RESOLUTE IS WINNER OVER SHAMROCK IV

VICTORY IS FIRST IN THREE TRIES

TWO LEFT IN SERIES

Resolute Takes Lead Early In Race and Sets Pace for Challenger, Holding the Advantage Throughout Contest.

ABOARD THE DESTROYER GOLDSBOROUGH, July 21.—The Resolute set the pace for the first half of the third race with the Shamrock for America's cup today. The American boat reached the outer mark on the 15 mile course with a commanding lead. Six miles from the finish she was 300 yards ahead.

The postponement flag was hoisted half an hour before the time to start the race. With Sir Lipton needing only one more race to capture the trophy which has remained in America's possession for more than half a century, the excitement was intense.

The race was under way at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, the Shamrock crossing the line slightly ahead. The Resolute was 19 seconds behind. A half hour after the start, the Shamrock had a lead of at least an eighth of a mile, and was going rapidly. When the Shamrock split tacks, the Resolute went into a lead of 100 yards. At 2:50 o'clock, the Resolute was nearly a half a mile in the lead.

PROHIS START CONVENTION IN LINCOLN TODAY

MAJOR PARTIES MADE TARGETS

PRESIDENT STUBBORN

Aaron S. Watkins, in Keynote Address, Launches Bitter Criticism Against Wilson and Members of U. S. Senate.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin) LINCOLN, Neb., July 21.—Delegates to the prohibition party convention were called to order at 10:05 o'clock this morning by Chairman Hinshaw. About 300 were in attendance, the crowd scattering on the floor and in the galleries. Aaron S. Watkins, of Ohio, temporary chairman, delivered the keynote address.

Declaring the two older parties had produced a stone when the demand was for bread, Watkins criticized both impartially.

The prohibition party's mission is not ended, Watkins declared. Former liquor selling places are being held intact, he said, until "indifference and tolerance of officials shall have become positive friendship."

Wets Hope for End of Drought. "While we are thankful for the progress made, we cannot ignore plain facts, nor build false hopes," he said.

Prohibition, "partially enforced," has proved its value, he said. Suggesting the party should retain its public ownership plank, Watson said, "it is better the government should control the railroads than that railroads should control the government. The unprofitable experiment in government management of railroads must not cause us to swerve from our demands," he said.

Returning to the older parties, Watkins said he was forced to the conclusion that each is "a marvelous combination of statesmanship and stupidity, patriotism and punk, rectitude and rottenness such as the world has waited countless ages to see."

"Peanut Politics" Scored. "There recently was a disgraceful quarrel between the president and congress," Watkins said. "The name of America has been scandalized while stubbornness paraded as principle and peanut politics wore the sheepskin of statesmanship. The president no doubt had his convictions, but even a republican senator occasionally has lucid intervals and can be reasoned with. On both sides too much setting of political stakes and too little of constructive statesmanship, too much"

Millican Homesteader Will Lure Gold From Earth by Dry Process; Can Take 50,000 Horsepower From Air, He Says

Central Oregon's mining development has suffered sadly from lack of water, but with a new invention which he has at his disposal for the separation of precious elements, water will not be needed, and there is no reason why vast quantities of gold and platinum should not be extracted from the rocks and soil, declares C. F. Hartwig, Milliean Valley homesteader. Mr. Hartwig will return to his dry land farm shortly to prospect before beginning the separation of the more valuable elements.

Mr. Hartwig did not go into details as to the process which he will use, other than to mention that it results in an apparent reversal of Newton's law, causing heavier metals to rise to the surface when a dry mixture is agitated. The method is much cheaper than the oil flotation, smelting, cyanide, or mercury processes, he declared.

This is not the only plan, however, which Mr. Hartwig has for bringing wealth to Central Oregon. Power development, virtually limitless, is possible, he states. He is guarding his secret method jealously, but allowed it to leak out yesterday that he could lure 50,000 horsepower out of the air with very little preparation. This, also, he considers, would be extremely valuable to a dry country.

On his power development plan, Mr. Hartwig last year endeavored to organize a corporation with headquarters in Bend, and with men prominent in local industry as officers, but for some reason the proposed organization failed to go through.

