

RUSSIA WARNED TO GRANT PEACE

PREMIER REPORTS HIS ACTION

Told Soviet Envoys in London That Continued Advance in Poland Lead to Doubt of Bolshevik Sincerity—Plan Volunteers.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin) LONDON, Aug. 5.—Premier Lloyd George has informed the house of commons that he has warned Russia to grant an immediate armistice, with fair terms, to the Poles.

The British leader said that he delivered this warning yesterday to the Russian representatives in London, advising them that a continued Bolshevik advance in Poland made the allies suspect the sincerity of the Soviet government in its professed desire for peace and the resumption of trade relations.

While Lloyd George was making this statement the Evening News announced that it had information that the cabinet was considering calling for volunteers for a British expedition to go to Poland to fight.

WARDENS CAPTURE SOME FINE TROUT

Snag Fourteen in Crossing Diamond Lake, But Say Boat Necessary For Success There.

Game Warden McDonald and Joe Craig of the Portland game office caught 14 good-sized trout in Diamond lake, merely trolling while they crossed the lake on business Monday. One of the fish weighed 14 pounds, according to Mr. McDonald. However, he does not advise others to try Diamond lake, as the only way to get the fish is from a boat, and the only boat on the lake belongs to the government service.

CUB REPORTER MAY GET PAPER IN BAD

TOKIO, Aug. 5.—Japan is the land where the newspaper man must walk warily lest he fall foul of the authorities.

The press embargoes against the publishing of news of one kind or another are so numerous that it requires a good memory to remember them all. At present no less than 38 are in force, and this does not include the minor prohibitions issued by police and judicial authorities relating to search or examination of criminals and the like.

Of the 38 named, 17 refer to Korean news.

C., Aug. 5.—The population of the state of Oregon was announced by the census bureau this morning as 782,285, an increase in the last decade of 110,520, or 16.4 per cent. The population of Deschutes county was announced at the same time at 9522. As the county was formed since the last census was taken, no comparison can be made. Bend, with a population of 5415, announced several weeks ago, has more than half the total of the county.

HOPE GRANDFATHER HANGED FOR BANDIT

Missing Man Believed Lynched; Heirs Seek Proof Of His Death.

BUTTE, Mont., Aug. 5.—While most folks whose ancestors, within six or eight generations, were brigands, are exceedingly anxious to cover the fact, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Adams, of Cincinnati, Ohio, would be more than pleased could they establish beyond a doubt that Adams' paternal grandfather ended a career as a bandit in the early Montana days by "stretching hemp" for the amusement and satisfaction of a band of vigilantes. In fact, it would please them just about $500,000 worth.

It happens this way: George A. Adams, the grandfather, lured by the tales of gold discoveries in the West, left his wife and children in Chicago and came to Montana in 1861. Nothing was heard of him for several years, and then rumor reached Cincinnati, to which place the wife and children had moved, that Adams had been convicted of murder and lynched. When Adams left Chicago, in addition to his family he left behind him property, to-wit: one lot, valued then at about $50. Since 1861, however, the value of the lot has increased to $500,000, but, lacking clear proof that Grandfather Adams is actually dead, clear title to the property cannot be secured by George A. Adams, the grandson.

In an effort to establish the fact that his grandfather died at the end of a hemp rope pulled by vigilantes in Montana, Adams is now in Butte interviewing old timers who were members of the vigilantes. To date his search for proof has proved fruitless, for, while some of the pioneers can vividly recall lynching bees a-plenty in the 60's, no one can remember a lynching bee principal named Adams. It is thought that Grandfather Adams, if he actually was hanged for banditry, died under an assumed name.

FIRST FARM BUREAU PRESIDENT FROM RANKS

The American Farm Bureau Federation drafted a real farmer from the ranks to serve as its first president. He is James H. Howard of Clemons, Ia. Three years ago Jim Howard was known to his neighbors "as the best farmer in central Iowa," so they elected him head of the local County Farm Bureau. Last year the state organization selected him, and now he heads the national body. Howard grew up on the same farm where he now lives—only the original quarter section now numbers 480 acres. He attended school at Grinnell, Penn College and University of Chicago. He tried teaching, then banking, but 10 years ago returned to active charge of the old farm—which now is rated "one of the best in the state."

