STUDENT WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

MARJORIE BAIRD GETS TENNIS FINALS

High School Girl Plays Steady, Consistent Game and Takes Last Two of Three Sets of Match from Miss Eunice Catlow.

Marjorie Baird won the women's championship of Bend when she defeated Miss Eunice Catlow on the Pilot Butte Inn courts last Saturday afternoon by the score of 4-6, 7-5, 6-2.

The final match of the women's tennis tournament was played at 1:30 Saturday afternoon. On account of the bitter cold weather, there were only a few spectators, but they witnessed an excellent match. Many who would like to have seen it did not know of the game.

On account of a strong wind and the extreme cold, both players were at a disadvantage, but, nevertheless, they played well.

The first set was evenly matched and it was doubtful which player would take it. Miss Catlow won, 6-4. In the second set Miss Baird came up rapidly and won, 7-5. The last set was not so close, Miss Catlow seeming to lose her grip, and Miss Baird took the long end of the score, 6-2.

Miss Catlow had a very good serve, upon which she depended entirely, while Miss Baird used brilliant strokes, but played hard and steadily. Miss Catlow won on her last serve, which, at the last, Miss Baird learned to receive. When Miss Baird returned her opponent's serve, Miss Catlow was rarely able to send it back again.

The match was played at an unfortunate time on account of the sudden change of weather. The date had been set several times previously, but each time the game was postponed. However, the contestants went ahead and played in spite of the obstacles because it was so late in the season and they were anxious to finish the tournament.

CLASS OF 1924 HAS BIG ROLL

MANY START COURSES IN BEND HIGH

Miss Miller and Miss Churchman Named As Faculty Advisors—College Preparatory Work Most Popular With New Students

The freshman class is unusually large this year. There are 59 freshmen in the class and many more will probably enter during the next 30 days. This number is larger than that of any preceding year.

Miss Miller is the advisor for one section, numbering 30 students, and Miss Churchman for the other, with an enrollment of 29.

There are many good courses open to the students. The general, or college preparatory, course is the most popular with the freshmen this semester. The subjects are: Algebra, English, history and a foreign language. Spanish is most popular this year.

A large percentage of the girls are taking domestic science. Many of the boys are taking the course in manual training.

The freshman A division contains 39 students. Miss Manny teaches 29 of them in algebra. Ten take manual training under Mr. Moore.

The freshmen are working hard, but have had no meetings since the opening of the semester.

YELL LEADERS HOLD CONTEST

Candidates for yell leaders this season are Stewart Rae and Emory Lehrmen. Each gave a sample of his ability as yell leader Wednesday. The exhibition took on the appearance of an athletic contest. In the tryout Lehrmen called upon the students to give Principal Crozier a cheer. The students responded with such force as to endanger the roof. The coach, Mr. Moore, received the same hearty applause.

BEGINNERS TO TAKE COOKING

In the domestic science and art classes the girls are finishing their cooking aprons, which was their first sewing problem. The beginners' class will have its first class in cooking. The girls are especially anxious to begin this work.

The advanced class in domestic science will start Monday to study menus. This will cover the preparation and serving of food. Miss Miller states that she is highly pleased with the progress that all her classes are making.

The girls' sewing classes in the balcony of the domestic science room find the heat decidedly oppressive. This condition exists because the windows of this room are in the usual place, but the balcony is elevated high enough to get all the warm air that rises.

NOTICE

The Holy Order of the Mystic League of the White Circle is now open for membership. Come and be initiated into the rites of this mysterious organization of torment and learn the pass word.

However, watch your step! The league votes Mr. Harris a great sport.

In physics the boys tried to rival Emmett McNealy's record for lung pressure, but were not successful.

If anyone finds a pair of "ear marks," please return them to the janitor. The janitor high detective, who was sent to find them, has not had any results as yet. Anyone in doubt as to what an "ear mark" is, ask Miss Umbaugh.

The 8B class organized this week. The following class officers were elected: Clare Payne, president; Harriet Heyburn, vice president; Ernest Lehrmen, secretary-treasurer, and Linn Kribba, sergeant-at-arms.

Mrs. Sander's class in penmanship has 785 students working for Palmer certificates. These students of the junior high all have their 25 drill buttons and they are on 100 drill buttons.

