

MINERS RUSH FROM SHAFTS JOIN STRIKE

SOLID RESPONSE IS GIVEN TO CALL

PUBLIC IS RE-ASSURED

No Need For Alarm Regarding Fuel Supplies, Says Lloyd George—American Officials Think Situation May Become Critical.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin)
LONDON, Oct. 16.—Miners have responded solidly to the call for a nation-wide coal strike. Reports from the coal fields stated that men are swarming out of the mines, many refusing to wait for a change of shifts. By mid-day, it was estimated, more than a million miners and auxiliary workers will be affected.

Many of the men admitted sullenly: "We are likely to be beaten," but maintained that they could stay out for at least six weeks. Iron and steel plants in Yorkshire are reported to be closing down.

Lloyd George issued a message to the nation, throwing the blame for the strike upon the miners and urging the public's cooperation. He said there is no need for alarm regarding fuel supplies and assured the people that ample and fair distribution would be made.

MANY QUALIFY FOR ELECTIONS

TWO IN RACE FOR MAYOR, AND 12 SEEK SEAT IN COUNCIL—NO SLOGANS ARE ANNOUNCED BY CANDIDATES.

Bend voters will have a wide variety of candidates to choose from at the city election on November 2, for with the completion of filing at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, 12 had qualified to appear on the ballot in the race for the city council, while two will run for mayor. For the remaining elective position, that of treasurer, Miss M. E. Coleman, incumbent, is the only aspirant.

According to the petitions submitted to Miss Nell Markel, city recorder, slogans, policies, or political and factional preferences, mean nothing to the candidates. Not one has asked to have the ballot encumbered by any statement of his plans or ideas as a prospective office holder.

Last minute filing failed to change the lineup of candidates made public yesterday. T. A. McCann and E. D. Gilson are opposed for mayor, and H. E. Allen, D. G. McPherson, A. J. Goggans, C. J. Leverett, Ralph Bartlett, G. H. Baker, Hugh O'Kane, J. O. Gibson, J. A. Stevens, Lon L. Fox, Joseph Innes and N. H. Gilbert are competing for the six seats in the council.

The governor left the inference that he favors a federal department of education and health, by saying that "equal consideration with labor," should be given these two features of public life by the federal government. He declared for a federal bureau of Americanization to cooperate with the states in educating aliens.

MANY EXHIBITS AT FIRST FAIR

STOCK SHEDS FOUND TOO SMALL

Redmond Show Compares Favorably With That At Prineville—Football Game Feature of Program On Closing Day.

REDMOND, Oct. 16.—Stock and agricultural exhibits were entered in such numbers at the first annual Deschutes County fair and Redmond Potato show that the capacity of both the agricultural exhibit hall and the stock sheds were taxed. The exhibit hall is the largest in Central Oregon. Although it was opened with the fear that it would be so large that exhibits would be lost, W. M. Wilson, the president of the fair association, declared that exhibits entered would justify a space of at least one-third larger and that an addition would be built for next year.

Stock exhibits likewise crowded the 150 feet of stalls provided. Dairy stock from over the county and from the Prineville country predominated. Sheep and swine are also shown in considerable numbers.

Dr. U. C. Coe, formerly of Bend, was present on the opening day and declared the agricultural displays exceeded in number and quality those shown last week at Prineville, despite the fact that this is the first county fair to be held in Deschutes county.

Among the features of the fair which attracted much notice were a Red Cross exhibit, in charge of Mrs. V. A. Forbes and Miss Margaret Brems of Bend, and a library exhibit presided over by Miss Lillian Sabin, county librarian.

Yesterday the exhibits at the fair were being judged and premiums awarded. Featuring this, the last day of the three-day program, was scheduled a football game between the Crook county high school of Prineville and the Redmond union high school. Prineville's 35 to 0 defeat over Bend marks it as a strong team in the Central Oregon conference, while Coach Borden Beck of Redmond, formerly coach of Hood River high school, and previously a star player at the University of Nebraska, declared that his team should play a strong game, with a possible chance of beating Prineville.

