Charm.
 Many people regard "charm" as a gift of the gods, given to some and denied to others, like all other natural gifts. But "charm" is a "gift" that all may possess in a greater or less degree if they are prepared to cultivate it. This quality is the outcome of true sympathy and kindness of heart.

LITTLE WYOMING MISS WORLD'S BEST RIDER

A dainty little miss of 20, weighing less than 100 pounds and only 59 inches high, has been having a wonderful time in New York for a week. She is Lorena Trickey of Wyoming, winner of the world championship as an all-round rider of bucking bronchos. She won the title at the recent annual "Frontier Days" roundup, staged at Cheyenne. The trip to New York, with all expenses paid, to receive the McAlpin trophy, was part of the prize. Her home is on a ranch west of Cheyenne.

Ancient Irish Laws in Poetry.
 Even a subject so essentially prosaic as the law was interwoven with poetry in ancient Ireland, where justice was administered by the File, or poet, the most important person in the country after the king. In olden times verse was employed when the matter to be recorded was of particular importance, or of a nature that called not only for grace and beauty of expression, but for dignity of language as well.

When the ancient laws of Ireland were revived, says the Christian Science Monitor, under the direction of St. Patrick, a File was summoned "to put a thread of poetry around them." This is believed one of the reasons that so much of the text of the Irish laws is in metrical form. From 12 to 15 years of special study was needed to qualify a File for the legal profession.

Cafes in the Kasbah.
 Cobble steps mark the ways of the Moors in the Kasbah, the native quarter of Algeria, and once the traveler leaves the streets where street cars clang and Europeans walk, says an exchange, he must climb. Peppercorns and onions hang in rosaries beside bananars. Mosques are hidden here and there in nests of houses and cafes are open to the street with the guttural gossip of the Arab drinkers and the creak of dominoes drifting outward.

Sandals of leather, laced and filled with golden threads, are made by black-eyed Arab girls with long, soft eyelashes. Some of these girls are only twelve years old, but married; and they sit on carpets, twittering through their veils at passersby, meanwhile embroidering deftly the things they have to sell for gold.

Iceland's Old Mill.
 Iceland can claim probably the most northern mill ever erected, for in Reykjavik, a little isolated town of about 3,000 inhabitants, we find an old mill, probably the first and only mill in the early days in Iceland.

MANNHEIMERS

Here's a little arithmetic to show why all clothiers should reduce prices NOW.

"OUR SUITS AND O'COATS ARE CUT TO THE CORE!"

$26.25 $30.00 $37.50

The manufacturers of Men's clothing lowered their prices on Nov. 15th. This reduction did not effect goods bought prior to that date.

All right—suppose a clothier has a garment in his stock for which he paid $50.00 wholesale BEFORE THE DROP TOOK PLACE.

If he can replace that garment now for $37.50 under the new standard of wholesale prices—why can't he sell you that Suits or O'coats for $40.00, which will give him enough money to go back and buy a new coat or suit with—a profit of $2.50—and give you what you are rightfully entitled to?

He can—he should—and that is what we are doing, irrespective of what the merchandise originally cost us.

We are cutting our Suits and O'coats to the quick—for we believe the customer has a right to expect it.

Come now—the goods are reduced—and the treatment is as white as the driven snow.

Every Suit and O'coat in our Store at twenty-five per cent discount.