Miss Manny's class in physics has been doing experimental work all week. The students have tested their lung pressure, but the results have not yet been worked out.

HEARD IN EXPRESSION

"Sam! Why haven't you your lesson?"

Sam: "Aw, I can't think o' nuthin'."

We are inclined to believe Sam, but don't want to be too hard on him.

Miss Spoor's class in expression has finished its speeches on "Improvements About the School."

Lawrence Curtis' subject was "Speaking in the Assembly. Tom Going spoke on "Student Self-Government;" Paul Reynolds on "Bigger Buildings for the School;" Ha Sess on "Socialized Recitations."

The girls in modern and medieval history bother Vincent Clarno so he can't study.

The notebooks in modern and medieval history under Miss Williams were due Thursday. Some of the students failed to turn in their books and will be held for them Monday.

Miss Spoor's classes in expression and debate have until Monday to finish memorizing their orations. Note the pale faces of members of the class.

Miss Spoor (in Spanish III): "Pronounce that gentleman's name again, Guy. I didn't get it."

Guy: "I didn't, either."

The typewriting classes under Miss Churchman are trying for accurate work this year. Those making perfect tests for this week are:

Typewriting II, second semester (five minutes), Romaine Nicholson, 27 words per minute; typewriting III, third semester (five minutes), Ernest Scott, 40 words per minute; Myrtle Rice, 52.2 words per minute.

Ha Sess, a junior in the Bend high school and an accomplished musician, has consented to play for the Monday morning exercises in assembly.

Ha has been highly complimented by both students and teachers upon her fine technic and ability.

Miss Campbell has been unable to attend school the last few days on account of a severe cold. The students are anxiously awaiting her return.

AS THE EDITORS SEE IT

THE LITERARY SOCIETIES

We have in the high school three literary societies, but from the lack of interest shown it would be hard to convince a new student or a visitor that we even had one.

What is wrong with these societies? Last year the Lowell society did not reorganize and the Sages and Emersonians reorganized some time during the middle of the year.

As for programs, during the nine months of school the Emersonians gave two and the Sages only one. Last year there were society colors in the ventilator and hanging from the ceiling. During vacation these colors were removed, so that now, except for the senior colors, no literary or class colors are to be seen.

There is but one remedy for a disease of this kind and that is a good dose of "pep." Every literary society should reorganize and prepare to live up to the old standard of one

Political issues have not yet been very hotly discussed in school. They are minor issues compared with such questions as to who will make the team or who will be yell leader, etc.

As soon as the boys' glee club gets under way the traditional cat on the back fence will have to look elsewhere for employment.

The example of gymnastic yelling given by "Prof." Lehrmen Wednesday morning would have been more appreciated if he had given warning. He was all tired out before the school knew what was up.

The news has been rumored about school that Prineville has five letter men on its team this year.

That's nothing — we've got 11 "male" men on ours.

Miss H. Manny's class in algebra is beginning fractions this week. The class has a new pupil, making the class total 39.

Miss Lorence's class in ancient history now has 33 scholars. The students are studying Egypt now.

Miss Lorence's class in civics has 16 pupils.

HEARD IN ENGLISH

Miss Umbaugh: "Guy, you may write the 17th sentence on the board."

Guy: "But there's only 16."

Miss Umbaugh: "Well, you drew the lucky number, then."

CLASS OF 1922 SHOWS PROMISE

By One of the Juniors.

The junior class of this year has about all the requisites a junior class should have, possessing an abundance of "pep," life and energy, and a firm resolve to build up the school. While we do not entirely agree with the seniors that the Biblical quotation, "He that bloweth his own horn shall not be heard," is the very best motto, yet a little advertising will hurt no one. We have, to begin with, as members of our class, such "celebrities" as the president, secretary and treasurer of the student body. Our president, along with his other duties, is editor of the Annual and one of the "pillars" of the Weekly. The winner of the men's tennis tournament of this city is likewise a junior. We have representatives in every branch of athletics who will uphold the honor of the junior class. In music we claim one of the most accomplished musicians in the school, many good voices, both male and female, and a great deal of talent along instrumental lines.

