IS THIS COOPERATION?

Sooner or later the directors of the North Unit irrigation district will make some public statement, we assume, attempting to justify their plans for appropriating all the surplus flow of the Deschutes for the exclusive benefit of their lands.
Presumably their argument will be based on their great need of water to insure crops on the dry farms of Jefferson county, and something will be said of the fact that they are in position to proceed with the project, while there may be various delays necessary to insure the inclusion of any of the other units.

The preceding is, of course, based wholly on supposition. Possibly the directors will frankly say that they have found, as their plans progressed, that they needed all the water and so they have started out to grab while the grabbing is good.
It is now, they may urge, a free-for-all scramble and they want all the advantages they can get.

This argument, or any of like nature, the North Unit men may be able to justify in their own minds, but how, we wonder, can they square any such attitude with the cooperative sentiment that has ruled hitherto.
Early last year, when conditions seemed to be working toward a fight between the different units the Bend Commercial club counselled against antagonism and urged cooperation. North Unit directors joined in the cooperative campaign and the club set itself heartily at work to obtain an examination of the reservoir site. We shall not attempt to allot shares of credit for securing the reservoir examination but no one will deny that the club did much to secure it. The club has also done other things on behalf of the whole Deschutes project as a whole, the latest being in connection with the recent visit of the Appropriations committee.

If we are not mistaken no other community had any opportunity to share in this visit until the Bend committee invited cooperation for the purpose of securing an examination of the whole Deschutes project. Jefferson county might have been left out of the program entirely had there been any disposition here to treat the possibility of Deschutes project irrigation on any other basis than that of community cooperation. The Jefferson county committee accepted the invitation to cooperate, permitted Bend people to undertake the job of planning the program, of bringing the committee here and of showing the reservoir site that at the very time they were planning to take for themselves alone.

All this looks like letting us help pull up the hill and when the crest is in sight casting us off.

What kind of cooperation is this?

Fires Are Mysterious In Oregon

They come when least expected. You may think your home or place of business perfectly safe--it might be the first to go.

Parting Guests

I like to have my friends come in, when evening's growing gray, and talk of autos made of tin, of hen and hogs and hay. Their coming does not make me sore; 'tis that that makes me grieve: When they would go, their visit o'er, they take so long to leave! They quit the dazzling sitting room, at half past ten o'clock; then in the hall's religious gloom they talk and talk and talk. At last they leave my humble door, but on the porch they pause, and for another hour or more they ply their useful jaws. The night is waxing old and late when down the walk they go, and then they loiter at the gate to talk an hour or so. How grand is that infrequent guest who says, at nine o'clock, "Time flies apace, you want to rest, so I will take a walk." He takes his walking stick and hat, and when he comes some more, he finds a welcome on the mat that lies before the door. My friends are welcomed to my gate, and harmless suds shall flow; but when it's time to pull their freight, I wish they'd up and go!

"Man Hangs Self When Razor Falls," says a newspaper headline.
Often, in our many years of shaving, we have felt the same way.
The darn thing never will work right.

The Oregon Journal says Cox will open in the West. The democratic hope is that if Cox wins they will open everywhere.

The investigation of the Japanese question in California ought to bring results that will affect the Oregon situation as well.

School and college advertisements are beginning to appear. Untimely suggestion of the future to the school child.

Farmer-Labor Nominees

Here are the men selected to lead the new third ticket, Farmer-Labor party. For president, Parley P. Christensen, lawyer of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Max S.
Hayes of Cleveland for vice president. The selection of Hayes by the third party makes three Ohioans on presidential tickets this year—Harding, Cox and Hayes.

Why She Would Change Faith.
Mary Jane is a member of the Episcopal Sunday school. One Sunday when she came home she told her mother she thought she'd like to change churches, as their's was so hard on white stockings.

FOR A More Beautiful Bend

We have secured the services of the well known Landscape Gardener, Mr. Chas. H. Bishop, and are making a special department of landscape gardening. Those who have been accustomed to the work of Mr. Bishop and others who wish expert work in improving their surroundings are invited to send their orders to our office or to come in and talk over their plans. We are taking up this work practically at cost in the interest of a More Beautiful Bend.
