FOUR SERVICE MEN ARE MADE U. S. CITIZENS

SHORTEN PROCEEDING IN CIRCUIT COURT

GERMANS ASK PAPERS

Many Applications Delayed During War Considered—Grand Jury Starts Deliberations With No Criminal Cases.

Four Deschutes county men who owed allegiance to other nations while serving with the United States army during the world war, were made citizens of America in the brief space of five hours here today, following a short examination conducted by Wilfrid F. Smith, representative of the naturalization board, before Circuit Judge T. E. J. Duffy. The four ex-service men, Frank R. Prince, Magnus Elinen, A. C. Kirtsis and Martin G. Poulson, took the oath of allegiance at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Discharge papers and the testimony of two witnesses who had known the candidate for citizenship before his enlistment, were the only credentials needed by each of the four.

The case of Mr. Prince is regarded as unique, inasmuch as he held a first lieutenant's commission in the war. When examined before being given his lieutenantcy, he was asked the place of his birth and when he replied that it was St. Paul, the examiner took it for granted that the candidate was also a citizen of this country. As a matter of fact, Mr. Prince had declared his allegiance to Canada, in course of a lengthy residence in that country, an allegiance which was not renounced until this afternoon.

Applicants Many.

Fifteen other applications for citizenship, many of them from men born in lands with which the United States was recently war, and which were delayed on that account, were being considered during the latter part of the afternoon. One of these, Richard Harold, a German by birth, residing in Bend, was the first man to make application for citizenship in Deschutes county. Others on the list were as follows: John Kernbach, La Pine, German; Gustav Kurt Hirsch, Millican, German; Joseph Oestreicher, Bend, German; Sigmund Orgler, Bend, Austrian; Franz J. Steinhauer, Bend, German; John R. Glover, Hampton, Canadian; Joseph Reynette, Bend, German; John Kott, Bend, Galician; Hans T. Mikkelsen, Redmond, Dane; Jacob W. Petersen, Redmond, Dane; Andrew M. Nelson, Redmond, Swedish; Mike Drago-savac, Bend, Austrian; William H. Presley, Millican, Canadian; Phillip Schmidt, Redmond, German.
