BREACH OVER PACT WIDENS AT SAN REMO

DEMAND TREATY BE ENFORCED ENGLISH WANT MONEY

Would Modify Terms of Agreement With Germany if Cash is Paid—Austrian Annexation Not Yet at Issue.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.)
PARIS, April 21.—Dispatches from San Remo indicate that the breach between Great Britain and France, brought about by divergent views over the enforcement of the treaty of Versailles, may be widened during the present conference of the council of premiers.
Some correspondents there understand that Premiers Lloyd George and Nitti propose to demand that Germany fulfill the financial clauses of the treaty immediately. This demand would be accompanied by certain concessions, including the reduction of the occupied zone, although the reduced area might be held for a time longer than originally fixed.
It is understood that the French premier opposes concessions, and will hold out for a strict enforcement of the treaty as written.

ANNEXATION NOT TOPIC

SAN REMO, April 21.—The question of Austrian annexation to Germany has not been discussed by the council of premiers, but will probably be considered soon. Vittorio Scialoja, Italian foreign minister, said today. Austria, it is known, was anxious to press the proposed annexation. Scialoja denied that Vienna reported that an alliance between Germany, Italy, and Austria had been contemplated.

AMERICAN TO ATTEND

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 21.—President Wilson today instructed Ambassador Johnson at Rome to attend the San Remo meeting of the supreme council as an unofficial observer. It was learned at state department headquarters.

MICKIE SAYS

STATE GRANGE TO MEET HERE

BUSINESS MEN WILL ASSIST FARMERS

Bishop Paddock Deplores Selfishness in Commercial Club Address—Four L. Men Announces Visit of Chief.

When the convention of the state grange comes to Bend on June 1, the Bend Commercial club will have charge of the entertainment of some 500 delegates who are expected to be in attendance. It was decided this noon, when the club held its weekly meeting at the Pilot Butte Inn. E. E. Butler, whose efforts were largely instrumental in getting the convention for Bend, brought up the matter explaining that one of the chief aims in bringing the convention here is to acquaint farmers from other parts of the state with irrigation needs in Central Oregon. The appointment of a committee to take care of the entertainment of the visitors was authorized.

In the absence of D. G. McPherson, Mayor J. A. Eastes presided at the meeting, introducing Bishop Robert L. Paddock of the Episcopal church as the first speaker. Bishop Paddock declared that in all his extensive travels he had never found a more beautiful place than Bend, but declared that the city will lose out unless a different viewpoint is taken by its citizens.

Selfishness Deplored.

"The world is in a desperate plight," he said. "I do not say this to scare you, but I do want to point out that nothing can save Bend and the rest of the world except a spiritual growth. You have no poverty here, so you are getting selfish. Overseas I saw soldiers who were ready to sacrifice everything. They came back and found selfishness ready to overthrow every one of their ideals. Your town and your nation must perish unless you can catch the spirit of self-sacrifice."

W. D. Smith, organizer for the Four L's, sketched the development of the organization and mentioned that, of 834 cases which had come up since the loggers and lumbermen had joined forces on a peace time basis, all but two had been settled practically as soon as they were brought to notice, while the remaining two were taken care of without difficulty. Within the next 24 hours, Mr. Smith said, announcement will be made of a joint debate which he will hold with Harry Call, secretary of the local timberworkers' union.

He stated that on May 29, Norman F. Coleman, president of the Four L's, will be in Bend, and will speak at the Emblem club on the subject, "Lincoln and Labor."

(By HENRY W. KINNEY (United Press Staff Correspondent.)
TOKYO, April 21.—The time for the general election which is to elect members to the diet, to take the place of that which was suddenly dissolved recently, has been set for May 10, and tremendous interest is being taken in the event, with both sides determined to fight to the last ditch.

The government has given out that the department of justice, which will have control of the election, will take most stringent measures in order to prevent disturbances or irregularities, and that it will take drastic steps against anyone found to be interfering with the working of the machinery.

While soon after the dissolution of the diet it was generally believed that the government would have a comparatively easy chance of victory, owing to the fact that the party in power always has a great

AUDIT SHOWS CONDITION OF CITY RECORDS

SYSTEM IS OUTGROWN SAYS EXPERT

GREATER CARE URGED

Expenditures for Period of More Than Year Exceed Income by $2430.72 — Large Amount of Liens Outstanding.

Detailed recommendations for the handling of municipal accounting, pointing out the inadequacy of the old system used, in view of Bend's rapid growth, are contained in the audit of the city's books just completed by representatives of Arch J. Tourtellotte, certified public accountant, of Portland.

"The city of Bend has reached a stage in its development where old methods fail accurately to record the financial status of the city," Mr. Tourtellotte says in his letter of transmittal, adding that it was impossible to base the report on the records inasmuch as they failed to reflect with any degree of accuracy the financial condition of the city at the end of 1919.