We do not, however, lay stress upon the fame of the individuals of our class. We possess something of which we are far more proud, namely, the spirit of cooperation and loyalty existing among all the members of the class. This, more than anything else, we can safely say has made the junior class what it is today. Our chief aim in life this year is to make the old B. H. S. all the better for our having been here, and we are going to do it, too.

SELECTION OF TEAM STARTED

LIGHT, PEPPY SQUAD AFTER PLACES

Aspirants For Line and End Most Numerous—Small Second String Turnout Rouses Ire of Coach—Wants to See Suits Soiled.

Football practice has progressed now to the point of making final selections for the first team. The selections will have to be hurried on account of the game Friday at Prineville. Choosing men for the team will be rather difficult this year as most of the aspirants are green, some never having viewed a football game in their lives. Only four letter men remain over from last year—Dutt, V. Coyner, Haner and Claypool. Brosthouse, star fullback of last year's team, is ineligible to play, having already gone through four seasons. However, he turns out every night and renders valuable aid by helping to coach the new ones.

As to the team itself, the backfield will probably be covered by Kelley, Coyner and Haner as full. Dutt and Claypool will resume their old places in the line and Loehr will take Coyner's place at center. L. Blakely, who has been doing good work as quarter, will probably remain there. McRoberts, G. Blakely, Garske, Boyd, Norcott and Gould are all out for places in the line.

The team this year will probably be the lightest the school has ever turned out, and also the peppiest. Even the very ignorance of the team in football etiquette will be a help, for they will not know when they are beaten, an essential which often makes winners out of what technically should be losers.

Of the second team not much can be said, for only a few turn out. The rest seem "afraid to dirty their football suits," as the coach expressed it, "or else they like to look at them. However, that is not what the suits are for. I would much rather see them dirty from scrimmaging on the football field."

Coach Moore also desires it to be known that the names of all boys having football suits in their possession, and who are not using them, will be posted on the bulletin board at an early date.

BOYS TO HAVE OWN GLEE CLUB

The boys' glee club, composed of students of the Bend high school, met Thursday evening for the purpose of appointing temporary officers until a constitution can be drawn up.

Ervin D. McNeal was appointed temporary chairman, Glen F. Burch, secretary and treasurer.

A committee was appointed to attend to the business of further organization and to draw up a constitution. Those appointed were Glen Burch, LaVerne Whitmore, Wilbur Watkins and Stuart Rae.

Mrs. Travis has been unable to meet with the boys, but as soon as the music arrives and the boys are assigned their parts, the student body will hear some good music.

WHO'S WHO IN HI

Few students have a record of being more active in school affairs than Frances Heyburn, now known as Frances Louise Heyburn. In her freshman year she declares she did nothing but have a good time. Nevertheless she found time to be an active member of the glee club, participated in the operetta, joined the Emersonians and made high grades.

During her sophomore year Frances not only made good grades again, but served on Emersonian programs and committees, as well as in the glee club.

Being on the staff of the Bend High School Weekly, on nearly all Emersonian programs, and a member of the glee club, Frances found her time well taken up when a junior.

DEBATE CLASS WORKING HARD

IRVIN MCNEAL HEADS ORGANIZATION FOR PARLIAMENTARY PURPOSES—STATE DEBATE QUESTION TO BE STUDIED AS SOON AS CHOSEN.

Miss Spoor's fourth period class, at a meeting held last week, decided to organize a debating club in order to conduct its own meetings, and in this way gain valuable parliamentary drill, according to Roberts rules of order. In the election of officers Irvin McNeal was chosen president and Vance Coyner class critic. Officers will be elected frequently so that all members will have an opportunity to hold the various offices.

The text book which were chosen for this course have not arrived yet. Meanwhile the students have been engaged in class debates and at present they are learning an oration. An interesting debate was held last Monday on the question, "Resolved, That the comic section of the Sunday papers be abolished." The affirmative side was upheld by McNeal, Erickson and Burch, with Coyner, Loehr and Garske on the negative. Both sides of the question were well supported and the numbers of points gained were even.

The question for the state debates has not been chosen, but as soon as it is decided upon the class will begin working on it.

The preliminary work has already shown that the members have the ability, class spirit and the determination to do some real work this year.