MEN'S TOURNEY TO BE STAGED

Y. M. C. A. ARRANGING FOR TENNIS COMPETITION TO BE HELD THIS MONTH; MANY ENTRIES EXPECTED.

A men's tennis tournament, the first city tournament ever held in Bend, will be inaugurated by the local Y. M. C. A. next week. As the tournament is a newly established affair, it will be strictly local. There are numbers of tennis enthusiasts in Bend and, while almost none have been practicing this season, it is expected that many will enter, and, for the very reason that all of the participants are either beginners or former players who are decidedly rusty, no one who plays tennis at all should stay out of the tournament. About 20 men are expected to enter, although more may be signed up. The Y. M. C. A. will have full charge of the tournament, which is to be held on the Pilot Butte courts, permission having been granted to use them for matches. Ralph Curtis will have charge of the schedule and other details of the tournament. Entries may be made with Curtis, at the Y. M. C. A., or at Buchwalter's sport store.

In order to insure the success of the tournament, an entrance fee of $1 will be charged, in return for which balls will be furnished, the court kept in shape and a pair of tennis shoes put up as a trophy. Entries must be in before Friday, August 13, on which date the drawings will be published. First-round games may be played at any time, the preliminary rounds to be completed before the 28th. According to present plans, the finals will be played Sunday, August 29. Full plans have not been worked out, but will be announced later.

Several summer students were so well pleased with their first taste of college work that they are planning to continue with degree courses, says Dean M. Ellwood Smith, director.

CENSUS ESTIMATE DIFFICULT MATTER

Unusual Conditions During the Last Decade Makes Comparison Impossible.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin) WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 5.—Announcement of the 1920 population of the United States will be made about September 15. Meanwhile all estimates, semi-official or otherwise, are not authorized by the census bureau, Assistant Director of the Census W. M. Stewart has announced. "It is next to impossible to give an accurate estimate of the continental population of the United States, because of insufficient data and the unusual disturbances to our population since 1910," said Stewart. "Everybody believes the population in 1920 will be from 105,000,000 to 110,000,000, but the census bureau does not authorize the estimate," Stewart declared. Officials in charge of tabulating the returns have stated the inability to determine an estimate in advance this year is due to unusual conditions during the decade that has passed. They include the war casualties, deaths from influenza and the exodus of aliens during the period of the World war, as well as curtailment of immigration. More than 4,000,000 immigrants who would normally come to this country from Europe did not enter the United States during the 10 years, according to immigration statistics. Approximately 3,500,000 aliens left the country from 1910 to 1920, according to estimates. Deaths due to influenza during the two epidemics totaled nearly 500,000. In a normal year, 1914, there were 6000 deaths from this disease. These factors are believed by officials to have rendered impossible an estimate based on comparative figures.

SUMMER ATTENDANCE RECORD FOR O. A. C.

619 Students Present; Many Take Physical Education Work; Tailoring Classes Draw.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Aug. 5.—Establishing a new high record mark for summer session attendance at the O. A. C. summer session, the 1920 term closed July 31, having registered 619 students. The heaviest registration in summer session history up to this time was 335, in 1919. The work in physical education, designed to help fit teachers for the physical training of Oregon girls and boys in accordance with the new educational laws and regulations, attracted the greatest amount of interest. This was most noticeable among rural and small town teachers, where no physical trainer is employed and the teachers must do the work themselves. The summer work showed them how some of the most important duties in keeping the body and mind of the child in healthy, active condition can be performed by the teacher.

The largest single class of the session was that in tailoring, conducted by Edmund Gurney, a Portland specialist. Several summer students were so well pleased with their first taste of college work that they are planning to continue with degree courses, says Dean M. Ellwood Smith, director.
