

DEMOCRATS SEE NEW HOPE FOR PEACE TREATY

"BITTER ENDERS" MAY BACK DOWN

CHANGE IS EXPECTED

Any Excuse Will Be Utilized in Taking New Ground, It Is Believed—Mild Compromise Offer May Be Extended.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin) WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 11.—Irreconcilable republicans are about to concede that the senate will ratify the treaty as the result of discussion which will begin Monday. A canvass of the senate has shown some "bitter enders," they said, "that any loophole which can be squeezed through" will be used by some of the senators in changing front on the matter of reservations.

One "irreconcilable" said that the supporters of the Lodge reservations are willing to agree to any reservation on Article 10, which will save their faces. The plan of the Lodge forces, this senator said, is to offer proposals for a compromise on article 10, so mild that if the democrats reject them, Wilson's party will clearly shoulder the responsibility for the failure of the treaty.

Senator Lodge this afternoon offered nine amendments to the Lodge reservations to the treaty. The amendments are those worked out in the bi-partisan conference, and affect the preamble, the withdrawal, domestic questions, the Shantung settlement, naming the American representatives to the league, payment of America's share of expense, disarmament, status of foreign nations under article 16, and voting power. Lodge did not submit article 10, or the Monroe Doctrine.

CONFESSION IS GOOD EVIDENCE

JUDGE WILSON RULES CONCERNING ADMISSION OF STATEMENT MADE BY ACCUSED INDUSTRIALIST.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin) MONTESANO, Feb. 11.—Judge Wilson this afternoon ruled that the confession of Loren Roberts could be read to the jury as evidence in the trial of 11 I. W. W. charged with the murder of ex-service men at Centralia.

Attorney Vandervoer, for the defense, had contended that, assuming Roberts to be insane, the confession was not proper evidence for the jury. Prosecutor Abel contended that the confession should not be excluded even if it should be established that the accused man is insane. "Insanity must be held to affect merely the weight given to a statement by the jury, and not the competency of that statement as evidence," he said.

WOMEN TO CONTROL FRISCO CONVENTION

California Woman Predicts Influence Will Be Seen at Democratic Meeting.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin) PASADENA, Cal., Feb. 11.—The democratic national convention in San Francisco is going to be a woman's convention in the belief of Miss Mary E. Foy of Pasadena.

It was Miss Foy who as an associate member of the democratic national committee, made the speech at Washington which is credited with having been one of the greatest single factors in bringing the democratic convention to the west. She is now a member of the committee on arrangements for the convention.

Miss Foy does not mean the convention will be a woman's meeting in the sense of a sewing circle. She means that the influence of women will be the dominating factor even though women do not cast the majority of votes when the roll is called.

"Women will be the controlling factor in the 1920 campaign," Miss Foy declared after returning from a tour of the 24 eastern states. "Men of the democratic party and, I think, of all parties, are recognizing the woman citizen as a progressive thinker, not bound by precedent, willing to experiment for the public good, conservative in action and studious in attitude."

ANALYST TELLS NEED FOR WORK

MRS. JEAN MORRIS ELLIS SHOWS INDUSTRIAL AND SOCIAL USE OF CHARACTER INTERPRETATION.

Character analysis not only enables the expert to pick out the faults and weaknesses in other, but to recognize many virtues and points of strength which might otherwise go unnoticed. This is the belief of Mrs. Jean Morris Ellis, who is here to give vocational advice to former service men, and who spoke on the general subject of her profession at the gymnasium at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

Mrs. Ellis has an abiding faith in the basic goodness of humanity, and as a phase of this, in the ability of Americanism to win a bloodless but decisive victory over bolshevism. "I certainly do not think that we are due to take a header into chaos," was her declaration in comparing conditions in America and in Russia and other European countries.

Beginning with the period of infancy, Mrs. Morris showed the need for character analysis in the training of children, its great need in aiding character development during adolescence, and later in making sure that the man or woman engages in the work in which he or she will take pleasure, and in consequence will be efficient to self and to employer.

So important has this latter phase of character study become that practically every industry of any size now passes through a vocational guidance expert, on the qualifications of employes from the day laborer to the department heads, she said.

At the close of the lecture, Mrs. Morris gave an exhibition of character reading, and at the conclusion of the evening arranged through Secretary L. W. Trickey, of the Y. M. C. A. for appointments with former soldiers, sailors, and marines. Mrs. Ellis is speaking this afternoon before the Women's Civic league, and will leave Bend tomorrow evening.

