Public Services in London, Dublin and Cork To Be Held—Government Officials Fear Renewed Outbursts in Ireland.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin)
LONDON, Sept. 4.—Believing that the death of Lord Mayor MacSwiney is a "foregone conclusion," his friends are planning a huge funeral demonstration throughout England and Ireland. "The body will probably remain in England for a week because of the coroner's inquest and other red tape," said Arthur O'Brien, president of the Gaelic league. "Then we will hold gigantic public services in London, followed by even larger ones in Cork and Dublin, and services on a smaller scale in all parts of Ireland and England."

Irish newspapers are also planning to capitalize the dramatic settings of MacSwiney's imprisonment and probable death.

MAY RENEW RIOTS

BELFAST, Sept. 4.—Although rioting between Protestants and Catholics has ceased, fear was expressed today by government officials that the expected death of MacSwiney would result in renewed outbursts throughout Ireland.

New Invasion By Japanese Feared By Investigators

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 4.—Warning against an "invasion" of Japanese as production in the sugar beet growing industry in California and the southwest is contained in the report to Secretary of Labor Wilson by two agents appointed to make a survey of contract labor. The report, written by Commissioners Grant Hamilton and A. L. Faulkner, says: "It is exceedingly pertinent to state that Japanese are invading the sugar beet industry, not only as laborers, but proprietors. The invasion has not assumed large proportions as yet, but may."

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin)
BERLIN, Sept. 4.—Reports are being circulated that plans for a monarchist counter revolution in Russia, on a much greater scale than any attempted since the establishment of the soviet government, are being formulated in Vienna. The contemplated revolt, it is said, is being backed with huge sums, a portion of which are originating German monarchist quarters. Providing the Russian revolution succeeds, according to the reports, a similar royalist movement will be launched in Germany, which later will be linked with that in Russia.

ADVANCE IN PAY GIVEN TEACHERS

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin)
SELKIRK, Manitoba, September 4.—When the schools here reopen this fall it is believed that this school district will have the most contented lot of teachers in Canada. This happy state of affairs has been brought about by action of a permanent board of arbitration established by the provincial government at the request of the Manitoba Teachers' federation. The board has just awarded the teachers $50 a year more than they had demanded of the board of trustees and the minister of education has expressed himself as pleased with the award. The teachers had asked for a minimum salary of $1050; the trustees stood pat at $1000 and the board of arbitration, consisting of one representative from the Teachers' federation, one from the School Trustees' association and one from the government, placed the minimum at $1100.

MANY UNNAMED LAKES STOCKED

FOREST MEN TO NAME NEW WATERS

Cascade Skyline Location Party Distributes 60,000 Trout—Work To Be Completed By October 1, Is Expectation.

No less than 16 unnamed lakes along the line of the Cascade Skyline highway between Diamond lake and Obsidian cliffs have been stocked with trout for the first time, during the past two months. Frank B. Lenzie, one of the forest officials, who is working on general route location this season, reported today on his arrival in Bend. With 25,000 eastern brook trout and rainbow fry which he was taken out for distribution this afternoon, a total of 60,000 fish will have been planted in the hitherto troutless lakes. The location party is also undertaking the naming of these bodies of water, each of which will run from eight to 90 acres in area, Mr. Lenzie states.

In addition to the lakes in which trout have been placed, many other new bodies of water have been found, but have not been used on account of lack of feed.

Mr. Lenzie plans to recommend the planting of bass in the waters of Mud lake, but also suggests that a subterranean outlet at the lower end of the lake be screened. He believes that this outlet is responsible for the fact that there are practically no fish to be found, in spite of the fact that Quinn creek, which empties into the lake, is one of the finest natural trout streams in the state.

The location party is now working north toward the Sisters and is expected to complete its work by October 1.

PIONEER'S LIFE STORY TOLD BY FRIEND GIVES SIDELIGHTS ON DEVELOPMENT OF OREGON

By W. P. Myers.

