

The Bend Bulletin

DAILY EDITION
Published Every Afternoon Except Sunday.
By The Bend Bulletin (Incorporated)
Entered as Second Class matter January 2, 1917, at the Post Office at Bend, Oregon, under Act of March 3, 1879.

ROBERT W. SAWYER, Editor-Manager
HENRY N. FOWLER, Associate Editor
FRED A. WOELFLEN, Advertising Manager
C. E. SMITH, Circulation Manager
RALPH SPENCER, Mechanical Supt.

An Independent Newspaper, standing for the square deal, clean business, clean politics and the best interests of Bend and Central Oregon.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

By Mail
One Year	$25.00
Six Months	$12.75
Three Months	$7.50
By Carrier
One Year	$25.00
Six Months	$12.50
One Month	$2.08

All subscriptions are due and PAYABLE IN ADVANCE. Notices of expiration are mailed subscribers and if renewal is not made within reasonable time the paper will be discontinued. Please notify us promptly of any change of address, or of failure to receive the paper regularly. Otherwise we will not be responsible for copies missed. Make all checks and orders payable to The Bend Bulletin.

MONDAY, MAY 24, 1920.

OREGON FOR LEAGUE.

Last Friday's vote, studied in respect to the league of nations controversy, while full of anomalies, contains little satisfaction for the anti-leaguers.

On the republican side Hiram Johnson is apparently the choice of the party for its presidential candidate, but only by a plurality vote. The combined vote for Wood and Hoover, both in favor of the league, is well in excess of Johnson's total, indicating clearly that Johnson's narrow position does not appeal to the majority of the republicans of the state.

The same result is shown in the vote for delegates to the republican national convention. The men selected in this district as well as in the state at large all favor a candidate pledged to the league. So far as yet reported not a single Johnson delegate was chosen. The situation, then, is as we suggested on Thursday it might be—the delegates are to be bound to Johnson only as long as they consider their pledge to be binding. After the first few perfunctory ballots they will turn to a league man.

On the democratic side the situation is much the same, although the conclusions are to be drawn from the senatorial instead of the presidential feature of the election. Here the contest was between Senator Chamberlain, supporter of the league with reservations, and Harvey Starkweather, ready to accept President Wilson's ultimatum concerning the league and its supporters without question, and Chamberlain was nominated. In other words the democrats of the state join with the republicans in favoring the league with reservations and reject the Wilson idea of the league without the change of a letter or a dot.

So far as the issue of the presidential campaign is the league of nations it would seem to have been settled in Oregon.

The recent statement from Attorney General Palmer's office that sugar prices could be reduced one half makes us wish that A. Mitchell were in the sugar business where he could show us how. It is plain that he cannot as attorney general.

G. O. P. Convention Snap-Shots

(Copyright, The George Matthew Adams Service.)
By A. H. Vandenberg.

SIXTH CONVENTION

The sixth republican national convention was the first to do the really unexpected thing. When it assembled in Cincinnati, June 14, 1876—centennial year—three great republican leaders stood out beyond the crowd. They were James G. Blaine, of Maine, who had but recently vindicated himself from the insinuations of corruption in the infamous "Mulligan Letters" episode, and whose name was presented to the convention by Robert G. Ingersoll in an oratorical gem which will live as long as jewels of speech are cherished; Roscoe Conkling of New York, one of the ablest debaters of all time, but arrogant and unapproachable and utterly lacking in personal popularity; and Oliver P. Morton, Indiana's great and splendid war governor.

There were other candidates, largely of the so-called "favorite son" type—although Benjamin H. Bristow, of Kentucky, was sufficiently formidable to muster 113 votes on the first ballot.

Six roll-calls failed to name a choice, although Blaine led all the

The Dismal Day.