A full card of races with the best of Central Oregon horses and two strings from the Willamette valley, was given each afternoon of the three days of the fair. More than 40 concessions and a large encampment of Indians on the fair grounds gave Redmond a carnival appearance.

Cave on Horse Butte Natural Oven; Wave of Heated Air From Mouth of Tunnel Makes Its Location Known

Ice caves are plentiful in Central Oregon, but a natural curiosity of just the opposite type was discovered yesterday at Horse Butte, nine miles from Bend near the Yarnell-Elde fuel camp on the Bend-Burns road. Heated to a high temperature, apparently from a source having its origin in the volcanic activities of a past geological period, a cave near the top of the butte was found by P. L. McMenamin, camp superintendent for the fuel company, whose attention was attracted to the opening in the rocks by a wave of heat noticeable several feet away.

Investigation showed that the cinder bottom of the cave was unbearably hot to the touch, the heat increasing as far back as could be explored. That the phenomenon was of recent origin was indicated by the smoldering of dry grass and twigs near the mouth of the hole on the west side of the butte. The cave, or tunnel, is about two and a half feet in width, and approximately 14 inches in height.

Another aperture, much smaller, was found by C. A. Yarnell and H. D. Elde, members of the fuel company, on the northeast side of the butte, at a slightly higher elevation than the first tunnel. Here the heat was not uncomfortable, but formed a decided contrast to the chilly outer air. Both openings, Mr. Elde says, correspond closely to the volcanic vents he has seen at Mauna Loa, in the Hawaiian Islands.

Horse Butte is of undoubted volcanic origin, and from surface indications at least, is composed chiefly of red cinders. Among the loose cinders are found fragments of petrified wood, some nearly covered by the volcanic material. One of the petrified pieces was a stump nearly two feet in diameter, and all of the fragments were of the same red color as the cinders surrounding them.

Car Overtakes, Boy Speeder Is Badly Injured

Fourteen year old Fred Stauffer was critically injured near Bend yesterday afternoon when the light "bug" in which he was speeding, left the road and turned over before it returned to earth 30 feet farther on. Young Stauffer was pinned under the wreck. Four ribs were fractured, one being completely detached from his spine, while one of his lungs was penetrated by a sliver of bone from another broken rib. The boy is being cared for at St. Charles hospital, where his condition is admitted to be serious.

An older brother, Roy, was in the car at the time of the accident, but was unhurt.

CHAMPIONS DODGE DECISION BATTLES

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin)
NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The right of Pete Herman, Johnny Kilbane, Benny Leonard and Johnny Wilson to their championship crowns may be disputed, but Tex Rickard, New York promoter, is willing to concede them all as the best champions the world has ever seen—at "ducking bouts."

Rickard, who, as the manager of Madison Square garden, has become the foremost of American promoters, has found it almost impossible to induce any of the champions, outside of Jack Dempsey, the heavyweight king, to get in the ring for a decision bout.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 16.—Food is now leading all other necessities in the downward sweep of prices. The level of prices paid farmers for their products declined 15.6 per cent during September, according to reports to the agricultural department covering the whole country.

Consumers have already begun to benefit by the sweeping declines. Retail prices of clothing and more than 250 other commodities are still on the down grade, according to government reports. Numerous expressions by high government officials indicate that the price declines already recorded are regarded as the beginning of a permanent decline in the general cost of living.

FRANCE IS LOSING HER RANK ON SEA

Argentine, Brazil and Chile Rapidly Forging Ahead As Ocean Powers In The Last Few Years.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin)
PARIS, Oct. 16.—Should there be another big war in the near future, Argentine, Brazil and Chile would be in a position to give more help to countries such as the United States and England than France, as regards the power of her naval artillery.

This is the essence of an article in Le Temps, which gives at length actual figures about the Brazilian, Argentine and Chilean warships. It says:

"Before the era of the dreadnaught, the South American republics had war navies adapted to the importance of their part in the world. Then the European navies had guns much bigger than the biggest South American guns, which dendered the latter relatively powerless. But the dreadnaught came. Argentine, Chile and Brazil understood that they must not build fighting ships beaten in advance and ordered abroad dreadnaughts able to accept a fight with any similar ship existing."