Another of the "Old Oregon Country" pioneers has been called in the death of Hon. B. F. Nichols at his home in Tumalo, and Oregon has lost one of its most unique characters and best informed men upon the early history and development of Oregon. "Uncle Frank," as he was commonly and lovingly known by his friends—and their number was legion—crossed the plains by ox team in 1844 and at the time he first visited the spot where Portland now stands there was but a little log cabin, built by a man named Johnson, who had a claim where the Union depot of Portland now stands and, at that time—July, 1845—no Portland had been contemplated. Captain John Couch was then merchandising in Oregon City and Mr. Nichols and another would row down from Oregon City to where the brig of Captain Couch was anchored, at a point near where the Morrison street bridge now stands, and return to Oregon City with freight unloaded from this brig, for the owner.

"Uncle Frank" spent a part of the winter of 1844 and spring of 1845 at the Whitman mission and attended school at the mission school for about 60 days, being the longest continuous term of school he ever attended. The acquaintance and friendship then formed between the boy and Doctor Whitman was one of strong ties and never to be severed, even by the tragic death of Whitman in the massacre, which occurred soon after Mr. Nichols left. During the later years of his life Mr. Nichols wrote his reminiscences of his trip across the plains and of the early development of Oregon, and dedicated them in the following words: "To that great pioneer and

Madras Minister Goes to Portland As Federal Guard

MADRAS, Sept. 4.—(Special.)—Two weeks after officiating at the marriage of Roscoe Lane of Grandview, Oregon, and Jane Sawyer of Bend, in the sheriff's office here, Rev. C. C. Walker, pastor of the local Christian church, left last night as Lane's special guard, accompanying United States Marshal R. G. Carter and the prisoner to Portland, where Lane will face a federal charge of manufacturing intoxicants. For two days before starting the trip to Portland, Lane was at liberty, having been admitted to $2000 bond by United States Commissioner Horace Turner. Lane was arrested last month by Special Officer Jack Cassidy, who confiscated 100 gallons of moonshine liquor and the still in which Lane is said to have admitted manufacturing whiskey during a period of several months.

CAMPAIGN FUND PLAN REJECTED

USE OF "FORM 101" TO RAISE LARGE SUMS OF MONEY NEVER SANCTIONED, ASSERT REPUBLICAN LEADERS.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Governor Cox discussed today the senate's "slush fund" investigation with E. H. Moore, who is scheduled to present new "leads" to the senate committee next week. Part of the evidence which Moore plans to give the committee consists of a circular, known as "Form 101," said to be a plan for collecting large sums in big cities through a secret organization, which, Moore charges, is under the direction of a professional money raiser, Republican Chairman Hays and Treasurer Upham said the plan outlined in Form 101 was never put into operation. It was rejected, they said, in favor of Hays' "decentralized" collecting plan.

COUNTY SEAT TO BE ASKED

PERMANENT LOCATION WILL BE ISSUE

Time Lapses For Filing State Initiative, But New Law Cited By District Attorney Gives Bend Chance To Get Measure on Ballot.

Despite fears that insufficient time remained to place on the ballot for the fall elections an initiative measure to declare Bend the permanent county seat of Deschutes county, a county initiative will be started following the citation by District Attorney A. J. Moore of a state law passed in 1919. The state initiative would take a longer time and, consequently, cannot be used, but a county petition, according to the statute produced by Mr. Moore, will be just as effective. In view of this opinion, President D. G. McPherson of the Bend Commercial club, is having the necessary petitions prepared for immediate circulation.

The matter was brought up in the club last spring and a committee appointed to see that the measure definitely fixing the status of Bend as the center of county government should appear on the ballot, but action was delayed until the time was too short to allow for a state initiative measure.

At the time of the organization of Deschutes county, nearly four years ago, Bend was designated as the temporary county seat.

BRITISH-AMERICAN MEET ENDS AS TIE

The Americans took the two-mile team race, the broad jump, 440-yard hurdles, four-mile relay and 440-yard relay. Thompson, Dartmouth star, running for Canada, set a world's record and won the 120-yard hurdles in 14 4-5 seconds on a grass track.

