Hairs in A Violin Bow.

The number of hairs in a violin bow was formerly from 80 to 100 in France; but now it is customary to have the hair ribbon broader, and this, therefore, requires 175 to 250 single hairs. These must be at least 26 inches long. Tour's removed great care on the selection of bow-hair, preferring the French horse-hair. A great deal of bow-hair comes from Russian horses.

Put it in The Bulletin.

Nothing Known of Its Value.

Cleopatra had a warranted preventive of baldness, or a sure cure. Possibly she intended to employ it to wheedle Caesar or buy off rebellious Pothinus. Perhaps she planned to present it to Antony as a surprise at Tarsus. Possibly she held up the gift in a mode of feminine sulkiness, and had it in her reticule at Actium, and through the power of that tallman drew Antony after her in frenzied pursuit, and in ignominious retreat. There is nothing in the discoveries of Egyptologists to warrant belief that Cleopatra's hair restorer had any actual value.—Exchange.
