KEEP DIGGING

(By an unknown author.)
 To keep digging, anyhow.
 To hold the lips fast, and keep digging.
 To hold the head up, and quietly digging.
 To do the very best you can, and keep on digging.
 Not to squeal, not to dodge, not to fight back, but just keep on digging.
 To wash off the blood, and keep digging.
 To call back, "Good luck to you," and then go on digging.
 To answer, "Thank you," and go right on digging.
 To whisper, "Lord lead me," and get to digging.
 To study the path, and go on faithfully digging.
 To let the road behind take care of itself, and go on sturdily digging.
 To follow the gleam ahead, and go on digging.
 To fix courage fairly in the forehead, and go right on digging.

And then, when the dark clouds, and the loved ones fall off, and friends forget, and the stones hurt, and the pick is broken, the heart ready to break, aloneness is unbearable, life scarcely worth living, then stop for a moment and feel in the dark for the old brave pick's point, rake off the mud of doubts and the trash of fear, and the muck of discouragement and unrest, and hopelessness, and stop the clock's eternal ticking of unrest, and get right back to digging; and dig, and dig on, and

The Great Blessing

I had a weary siege of sickness that called for pink and purple pills; my humble roll lost all its thickness when I had paid the doctor's bills. And pharmacists and well trained nurses were chasing to me up the road, and undertakers with their hearses were hanging round my sad abode. Now I am feeling vastly better, the gout and mumps have left my frame, likewise lumbago, croup and tetter, though rheumatiz still plays its game. No longer do I wear a plaster, there is no poultice on my form, and I'm not scared by bleak disaster, or by the ills that round me swarm. If one has health he is a craven to talk of grief and trouble sore, and croak, like Edgar Allan's raven, such balder-dash as "Nevermore." Health is the only thing that matters, beside it other boons are vain, and men are surely mad as hatters who kick when they are free from pain. Recovered from my indigestion, and convalescent from the itch, I face my tasks without a question, and life seems full and sweet and rich. Yes, ugly problems crowd around me, and threats and things invade my den, but they can't daunt me or confound me, for I am feeling well again.

just keep on digging, anyhow.
 You may not get the very things your heart calls for, but, sure as God lives, you will arrive somewhere.

BEING FAT IS REAL TRAGEDY

To Modern Woman It is a Worry That Frequently Leads to Ruined Health and Insanity.

A fat man is usually a jolly sort of an individual who accepts the world as the same sort of a joke as the world considers him. Girth, says the New York Sun, may worry a man occasionally because it is an annoyance, but with the modern woman it verges upon tragedy. As physicians—if they would talk freely—can tell you, it is a worry to them that frequently leads to ruined health, insanity or the grave.

It is possible for a man to grow fat gracefully. At least he can subdue his habits, stop running for trains, give up his golf and spend most of his time in ponderous poses.
 His tailor can easily arrange his clothing into well-known and accepted lines.

The case of the woman is different.
 Fashion binds her as with a chain.
 There are no stylish frocks for stout women. The fashion of today calls for slim figures and trim ankles.
 Waists and hips are taboo. There are no sleeves capable of concealing over-fleshed arms. Man can adapt his clothes to his figure, but woman must adapt her figure to the clothes, or else shamelessly admit that she cannot wear what is fashionable.

It was not always so. In another generation the stout woman had a well defined place—the "dowager type." It was sometimes called. The woman who made the best biscuits and cooked the most savory chicken was always a rotund sort of person who never minded it when people came unexpectedly around dinner time. She was the one children flocked to for sympathy and the one who seemed to make the world brighter wherever she went.

Mother's Mistake.

A little girl asked her mother: "Why did you go to the hospital to get me?" Her mother answered: "Because I wanted a nice little girl and you are a nice little girl, are you not?" The little girl, thinking of her baby brother Jack, answered: "Yes, I am a nice little girl, but you made an awful mistake when you went and picked Jack out."

Reason for Program.

One of the churches has recently installed a motion picture machine. The Sunday service consists of an address by the pastor, followed by the pictures.
 The children grow impatient waiting for the pictures, and when I suggested to little Bonita that the pictures ought to be shown first and then permit the children to go home she promptly replied: "Yes; but then nobody would stay."—Exchange.