The day is dark and chilly, and beastly showers descend; the winds are sad and silly, their wailing has no end. The men have quit their hoeing until the weather's dry; the women drop their sewing and gaze outdoors and sigh. On such a day a fellow is willing to believe that all the world is yellow, this life designed to peeve. The cheerful words of Browning that all the world is well, can't stop his heavy frowning, or soothe him for a spell. He feels that all the sages and bards who sing of hope can never earn their wages by springing sunshine dope. The weary winds are blowing, it is a beastly day; no cheerful crows are crowing, no blithesome roosters neigh. But all the outdoor critters are wet and cold and blue; no wren or robin twitters and makes a howdydo. But hold, the ducks are joyous, the he ducks and their wives! The rainstorms that annoy us bring joy to their young lives! So let's resume our grinnings and caper round again; the ducks must have their innings, as well as hens and men.

way by a wide margin. On the sixth ballot he had 308 votes; Bristow 111; Conkling, 81; Hartranft of Pennsylvania, 50; Hayes of Ohio, 113; Morton, 85; Washburne of Illinois, 4; Wheeler of New York, 2.

On the seventh ballot the field combined against Blaine—that being Conkling's chief political aim in the convention—and a coalition of 384 votes nominated Rutherford B. Hayes, with results that all but led to civil war ere he reached the White House by a majority of one in the electoral college. William A. Wheeler was nominated for vice-president by acclamation.

The platform declared "the United States of America is a nation, not a league," demanded the courageous enforcement of the new constitutional amendments, attacked polygamy, charged democracy with "still being the same in character as when it sympathized with treason," and reiterated practically everything that had been promulgated four years previously.

The convention of this year abolished the "unit rule" of voting—so that a delegate might be free to vote as an individual, instead of being bound by a majority of his state.

Continued tomorrow, with the story of the seventh convention.

Mt. Hood ice cream at Buchwalter's 36 1/2c

PITTOCK WILL TO BE AT ISSUE TODAY

Attempt to Break $8,000,000 Trust Fund Left by Publisher Reaches Climax.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin) PORTLAND, ORE., May 24.—This is the date set for the trial of the Pittock will contest—the climax of the attempts of Caroline P. Leadbetter, daughter of the late Henry L. Pittock, to break the $8,000,000 trust fund which was created by the publisher of the Portland Oregonian.

Arguments on the validity of the instrument will be confined to two major points, under a recent ruling of the court. These points are those advanced by the Leadbetter petition, asserting, first, that the purported will is not the last will of the deceased, and, second, that undue influence was exercised upon Pittock in its execution.

Joseph P. Cotton of the law firm of McAdoo, Cotton & Franklin of New York, will be associated with the local attorneys in representing the opponents of the will.

LEGATION GUARD IS FOREST PATROL

After four years service in the U. S. army, most of which time was spent as legation guard at Peking, China, W. A. Mitchell, will go on this season as a fire patrol at Cabin Lake, a part of his brother's district. Ranger Mitchell and his soldier brother are spending a few days in Bend before starting back toward Fort Rock.

Bring in your best negatives and have them enlarged. We make 8x10 enlargement for 50c. Central Photo Co., with Symonds Bros., Jewelers, Bend, Oregon. 43c

Synopsis of the Annual Statement of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Co. of California, in the State of California, on the 31st day of December, 1919, made to the Insurance Commissioner of the State of Oregon, pursuant to law:

Capital
Amount of capital stock paid up	$1,200,000.00
Income	$9,344,904.66
Total premium income for the year	$9,344,904.66
Interest, dividends and rents received during the year	2,546,951.00
Income from other sources received during the year	908,528.46
Total income	$12,799,384.12
Disbursements
Paid for losses, endorsements, annuities and surrenders values	$3,471,817.75
Dividends paid to policyholders during the year	694,244.94
Commissions and salaries paid during the year	2,408,970.62
Taxes, licenses and fees paid during the year	247,359.67
Amount of all other expenditures	1,034,565.47
Total expenditures	$7,796,908.45
Assets
Value of real estate owned (market value)	$2,350,450.00
Value of stocks and bonds owned (market or amortized value)	6,808,491.80
Loans on mortgages and collateral, etc.	27,955,244.28
Premium notes and policy loans	7,704,619.50
Cash in banks and on hand	1,251,974.00
Net uncollected and deferred premiums	746,213.56
Interest and rents due and accrued	718,498.20
Other assets (net)	271.19
Total assets life department	$47,695,108.22
Accident department	2,946,526.05
Total assets admitted in Oregon	$50,641,634.27
Liabilities
Net reserves	$41,568,759.00
Gross claims for losses unpaid	193,847.64
All other liabilities	4,829,587.67
Liabilities of life department	$42,592,194.31
Liabilities of accident department	$1,721,526.05
Total liabilities, exclusive of surplus of $1,127,973.71 and capital stock of $1,200,000.00	$44,313,720.36
Business in Oregon for the Year
Gross premiums received during the year	$8,124,919.74
Premiums and dividends returned during the year	9,591.93
Losses paid during the year	49,325.00
THE PACIFIC MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE CO. OF CALIFORNIA, George I. Cochran, President, C. I. D. Moore, Secretary, Statutory resident attorney for service: W. M. McCune, Portland, Oregon.

