agreement between the city and county regarding the roller, and that lies in the clause which would make Bend guarantee the contractor's obligation. "The city recorder and I will be glad to look after the county's interests and see that collections are made, but I do not consider that the city should be quite so closely bound," the mayor said.

He emphatically declared that he is anxious for a policy of the most thorough cooperation between city and county, and had no intention of creating any feeling of antagonism. He will ask the court, he says, that the roller be used on county roads until enough work has accumulated in Bend for several full days thus, eliminating part time work on the city streets.

Court Explains Rate.

County Judge W. D. Barnes and Commissioner C. H. Miller, in commenting on the arrangement made with the contractor, showed that county roads are waiting on the contractor's pleasure, and city streets are being given all the advantage. "As a matter of fact, if the city itself were doing the work, the roller would be turned over to Bend with no charges whatever for rent," Judge Barnes said. "That is the way it has been handled in the past, and the offer still holds good." Rent charged by the company selling the roller, when one of the machines was shipped from Portland to Camp Lewis for a lengthy job, he quotes as $250 a month, charges being assessed from the time the machine was shipped to the date on which it was again in the hands of the agents.

Commissioner Miller mentioned work done last summer on Wall street, when he personally operated the roller for two days. No charge was made even for his own services. While the roller is now being tied up by part time work in Bend, roads near the city, including one mile just east of Bend, and three miles in the Grange Hall district, are badly in need of rolling.