That his father-in-law, T. J. McClellan of Bend, came to the ranch home of Mike Merg, four miles from the city, on Monday, and with no apparent reason beat the son-in-law severely about the head with an automatic pistol, was Merg's declaration yesterday when he appeared before District Attorney A. J. Moore, and swore to a complaint on which the warrant for McClellan's arrest is based. "Assault and battery, being armed with a dangerous weapon," is the specific charge, and Mrs. Merg, it is understood, will be a witness against her father when the preliminary hearing in Justice court is held.

PROHIBITION WILL BOOST COFFEE COST

Lack of More Stimulating Beverage Greatly Increasing Demand for Brazilian Product.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin) WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 11.—Visions of further increased prices in coffee faces the public following the statement that coffee imports in 1919 doubled in value as compared with 1918, though there was but a slight increase in quantity.

A blighted coffee crop in Brazil, prohibition and a strenuous coffee advertising campaign are blamed for the jump, which will have to be met by every American household.

According to Department of Commerce figures 1,235,532,102 pounds of coffee were imported by the United States at a cost of $239,400,798. This is more than double what was paid for the 1,215,288,752 pounds imported in 1917. In 1918 998,516,598 pounds were imported at a cost of $92,529,306.

Prices are still rising according to latest monthly statistics. In November 108 million pounds were imported at a cost of $25,321,726. October figures showed coffee imported amounted to 102 million pounds, valued at $24,445,453.

TO ASCERTAIN POSSIBILITIES FOR AVIATION

COMMERCIAL CLUB TO PAY FOR EXPERT

FISH PROBLEM IS UP

Passing of Deschutes County Fair Bill Explained by Mrs. Alexander Thompson—Mrs. Jean Morris Ellis Addresses Club.

Constructive action toward the establishment of an aviation landing field near Bend was taken this noon when the Bend Commercial club, at its regular weekly meeting, voted to pay the expenses of a government expert who will be asked to visit Bend in the near future and pass on possible locations.

The matter was brought up by Forest Supervisor N. G. Jacobson, who also suggested that the club provide a packhorse, canoe, and other equipment for Stuart Edward White, author and naturalist, who has offered to come to Central Oregon next summer and suggest a detailed plan for the rotation of lakes as a means of keeping the supply of large sized trout at its maximum. The club authorized the appointment of a committee to handle this question. In his discussion, Mr. Jacobson pointed out the danger that the Central Oregon lakes and streams, by reason of the ever-growing number of sportsmen coming to this section, might be fished out, and that on the other hand the overstocking of any body of water would result in the destruction of vegetable fish food and of fry. To solve these problems he advocated asking Mr. White, who spent a few days in the country surrounding Bend last year, and who is so much of an expert on trout that he has had two varieties named for him, to make a survey of the situation.

Explains Burdick Bill.

Why she voted in favor of the Burdick bill to designate Redmond as the location of the Deschutes county fair, was explained by Mrs. Alexander Thompson, of The Dalles, representative in the legislature from Wasco county. "The bill was not printed, and in urging its passage to the members of the house as individuals and later when speaking on the floor of the house, Mr. Burdick failed to mention that the measure was for any other purpose," Mrs. Thompson said. "If you send a man from Redmond to represent you, and he forgets, you always have the opportunity of a change, however."

Mrs. Thompson defended the special session of the legislature against the many attacks which have been launched against it, reminding her hearers that in one week the lawmakers had no less than 240 bills, resolutions, and other measures to consider, that out of this number only 97 were passed, while Governor Olcott trimmed off 41 more.

Feeble-mindedness Menace.

Workmen's compensation, irrigation legislation, provision for funds for soldiers' and sailors' education, reinstatement of capital punishment, the two mill tax for elementary schools, the tax for institutions of higher learning, and the measure to eliminate the age limit for admission to institutions for the feeble minded, she declared to be the most vital. "The greatest menace which the United States has today is not bolshevism—it is feeble mindedness," she maintained. "Conditions in such institutions now are so crowded that you need a political pull or unusually high social standing to get in."

Mrs. Jean Morris Ellis, expert on vocational guidance and character interpretation, was another speaker at the club luncheon, devoting her remarks chiefly to the importance of character reading in eliminating waste through industrial inefficiency.
