from becoming the dumping ground of the manufactures of Europe." "The merchant marine bill," he said, "is a question of using the vessels we have to the utmost advantage. President Wilson has refused to function under this bill. If you do not keep the merchant marine, you will lose your club to use in forcing down the high rail transportation rates which are now threatening to bring suffering to this community."

Would Not Cancel Debts.

On the League of Nations question McNary recorded a plea for the preservation of American national integrity. "I do not want Americans to police foreign countries, and I do not believe that we should remit the debts of our associates in the war," he said. "But I do believe that the peace treaty and the league are capable of being remedied by reservations. The republican candidate for president is against the league covenant as it stands today, but he is anxious that some more fitting instrument may be found to guarantee the peace of the world." Senator McNary left this morning for Redmond, where he was to be the guest of the Commercial club at dinner this noon. In the afternoon he planned to go over the irrigated and irrigable lands tributary to Redmond. Tomorrow he is scheduled to speak at Prineville.
