CLEANING UP

The council is to be congratulated on its ready recognition of the duty of the city to clean up the unsightly mess that borders the Shevlin-Hixon road just outside the city limits. To take pride in our scenic attractions, and then to lead one who would enjoy them through that waste of tin cans and other refuse, would be short-sighted in the extreme. When the job of cleaning up is finished we can travel into the woods and to the lakes-and back-without the present disagreeable reminder of some of the more unpleasant features of city life.

While this is being done cannot a healthy sentiment be created in favor of keeping the woods and lake shores as clean? At Lost lake a sign has recently been put up reminding the people that it is not a city dump and asking that refuse be buried or burned and the vicinity kept as attractive as it was before it became so accessible. The request is doubtless prompted by the conditions existing after hardly more than five weeks' use by the public. Here is a piece of newspaper, there a stack of watermelon rind, beyond the remnants of a lunch box. In the stream leading from the lake there were recently seen cucumbers and tin cans. In one of the best springs in the vicinity there was orange peel, paper and cans.

Lost lake is a beautiful spot. is too much to hope that its first sylvan beauty could be kept after it has been made so accessible. Public use means that grass must be trampled, fires built and their blackened remains left, wood cut and trees trimmed. But it is no more necessary that waste and garbage be left to litter the ground than that the city maintain its dump along a highway.

next person in can enjoy them, too.

TURNING AWAY FROM MEAT

In New York Big Hotels Meals Entire ly of Vegetables Are Increasing in Popularity.

According to the New York Times the diners of the American metropolis are becoming vegetarians. Approximately one-seventh to one-fifth of the guests at the hotels here today are ordering vegetables for their meals in-stead of meats. All of the big hotels of the different items on the menus for each day, and a recapitulation made recently at the Hotel Pennsylvania revealed that a surprising percentage of patrons omitted meat items entirely in their lunch and dinner orders. While the percentage for lunch was much higher than that for dinner, the number of dinner guests who re-frained from meat entirely was also very large. In the opinion of Chef Julien Jac-quier of the Pennsylvania this is the result of years of emphasis on the value of vegetarianism. The vegetarian, a few years ago, was very generally the buft of the comic papers; but with the war a great deal more came to be thought of him by people who found that a thoroughly satisfactory meal could be made from vegetables and at much less cost. Chef Jacquier believes that this is responsible for the many calls given nowadays in the big hotels for vegetable luncheons and dinners, which have a special place on Lärgest Motor Ship. The Africa, which was launched at Copenhagen, Denmark, Dec. 11, 1919, by the East Asiatic company, is said to be the largest motor ship in the world. Her dimensions are: Length over all, 464 feet 6 inches; beam on frames, 60 feet; depth from awning deck, 42 feet; displacement, 18,000 tons, deadweight, 13,250 tons. Her main engines are two six-cylinder, four-stroke cycle motors of ordinary type. Each engine develops 2,250 indiented horse-power at 115 revolutions per minute. The diameter and stroke of the cylinders are 740 millimeters and 1,150 millimeters respectively.

The Earthquake

The other evening, while I wandered beside a Cheap John inland lake, and on Dame Nature's beauties pondered, the earth reared up and threw a quake. One moment everything was quiet, no leaves were trembling on the trees; the next there was the blamedest riot, and I was jolted to my knees. Insanely things began to frolic, and mountains waltzed, and buildings, too; for when this planet has the colic the strangest marvels come in view. I thought, "It is the resurrection! Gabe must have blown his trumpet notes, and my re-nown's of such complexion I fear I'll line up with the goats. I wish I hadn't lied and cheated, when I swapped horses, in my youth, and dished up fiction, superheated, when people simply yearned for truth. I wish that I had gone to churches when Sabbath bells admonished me, and heard the pastors, from their perches, hand out the truth that makes men free. And I regret, O like the dickens do I regret the times now gone, when I went out and gathered chickens between the sunet and the dawn." Thus my dark record rose before me, and showed no gold, but heaps of dross; dark recollections came to bore me and made me feel a total loss. But presently earth ceased its quaking, my feet grew warmer in a trice, and I remarked, "It's time for taking a nice cold bottle from the ice."