Lodge is here to attend a meeting of the republican national executive committee.

GERMANS MAKING EFFORT TO GRAB BULK OF RUSSIAN TRADE

By Carl D. Groat (United Press Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN, July 21.—Though some German officials concerned with Russian affairs look skeptically for the moment upon trade possibilities with Russia, certain economic authorities including Food Administrator Schmidt see in Russia a future golden business opportunity for Germany.

And, while one group of officials scoffs at the Russian claims as to ability to deliver goods to the rest of the world, another group is carefully planning for the later conquest of the east.

Germany feels that she is in a strategic position to get a generous share of the Russian trade, and is inclined to think that in the long run she can outstrip England, America and France in this field.

Minister Schmidt's views of the situation as expressed to the Wirtschaftsrat are a clear indicator of the German feeling about the problem.

"With respect to our ability to compete on the world market, we will have no easy position in the future," he said. "We will soon have sharp competition, especially with America. The concentration of all financial power in the United States as it developed during the war, must lead directly to formation of world trusts. England has also assembled strong forces within itself.

"Greater prospects are offered us through approaches to the east. The Russian market offers many possibilities for trade relations with us. It concerns us as one of the nearest markets in which we have, as far as England and America are concerned, the indisputable advantage of a more favorable territorial situation."

Incidentally, Schmidt viewed Germany's industrial situation as approaching a crisis inasmuch as foreign demand has decreased with the increase of prices and improvement of the mark, but he was inclined to believe that the present difficulties would be remedied if all factories would apply proper methods and if import and export were correctly controlled by the government.

Meantime, it is significant that Russia is pursuing a systematic campaign as respects future trade relations.

YEAR DRY BUT RAIN IS RIGHT

GREAT GOOD IS DONE BY SHOWERS

Biggest Crop Expected Since Record Year of 1916 When 9.43 Inches Were Recorded in First Six and One-Half Months.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin)

With the exception of the last year, 1920 has so far been the driest in Central Oregon since the beginning of 1915, and the precipitation total up to noon today for the first three growing months, May, June, and July, has also been smaller than in any of the years included in the previous comparison, but for some reason or other, the 1920 rain and snow will apparently do more real good than farmers have experienced in this section since 1916. In that year, warehouses all along the line to The Dalles were bursting with wheat, and piles of sacks of golden grain waited until late winter for shipment, the crop badly overtaxing transportation facilities.

Although the total for 1920, including the .1 of an inch which fell this morning, has reached only 4.24 inches, with the May, June, and July rains amounting to 1.2 of an inch, each rain has come at just the right time, and ranchers in the dry farming country to the north are already worrying over the labor and transportation problems. The question of production has already been taken care of. The open range has been kept in good shape by the occasional showers, and owners of irrigated ranches have been spared much work in turning on and off water from the ditches. Alfalfa cutting is now under way in the farming country directly tributary to Bend, but there is little chance that any damage can have resulted from this morning's light shower.

For heavy precipitation from January 1, to July 21, 1916 still holds the palm with 9.43 inches. For 1915, during the corresponding period, the total was 5.61 inches, for 1917, 4.87 inches, for 1918, 4.44 inches, and for 1919, 4.19 inches.

WOULD GIVE REDS AN EVEN BREAK

SOVIET IS FRIENDLY

Negotiations With Polish Proletariat, However, Would Be Intolerable, Premier Lloyd-George Tells House of Commons

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin)

LONDON, July 21.—Premier Lloyd-George, in the house of commons today, said that the Polish premier had undertaken to withdraw the armies of Poland to their legitimate frontier, according to the British proposal for an armistice with the soviet.

The premier declared that the soviet reply to the peace proposal showed that the Moscow government is prepared to consider a friendly spirit, the British suggestion for an armistice. He added that indications are that the soviet is only considering negotiations with the Polish proletarian government. Such a basis, Lloyd-George characterized as "intolerable."

Great Britain has advised the Polish government to ask for an armistice, according to information received from authoritative sources.