BEND MAN OWNS RARE NEWSPAPER

W. H. Doering Has Copy of Last Wallpaper Issue of Vicksburg Citizen—Was Printed By Soldiers.

One of the rare newspapers, printed in the Civil war period on wall paper, is a prized possession of W. H. Doering of this city, who values the single sheet all the more highly from the fact that it was printed by his father and uncle, both soldiers in the Union army, immediately after the capture of Vicksburg by General Grant.

When the city was taken on July 4, 1863, the office of the Vicksburg Daily Citizen was entered, and the type found in the forms, ready for the press. With one slight addition, noting the capture of the city, and announcing that no more kitten fricassee or mule meat need be eaten by the starving inhabitants, the soldier printers put out the last wall paper edition in Vicksburg.

Mr. Doering's copy is one of three known to be in existence in the state of Oregon and is said to be the most perfectly preserved of all. He has had numerous opportunities to sell at a large price, but declares that the bit of wall paper is not on the market.

CITY REQUIRES OPEN BIDDING FOR PAVEMENT

LOWER FIGURE MAY BE SECURED

DAMAGE SUIT FEARED

Agreement With C. S. Reed May Make City Liable In Case Lower Bid From Rival Is Accepted—Engineer Urges Rock Base.

Although a virtual agreement has been entered into by the city of Bend with C. S. Reed of the Western Willite Paving Co. for the use of Willite on the first hard surfacing jobs to be undertaken here, resolutions of intention adopted at the regular council meeting last night call for "Willite, or any other pavement of equal strength, durability and resistance to wear, two inches in thickness." The insertion of the words allowing competition was the result of a visit paid the city earlier in the week by A. J. Welton of the United Contracting Co. During his visit here Mr. Welton declared that the state law makes competitive bidding imperative, and is quoted as saying that he could lay Willite at 80 cents a yard and still make a profit.

Just what the law actually provides is a question which was not definitely cleared up at last night's session, although much of the discussion centered about this point. While the statute does provide for competitive bidding, City Attorney C. S. Benson did not believe that this could modify the Bend charter, which provides that when 51 per cent of the property holders on a given street petition for a certain type of pavement, their request shall be granted.

A letter authorizing Mr. Reed to purchase necessary machinery and supplies for laying Willite here was sent off several days ago by Mayor J. A. Eastes.

Law Suit Possibility.

The possibility of the city being made defendant in either a breach of contract suit or injunction proceedings was brought out by Councilman D. G. McPherson in the discussion of Bend's present paving situation which followed the reading of the resolutions of intention covering the hard surfacing of the downtown business district and of the Newport avenue bridge and its approaches. Mr. Benson admitted that Mr. Reed might have cause to sue for damages if some other company is given the contract, but believed the city's promise should be lived up to, even if a lower bid is submitted by a rival company.

"Regardless of petitions, the council is responsible if it disregards a lower bid for a pavement of quality equal to Willite," Mr. McPherson declared.

"Do you believe that such a pavement can be laid for 80 cents a yard?" Mayor Eastes asked.

"I don't know, but it's up to us to find out," was the answer.

"Mr. Reed is likely to tell us all where to go, and leave us at the mercy of the Warren Construction Co.," asserted the mayor.

Councilman Rhodes stated emphatically that the council should do nothing in the matter which would lay it open to just criticism.

Rock Base Urged.

The old question of whether or not Willite, laid as specified here, will stand up under local traffic conditions, was reopened by City Engineer Robert B. Gould, who declared that the city is making a serious mistake if it does not require a three-quarter inch crushed rock base. "The only favorable reports we have had on Willite come from Kingston and Niagara Falls, N. Y., where the surfacing was laid on an old macadam road, or a concrete base," he said.

"The use of crushed rock would bring the Willite cost up to $2.15 a yard, which would still give Willite an advantage of 15 cents over bitulithite."

"Then you turn down everything but Warrenite?" Mayor Eastes caustically inquired.

"That's unfair, Mr. Mayor," broke in Councilman McPherson. "I believe that Mr. Gould's plan is the only sensible one, but there isn't a chance that the council will accept it, and Mr. Gould knew it when he made the recommendation."
