A COMMERCIAL CLUB PROGRAM.

Portland papers recently have had frequent mention of the effort being made by the Commercial clubs of various Oregon cities to obtain subscriptions sufficient to enable them to meet budget needs. In each case mention has been made of the total set for the budget and of the progress toward its attainment. The totals have run from $10,000 to $15,000, and the sums have been subscribed. These clubs, in other words, have outlined definite programs for themselves for the year and have gone about getting the necessary funds with which to carry out their programs.

Would not such procedure be desirable here in Bend?

The Commercial club, which is looked to as the chief organization devoted to the advancement of the business interests of the city, is wholly without program today. It meets each week. If someone has a piece of business to present to the club he has an opportunity to do so, or if a visitor is present he is called on for remarks. He tells the club what a fine little city Bend is, what a remarkable future it has, and what a progressive lot of business men he has found here and the meeting adjourns with nothing aboard but food and soft soap to nourish it until another meeting day rolls around.

All this is very well as a weekly entertainment but altogether lacking in worth as milestones of progress toward definite aims. Possibly the club has no desire to aim at anything, and if so, very well, but its sporadic outbursts of energy on matters of local commercial importance suggest that it really has an idea of living up to what its name implies.

So we repeat, would it not be a good plan for the club to set a program for itself and then go after it, at the same time enjoying its weekly luncheons and doing its occasional bits of business?

Let it agree on the three most important things needed by the town, and the three most important things needed by the county, and go after them. Set out projects, as Mr. Hudson has suggested to the state bankers association that it decide on county agricultural projects, and see them through. When these are through set out more.

If the club will do this it will accomplish much for the town.

PLAINVIEW ENJOYS HARD TIMES PARTY

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 19.—The O. D. O. Club gave a hard time party at the A. E. Hoss home last Friday evening. A large crowd attended and participated in the good time. Much fun was provoked by the post office feature where M. W. Knickerbocker acting as postmaster distributed a large number of comic valentines to the guests. Some very clever hits were made. Later in the evening Vern Livesay acting as judge, inflicted heavy fines ranging from three cents to ten on victims brought in by the marshals for wearing jewelry or being otherwise too much dressed up. A substantial lunch of potato salad, bake beans, sandwiches and coffee was served.

Mrs. C. F. Chaffan has returned home after a delightful six weeks visit with relatives in Portland.

The Progressive club cleared about seventy-five dollars for the Community Hall fund at the dance given at the Tumalo hall February 6.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin and daughter Doris have returned to their home in Washington after visiting at the McKinney home for several days.

Mrs. Van Tassel started recently for Vancouver where she will visit her relatives enroute to an extensive visit with her grandparents living in California.

The O. D. O. club met with Mrs. Herman Mamerio for a delightful luncheon after which a full afternoon was spent working on the club quilt. The quilt is beautiful worsted log cabin pattern and chances are now being sold at twenty-five cents each. Albert and Louis Nirschal have re-

The Banker

The banker stands and waves his hands, each day I see him beckon; "To bring your rocks to my strong box," he says, "is wise, I reckon. Oh, salt them down, the groat and crown, the kopeck and the shilling; and then, I guess, in days of stress your wad will make a killing." We hear him cry as we go by, we hear the helpful banker; but sound advice cuts little ice when for fool things we hanker. The coin we earn we wish to burn, as other gents are doing; and so we hear the banker seer with pshawing and beshrewing. We need new boats and leather coats and silks that gleam and glimmer, two-dollar socks and oil well stocks dispensed by cheap flam-flimmer. The rainy day seems far away, the money grows on bushes, and so we chase to every place where all the spend-thrift push is. The banker stands and cries, "My lands! Are people all gone nutty? The road you tread looks smooth ahead, but soon it's rough and rutty. Bring in your seads. Oh, locoed lads, bring in the dime and nickle; the sanest guy beneath the sky is he whose coin's in pickle."

BASKET SOCIAL AT TERREBONNE

TERREBONNE, Feb. 17.—The basket social given by the boys' and girls' athletic associations was a great success. The basket ball game between the town team and the high school team saw the defeat of the town team, 8 to 23. The school wishes to thank the ladies for making so many beautiful baskets, the men for such generous bidding and Mr. Elliott, the auctioneer, for so successfully managing the sale of the baskets. The total amount was $86.30, which will be turned over to the gymnasium fund to be used for athletic supplies.

Mr. Thomas Alderdyce has purchased the Benton place and is busy improving it.

Two carloads of hay and one of potatoes were shipped from here last week.
