CROP EXPORT PLAN IS OPPOSED

GERMAN LOAN FEARED

America Can't Go Into Banking Business and Accept German Bonds, Says Secretary—Unwilling To Help To Keep Up Prices.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—Secretary Houston today rejected the demands of farmers of America for a revival of the war finance corporation to finance the export of American farm products. He also reiterated to the farmers that the treasury has no money to lend to persons who may wish to hold their products for high prices.

The war finance corporation proposal, Houston said, would amount to this government lending money to Germany and other nations in Central Europe with which to buy American farm products. "The government is not prepared," he said, "to go into the banking business, accepting as collateral federal, state or municipal bonds of Germany."

Demands for government aid in financing the marketing of crops to save farmers from being ruined by falling prices will be put directly to Secretary Houston by the farmers in a national conference here. "We shall also insist that the secretary of the treasury desist from making public statements that prices are falling," said President Barrett of the national board of 30 farm organizations.

DOWNWARD TREND OF PRICES HITS BUSINESS OF JAPAN SEVERE BLOW

(By Henry W. Kinney, United Press Staff Correspondent)
TOKIO, Oct. 14.—While it is generally expected that Japan's business, which is still very much depressed, will revive considerably with the beginning of next year, it seems that it will be necessary to take far more drastic steps to bring this about.

Following the great drop of prices which took place some months ago, and the great slump in the export trade, a great congestion of goods has occurred. This is seen very strikingly in the large ports, such as Yokohama and Kobe, where warehouses are crowded to the roofs with goods, ordered during the boom, when every importer figured that merchandise he ordered would increase materially in value while in transit. This had become so common that merchants had come to look thereupon almost as a fixed law of trade. Consequently, when the slump in prices occurred, thousands and thousands of tons of goods ordered mainly for speculation, arrived, their prices on arrival being considerably lower than when they had been ordered. The consequence was that in many cases the consignees refused to accept delivery, while in others they were unable to secure the necessary funds from the banks, as these became extremely tight the moment the bottom dropped out of the market.

LEGION'S WORK IS IMPORTANT

ERSKINE REPORTS ON CONVENTION

Japanese Policy Adopted At Cleveland And Attitude In Regard To Industrial Disputes Pre-Eminent Among Acts of Ex-Service Men

Belief that the work accomplished by the American Legion at its national convention in Cleveland will prove of great benefit not only to the legion posts throughout the country, but to the nation as a whole, was expressed today by Charles W. Erskine, one of the Oregon delegation, just returned from attending the convention. Of chief importance to the coast states, Mr. Erskine said, was the recommendation regarding America's Japanese policy. This suggests that the present "gentlemen's agreement" between the two nations limiting immigration, be abrogated, the exclusion of "picture brides," and a measure to prevent all future immigration from Japan. This report, brought in by the committee on Americanization, of which Mr. Erskine headed one of the sub-committees, met with determined resistance from the New York and the Hawaiian delegations.

If the convention's recommendation is put into effect, November 11, Armistice day, will be made a national holiday. On this day ex-service men are requested to wear the official flower of the legion, the red poppy.

The policy of the legion regarding industrial disputes is clearly defined in a statement by the national commander, which specifies absolute neutrality in all disputes between capital and labor, complete freedom of every member of the legion to act as an individual according to his opinions in such matters and expresses the readiness of the legion at all times and without partiality to any party to stand for the preservation of law and order.

More vigorous action on the part of the government in dealing with enemy aliens and more rigid enforcement of the laws covering evasion of the draft. The feeling that a large standing army would uneconomic and un-American is the keynote of the legion's policy on military affairs. Universal military training, however, was endorsed.

The bonus bill passed by the house was reported on by the committee on legislation and a determined campaign will be made to push the bill through the senate.

Mr. Erskine's report in full will be given at the next meeting of Percy A. Stevens post.

CROWD BRAVES COLD TO SEE STONE PLACED

MANY USE TROWEL AT SERVICES

BISHOP IS SPEAKER

Building Discharges Debt To Future, He Declares—Hollow In Cornerstone of M. E. Church Laden With Variety of Mementoes.

Ministers present at The Dalles district conference, which closed here last night, were among the crowd of nearly 300 which attended the cornerstone laying services at the site of Bend's new $40,000 Methodist church at the corner of Bond and Kansas yesterday afternoon. Assisted by Rev. J. Edgar Purdy, pastor of the local church, District Superintendent H. F. Pemberton, Lon L. Fox, W. A. Jacobs, C. P. Niswonger, S. O. Watkins, G. F. Hoover and H. Caylor of Bend, Bishop W. O. Shepard of Portland laid the stone, delivering the address of the day preceding the ceremony. Due to the chilly afternoon, the services were somewhat condensed and covered less than an hour instead of the hour and a half which had originally been allotted for the program.

That the construction of the new church is not to be considered primarily as a perpetuation of Methodism, but more properly as a step in Bend's civic and religious development, was the declaration of Bishop Shepard in his address. The building of schools and churches is, in part, a discharge of the debt which the people of today owe to the generations of the future, he emphasized.

Memento Box Filled.

Following musical selections by a male quartet composed of Herbert Sess, Dr. L. W. Gatchell, O. A. Thorson and P. J. Chapman, prayer by Rev. Pemberton, and responsive reading, led by Rev. W. H. H. Forsyth, Bishop Shepard's address was given. E. D. Gilson then placed in the hollow chiseled in the stone an iron box, hermetically sealed, containing mementoes of the present for the generation which will some day open the stone. Waterproofing and asbestos will protect the contents.

In addition to copies of local and Portland newspapers, the box contains a Bible, the Methodist Discipline, a copy of the Bend Methodist, the annual church budgets of 1919 and 1920, the Shevlin Equalizer, the story of the Pilot Butte Inn, coins running in value from 1 cent to $2.50, the 1917 High School Pilot, photographs of Bend buildings and Central Oregon farm and mountain scenery, a copy of the Bend city charter, financial statements by the local banks and copies of the cornerstone laying program.

Bishop Uses Trowel.

Bishop Shepard first applied the mortar to cement the stone in place, the trowel passing from his hands successively to Rev. Pemberton, Rev. Purdy, Rev. Forsyth, Rev. H. L. Howarth, Mr. Fox, Mr. Jacobs, Mr. Niswonger, Mr. Watkins, Mr. Hoover and Mr. Caylor.

The stone, cut from rock quarried near Bend, is a rich brown and bears the simple inscription, "First Methodist Episcopal Church, 1920." It is let into the brick wall, facing on Bond.