"Greater care should be exercised in review of the accounts payable before issuing warrants," it is pointed out, while it is further urged that paid registered warrants should be checked with the warrant register each month, and a statement of outstanding warrants filed. It is also suggested that budget expenditures should be entered each month to a budget register, and should show comparatively the expenditures of each department to the estimated budget allowance. Finally it is recommended that the accounting work be centralized in one office, and that "a modern, businesslike system of accounting, filing, and safeguarding the city records, be installed."

A feature of the report is the enumeration of outstanding liens. These are given as aggregating $3783.04.

Expenditures Large.

In comments on audit exhibits contained in the report, the auditor shows an excess of expenditures over income for the period from January 1, 1919, to March 1, 1920, of $2430.72. The statement of bonded indebtedness shows that an apparent deficit exists in the interest and sinking funds. This not an actual deficit, as is shown by the due dates on the bonds, but it is strongly urged by the auditor that a sinking fund be accumulated to provide for the retiring of city paper. This might be handled by adding to the annual tax levy, it is suggested.

Bend's assets, the report sets forth, amount to $184,432.65, with liabilities, including $27,164.64 in unpaid warrants, $26,385.01 in notes payable, and a bonded indebtedness of $132,500, totalling $186,444.87, or excess liabilities of $2012.22. Receipts for the period from January 1, 1919, to March 1, 1920, including balance on hand on the first date, total $93,082.50, while the total of warrants issued and cash paid in this period amounts to $83,835.26, cash on hand and in the bank on March 1 of the present year being $9247.24.

Deficits Shown.

Among the city's receipts for 1919 and that part of 1920 already past, fines collected in municipal court reached a total of $1192.85, while building permit fees amounted to $500 on buildings valued at $379,648.55. Transfers from the various city funds amounted to $6830. Total outstanding liens and assessments total $3783.04.

Deficits in the singing funds and interest funds, for the sewer, railroad, funding and fire equipment, bond issues is given as $33,695.72. The total of all cash for these funds is carried in a special interest fund instead of a separate fund for each bond issue.

RAISIN BRANDY AND STILL ARE TAKEN IN RAID

TWO BEND MEN FACE LIQUOR CHARGE

COMBAT GIVES CLUE

Liquid Contraband Found in Loop Apartments and Raisin Mash at McCormick's Home in Larch Addition.

The biggest liquor haul in Deschutes county since the ratification of the prohibition amendment was made last night when Chief of Police L. A. W. Nixon and Night Officer Swift collected one small still, approximately 20 gallons of raisin brandy and a quantity of raisin mash, together with a keg, apparently recently emptied of spiritous liquor, and several dozen bottles. Previous to the seizure of liquid contraband, John McCormick, S. P. & S. locomotive engineer; Harvey Martin and R. H. Loop, all of this city, were taken into custody, McCormick and Loop being charged with violation of the prohibition law and Martin with violation of the disorderly conduct ordinance. Arraigned in police court this morning, all asked for time to plead, and Loop's hearing was set for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, Martin's case for 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and McCormick's hearing for 10 o'clock Friday morning.

Still Is Seized

A combat, in which the three defendants took part below the Loop apartments on Greenwood avenue, early yesterday evening, called the attention of A. E. Saye, acting officer, and, shortly after, Night Officer Swift appeared on the scene and arrested Loop. In the course of the melee McCormick is said to have badly damaged one of Martin's fingers with his teeth, while McCormick sustained two darkened optics. A few minutes after Loop's arrest, Chief Nixon arrived, arresting the two remaining combatants.

An immediate search of Loop's rooms in the apartments was made, Chief Nixon reporting the finding of a 20-gallon keg of raisin brandy and a quantity of bottles. In McCormick's house, own by Loop, on Division and Lake Place, in Larch addition, a still of from three to four gallons' capacity, a quantity of raisins, soaking in water, and an empty barrel giving forth the scent of the raisin liquor were taken, the officers said.

After arraignment of the prisoners this morning, the three were released on bail.

BIGGER SLEEPERS WILL BE PUT ON

Two 14-Section Pullmans to Be Placed on Bend-Portland Run, Replacing 12-Section Cars.

Two standard sleepers containing 14 sections and a drawing room each, will be used in the near future on the run between Bend and Portland, it was announced last night by J. T. Hardy, traveling agent for the S. P. & S. The new cars, which have been ordered for some time, will take the place of the two 12 section Pullmans now in use. Tourist accommodations will remain unchanged.

Mr. Hardy reports that the freight congestion is being rapidly relieved, and that "outlaw" strikers who refused to return have already been replaced. "Some of the Bend merchants were just beginning to run short on certain lines of goods," Mr. Hardy said.
