

The Shoe Question

Shoes for 1921 are much lower in price than during the war period. The quality is better, also the workmanship. What does a 25% or even a 50% discount mean if the merchandise was marked that much too high to start with? Think this over. We are quoting you prices on new spring merchandise bought at 1921 prices. Our immense buying power makes it doubly attractive to the purchaser. We are satisfied with a small profit and a quick turn-over. See our Windows and be convinced.

RETURN TO NORMAL IS MADE RAPIDLY

Bend Garage Man, After Extended Trip In Middle West, Says Unemployment Is Decreasing.

Conditions throughout the coast and middle western cities are rapidly returning to normal, according to H. S. Royce of the Pioneer garage, recently returned from a five weeks' tour of the country, during which he visited Portland, Seattle, Vancouver, B. C., San Francisco, Los Angeles, Minneapolis, Chicago and Detroit.

A large number of men have returned to work in the various factories in different cities which he visited and the business men with whom he came in contact were unanimous in believing that the worst of the business depression is over.

Mr. Royce states that during his stay in Detroit he had occasion to visit an apartment house, recently completed at a cost of $5,000,000, where the cheapest suite was rented for $550 a month, and the most expensive at $1200 a month, which convinced him that conditions for some of the people are not as bad as they might be.

Travel to the western states is increasing every day, he says, the Santa Fe alone running a four-section train out of Chicago daily for California.

Mr. Royce drove a car from Portland upon his return to Bend and reports the roads to be in good condition.

about. When the legislature adjourns it can easily be moved to one of the prominent Portland hotels."

Would Shift Power Source.

Instead of developing water power from the Deschutes flow which might not be used for irrigation, the Pioneer would have Crooked river used for this purpose. "The 50,000 horsepower may be removed from Bend, but destroyed, never," the Pioneer goes on to say. "The Deschutes river flows enough water that will be unimpaired by waters removed higher up for irrigation to supply horsepower enough to run every industry which will ever be located along its banks. Bend will not have more than sufficient power to operate her own industries, but when that city howls about the destruction of power, she talks only to those who are not informed upon the situation."

Later on the Pioneer declares that there is sufficient flow from the Deschutes to water all of the lands in the four projects proposed under the Deschutes plan. It also states that "there will always be water enough at Bend for her domestic use, for the maintenance of her mill ponds, and to furnish power for her industries and what little land is located adjacent suitable for irrigation."

In conclusion, the declaration is made that "Bend, with its back to the wall, fights irrigation projects of Redmond, Prineville and Jefferson county, in the vain hope that she will be able to prevent the development which will create a line of better towns and lift from its shoulders the reputation of being the best town in the territory."

Another family has organized a bank in the home. The father is president, the mother cashier, the oldest boy bookkeeper, and one of our little automatic recording safes acts as receiving teller. It's lots of fun. Become a bank president tomorrow with one of our little banks. The First National Bank.

Worry No More.
A missionary just returned from the Belgian Congo thus describes a newly discovered tribe of pygmies: "Although they are completely uncivilized, they will neither lie nor steal, and will marry only one wife." Right here is where we quit worrying about the future of civilization.—Arthur H. Folwell, in Leslie's.

One family used our automatic recording safe as follows: The father used the half dollar compartment, the mother the quarter, the boy the dime, the little girl the nickel, and the baby the cent. It's a good idea. Try it. The First National Bank.

Does your husband (or your wife) wear a martyr's crown?

Playing the martyr is a favorite game with husbands and wives. It's an unfair game and it produces all sorts of results—sometimes happy but most frequently disastrous.

Dana Gatlin's story "The Martyr's Crown" was written for married people—or those about to be married. And its message is vital.

More About The Federal Reserve System

Before the Federal Reserve System we had eight thousand little heaps of money scattered over the country in banks under the name of cash reserves. Now we have twelve huge reservoirs called the Federal Reserve Banks, located at advantageous points and if there is an unusual drain upon one of these reservoirs there is a pipe line arrangement in the power of the Central Reserve Board that equalizes the strain and restores the level as before. In this manner several Federal Reserve Banks can render assistance to any other Federal Reserve Bank and they, in turn, to the small country banks.

This Bank is a Member of the Federal Reserve System
