

'HELL AND DAMNATION' SERMONS URGED BY LEVERETT; ANCESTRY OF COUNCILMAN DISTINGUISHED

"Hell and Damnation" sermons to save Bend from becoming a modern Sodom or Gomorrah, were advocated last night by Councilman C. J. Leverett when he spoke at some length previous to the adoption by the council of the woman's protective division ordinance. Mr. Leverett in explaining his stand on the ordinance, declared that he is an advocate of "peace at almost any price," and left it to be inferred that this might be the underlying reason for his affirmative vote.

"I am not a public orator or an extemporaneous speaker, but am constrained to write an article once in a while," Mr. Leverett said.

"Back east, when I was in college, I learned to recite pieces, took part in debates, wrote essays, but not until the November election did I have the opportunity in Bend to come before the public to express my views and write a platform with all its planks to stand upon.

"Before I would accept the payless and thankless position as city councilman, I told you, among other things, if elected, that no bank, Emblem club, no Commercial club, Woman's league, labor union or church, could control my vote unless it be for the good of Bend; that I belonged to no entangling alliances whatsoever. I meant every word I said then, and I mean every word I say now. Like Bryan, though, I believe in peace at almost any price, and if the preachers and good women hold that Bend will go to utter destruction, and make a modern Sodom or Gomorrah, without the Woman's Protective Division, I am willing to sacrifice some of my personal opinions. Put a woman back on the job, save the girls—but the society doctor, the rounder, the gambler, the moonshiner, or the ring-leader, or the one who thinks he is in the ring, cannot set himself up as my model, and tell me how to vote on a moral issue.

"I had some mighty good early raising myself. I could well boast of my ancestors back in Massachusetts—one professor of Yale college, one president of Harvard, one early governor of Massachusetts, my grandfather author of Leverett's Lexington Dictionary, my father professor of Latin and Greek in the University of Arkansas—but it is not good form to tell of what your forefathers did a hundred years ago. 'Tis true I came from the hills of Arkansas, and rode on that slow train, but not all the green people were born in Arkansas. There are just as many in Bend as there were in my home town. The only difference, down there they are green and know it; out here, some are green and don't know it.

"In order to fulfill pre-election pledges, to give Bend a business administration, to put Bend on a cash basis where her warrants would be taken at the banks at par and Bend bonds would sell on the open market for 100 cents on the dollar, and at the same time give Bend the greatest efficiency in its city government, you must give us time to work out our own program. Before we had been in office nine days you talk recall.

"You elected the mayor and six councilmen to run your city government for a term of two years. In the name of fairness and justness give us time to make good. The old administration has spent all money in sight; has gone $60,000 in the hole; has let all paving contracts; not one chance for a councilman to get a single cent compensation during the next two years for all his work, troubles, trials and tribulations. Yes, give us a chance, stop this recall stuff, call a halt on those Commercial club resolutions, stop the circulation of those initiative petitions gotten out by the good Woman's Civic league, call in the good parson with his 'save the girls' slogan, send him back to his pulpit, tell him to preach the true Gospel, and if the love of Christ fails to reach the young, tell him to revive again the old fashioned 'Hell and Damnation' sermons that fear and trembling may be put into the hearts of the people.

"In conclusion I will say, with meekness and humility, that if after all the help of the Woman's Protective Division, noble thoughts, pure living and fearless preaching, you cannot check the evil-doer or wayward one, I suggest that a little law enforcement would be a good thing—then you would see more men go to the state penitentiary and less girls go to the Cedars from this fair land of ours."

RESCUE WORK ESTABLISHED BY COUNCIL

Greenwood sewer. It was referred back for further investigation.

The complaint of E. W. Barcus of Ogden avenue that his neighbor, E. W. Carter, maintains a woodpile in the street was discussed at much length. Carter, it is said, objects to a goat kept by Barcus. The question "got the goat" of the council members, who "passed the buck" to Fire Chief Carlson.

Salary Raise Refused.

Miss M. E. Coleman, city treasurer, presented a bill for $100 for her month's salary. Fifty dollars is the amount provided by ordinance. Miss Coleman declared that she could not live on this amount, and that $100 had been provided in the budget. She could not accept a less amount, she said.

"Do you want to resign?" the mayor inquired.

"No, I don't."

Councilman Gilbert pointed out that the council must observe the most rigid economy, and $50 was lopped off Miss Coleman's bill.

City Attorney C. S. Benson reported the settlement of the case against J. H. Bean, from whom the city purchased the disposal tract a number of years ago.

"Snow Trout" of India. India is not famous for its fish, yet has one which ranks as a great dainty. This is the "snow trout" of the Himalayas. It is caught only in the cold mountain streams.

Curious Masterpieces. Literary masterpieces have been written on strange mediums. Smart's poem, "Song to David," was written with a key on the walls of a madhouse. Coleridge once wrote a sonnet on a scrap of sawwood.

Remarkable Februaries. February without a full moon is found by S. H. Gaythorpe, an English inquirer, to have occurred in the nineteenth century in 1809, 1817, 1836 and 1885, but the present century will leave a record of only two instances—1915 and 1901. In the next four centuries there will be 14 such instances. Very curiously, five Sundays in February have about the same frequency, and happen thirteen times regularly in four centuries. The two occurrences are not connected.

Put it in The Bulletin.

NOTICE OF HEARING OF FINAL ACCOUNTING.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned administrator of the estate of Frank T. Just Stop and Use Your Thinker For One Minute!

"For rouge, face powder, cosmetics and perfumery, the women and girls spent $750,000,000 last year; for expenditure in furs $300,000,000; jewelry $500,000,000; cigarettes (men and women both on this) $800,000,000; chewing gum $50,000,000; ice cream $250,000,000; soft drinks $350,000,000, and candy over $1,000,000,000—in round numbers, $22,000,000,000 were spent in the dear old U. S. A. for the absolutely unnecessary luxuries of life, showing an even distribution of wealth in this country unequalled by any other country in the world.

"And yet in all the weeping and wailing of our assiduous exponents of the dear people's rights, the newspapers, I can't remember reading a single tirade against perfumes at $7.00 an ounce or rouge at $1.00 a rub. It was a terrible thing for a woman to protect her feet with a $15.00 shoe, but not out of the ordinary to coat her face with a $3.00 coat of cosmetic!"

Never a word about this wild use of money did we hear in the press of the country.

We are now entering an era of sound, safe and sane prosperity. Let's use our "Thinker" every minute of the day.
