

PYRON CAUGHT, THINK GARDNER IS SURROUNDED

COUNTERFEITER WAS AFRAID OF BANDIT

POSSE GUARDS SWAMP

No Resistance Offered By Pyron—Will Be Taken To McNeil's Island—Posse In Search of Gardner Near Kelso Expects Fight.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.)
PORTLAND, June 13.—Following the capture of Norris Pyron, Roy Gardner's pal, late yesterday, the hunt is still on for the mail bandit. Officers believe him still to be near Castle Rock.

Pyron's lack of resistance was pitiful. He is more afraid of Gardner than of the law.

United States Marshal Hollahan, of San Francisco, reached Kelso, Wash., today to take charge of the posse conducting the search for Roy Gardner. Norris Pyron, captured yesterday, left for McNeil's island today to serve a long term for counterfeiting.

Poses believe Gardner is trapped in a swamp near Kelso. The swamp is surrounded and the man hunters are closing in on the place where Gardner is supposed to be.

He may not be there, but a gun fight will result if he is.

SHEVLIN-HIXON WINNER 4 TO 0

FOURTEEN STRIKEOUTS REGISTERED BY COLLIER—BOTH TEAMS PLAY BRILLIANT BALL—HERE NEXT SUNDAY.

Airtight pitching on the part of "Jimmie" Collier and almost perfect support gave the Shevlin-Hixon team an earned victory over Prineville yesterday, the score being 4 to 0. Bunched hits in the first inning gave the mill boys two runs, two more resulting in the sixth from a hit and a flock of wild throws which followed the miffing of a ground ball by Prineville's pitcher. Collier struck out 14 men.

The Prineville team came near scoring in the eighth, getting three men on bases, with none out. At this juncture Collier struck out one man and the next hit into a double play, spelling Prineville's chance to score.

The Shevlin-Hixon infield fielded in almost perfect form, two excusable errors being registered. Prineville's center fielder staged a phenomenal catch, leaping high in the air to stop a liner, while the left fielder a little later sprinted and spoiled a hit which should have been good for extra bases.

The same teams will play in Bend next Sunday.

CUT IN WAGES HELPS UNIONS LABOR LEARNS

A. F. OF L. VICE-CHIEF SPEAKER

GROWTH IS CLAIMED

Open Shop Issue Most Important Before Convention Starting Today In Denver For Third Time—More Than 1,000 Attending.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.)
DENVER, June 13.—Labor leaders assembled at the American Federation of Labor convention, opening today, declare that large employers' wage cutting has aided organized labor in its fight on the open shop. Matthew Wolf, vice president of the federation, told the United Press today that "arbitrary wage reductions without consultation or consideration" have greatly strengthened the ranks of unionism.

The federation claims an increase of union members since the last convention in Montreal.

The open shop fight is the most important issue for the convention to consider. The decision on wage cutting and unemployment hinges on the decision on this question.

The 41st annual convention of the American Federation of Labor got under way at 10 a. m. today in the Auditorium here. Between 1000 and 1200 delegates were in their seats when the meeting was called to order. All national officials of the federation are here.

This is the third time the convention has been held in Denver and 27 years ago, Samuel Gompers, present president, was defeated here for that office. John McBride was the choice over Gompers. Since then, the latter has been reelected each year.

Preliminary work of the convention has been under way since June 8, when members of the building trades department met to outline problems to be placed before the convention proper. Between 200 and 250 delegates were present at these sessions.

TOWNSEND BILL FOR HIGHWAYS FINDS FAVOR WITH COMMISSION

SALEM, June 13.—The Townsend bill, now pending in congress, where it was introduced by Senator Townsend, of Michigan, and proposing among other things the creation of a federal highway commission, doubtless will have the support of the Oregon state highway commission. Establishment of an interstate highway system and of post roads, federal aid to the states and appropriation of money are other features of the bill.

The Oregon commission has the choice of this or the Dowell bill, which is similar to the Townsend measure, but does not provide for the federal highway commission. R. A. Booth, of Eugene, chairman of the Oregon highway commission, favors the Townsend bill, and it is believed Commissioners Yeon and Barratt also will favor it.