The Moose and their friends will dance Wednesday evening, June 2, at the Hippodrome. Wilson George's orchestra. Be sure and come. 1401c Inverse Ratio. Jud Tankins has noticed that as the contents of a package grow smaller the bragging on the label gets bigger.

NATIONAL METAL WEATHER STRIPS

KEEP OUT COLD
KEEP IN HEAT
KEEP OUT DUST

BIG FUEL
AND WORK SAVER

Equip your house, office or store with Weather Strips now. Limited supply left at original price.

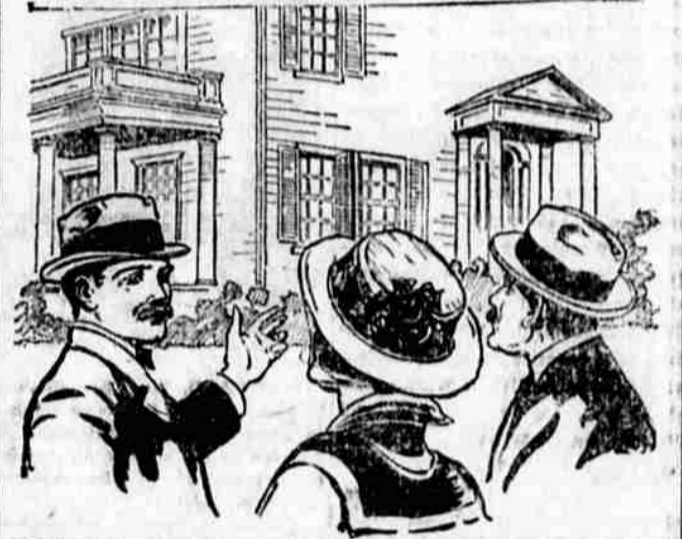

See T. L. COLLIER, Bend, Oregon

Aluminum Repairing

We are now prepared to do all kinds of soldering of aluminum ware. Bring in your pieces for repairing quickly and efficiently done.

William Montgomery

Minnesota Street. Bend, Oregon.

"This house has Electric Service"

When you've said that, you've gone a long way toward getting your lease signed. Because the modern woman wants a house she can turn into a home. And one of the first essentials of a cheerful home is the bright, inviting light of EDISON MAZDA LAMPS.

The housewife knows, too, that in the house with electric service her work will be lessened and made easier by electric flatirons, electric washers, vacuum cleaners and the many other electrical appliances at her command.

Your house will make it the preferred house. It will rent easier, and for more. Special terms now. Take advantage of them.

Our wiring representative will call and give you facts. Call or 'phone for information and estimates TODAY.

Bend Water Light & Power Co.

Progressiveness and Growth

In this community means dollars and cents in your pocket.

Build Now with Deschutes (White) Pine.

Build of home products and patronize home industry. The cheapest and best building material is Deschutes (White) Pine and is manufactured right here into all sizes and grades of lumber. Acquire a home of your own instead of a bunch of rent receipts.

The Brooks-Scanlon Lumber Co.

Local Sales Agents
MILLER LUMBER COMPANY

Health Bread

MAKES MUSCLE
IS GOOD BRAIN FOOD
Made from Cracked Wheat
No Shortening
Very Little Sweetening

The Most Nutritious Bread Made

American Bakery

Not Just Meat But MEAT
O'DONNELL BROS.

The Bend Laundry

as in the past, is prepared to efficiently care for the wants of its patrons.

To You On Schedule Time

we return everything you send to us except the dirt.

Put Your Duds in Our Suds

Bend Laundry

Demanded of merchants their highest priced wares, whether you can afford them or not, is fuel for the profiteer. Even with present prices, proper judgment can be exercised in buying and money saved. High prices is no excuse for extravagance.

The Shevlin-Hixon Company.