E. J. Adams, of Eugene, who is in Washington as secretary to Senator Robert N. Stanfield, is working hard in the interests of the Townsend bill and strongly urging its support in Oregon.

Phipps Bill Urged.

Mr. Adams also is beseeching the Oregon commission to support the Phipps Bill. This is a measure not important to Oregon, but probably will have the support of the Oregon commission out of a spirit of cooperation with other western states. The Phipps bill provides feder-

NOTED LABOR SPEAKER HERE

"THREE-FINGERED JACK" GODWIN VISITS BEND TO MAKE SURVEY OF CONDITIONS—WILL HOLD MEETING.

A. W. Godwin, better known as "Three-Fingered Jack," labor evangelist, arrived in Bend this morning and will be here for some time, making a survey of local conditions. While not ready to announce his plans until he knows more of conditions, Mr. Godwin stated this morning that at least one mass meeting would be held, which all would be invited to attend, to discuss a local labor problem which might exist, and to secure greater harmony among employers and workers.

Mr. Godwin is particularly noted for his success in discovering the existence of Bolshevism among workers, and in combatting it. He is not allied with any organization, governmental or private, being, as he says, "the only war worker who did not get a dollar a year." He has spoken in every shipbuilding plant on the coast, and in almost every lumber camp.

He is an optimist, and declares that within 10 years all jails will be emptied and the politicians who now have charge of the prisons working for a living.

Within two years, Mr. Godwin predicts, a labor clearing house system will be built up all over the United States, so that when a man leaves one town and goes to another he will carry with him his record card, depositing it at the clearing house. He will then be allowed to obtain board and room, and if he does not find employment there, his expenses will be deducted from his pay check at the place where he does get work.

SECRETARY TO OPPOSE GIVING SOLDIER BONUS

FEARS FOR NATION'S FINANCES

NEW TITLE FAVORED

Opposition Shown Following Announcement of Conference of Senate Leaders—Takes Stand Similar To That Held by Houston

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 13.—It was learned today that the secretary of the treasury will oppose granting the soldier bonus at this session of congress. Mellon's opposition developed following the announcement of Senator Penrose that other senate leaders would confer with him regarding the bonus bill. Mellon's position is substantially the same as that of former Secretary Houston, claiming that granting the bonus and paying it will dangerously disarrange the nation's finances.

A favorable report on the "adjusted compensation act," the new name of the bonus bill, is expected this week from the committee.

Of the five features of the bill, Mellon is understood to object most to the features calling for an outlay of money or the issuance of security by the government for ex-servicemen.

ALARM BLOWS DURING DRILL

FIREMEN WORK UNDER TRYING CONDITIONS—CHIEF CARLON SUSPECTED OF ORDERING THE SIREN CALL.

Bend's public spirited fire fighting corps were yesterday morning doing the city a valuable service in flushing Wall street with two streams of water from the pumper, a strictly voluntary act, when the alarm was sounded. Thereupon a number of things occurred which, the firemen say, taught them several lessons.

All but one of the men holding one of the nozzles let go and ran for the truck. Meanwhile the other crew had shut off their nozzle, throwing 140 pounds of pressure on the lone man and tearing the hose from his grasp. The nozzle writhed from one side of the street to the other, but nobody was struck. Engineer Houston soon stopped the flow, and the engine was quickly uncoupled from the hydrant.

A fireman dashed into the Windmill to learn over the phone the location of the fire, but could not for some reason. The truck started for the fire hall, there being told that J. B. Heyburn's house was burning.

A whirlwind run was made back to Wall street and a line of hose laid down Oregon, to find not a trace of smoke.

The Heyburns had called the fire station for a bonfire permit, it was stated, and the alarm had been rung by mistake, it developed later. However it was noted that Chief Carlon was exceedingly cool during the whole affair and he is suspected of leaving orders for an alarm to test the speed of the department under new conditions.

Hereafter, the firemen state, they will not leave the house for a drill unless a fireman who can drive the auxiliary truck remains to answer alarms.
