"We know nowadays that even a universal education * * * supplies only the basis for a healthy republican state. Next to education there must come abundant, prompt, and truthful information of what is going on in the state, and frank and free discussion of the issues of the times." H. G. Wells, "The Outline of History."

A PUBLIC SERVICE

In assuming the management of the gymnasium, the American Legion is undertaking a public service for which the thanks of Bend are due.
The building has many advantages and can be of great use in the life of the community. At the same time it has disadvantages that severely handicap its operation as a social center. The task for the Legion will be to operate the building so that the advantages may be fully enjoyed and the disadvantages minimized.

In a way it is quite fitting that the Legion should take charge of the building. It was under construction during the war and at that time much was made of the idea that it would be for the benefit of the returned soldiers. No one, however, had any idea that the building would come to the service men in the shape of a job to be put through. It is a job, though, and at the same time a privilege in the opportunity to serve the community.

Now that the step is taken, there is another party to realize and accept its responsibility and that is the community itself. It must give its support to the undertaking willingly and without stint. The public in general cannot sit back and assume that, now that the Legion is in charge, everything is cared for. Only a beginning has been made. What the end will be depends on the people.

HITCHING RACK IS UNDER DISCUSSION

Commercial Club Directors Will Take Up Matter—Bend Loses Much Business, Stated.

Better hitching facilities for the benefit of farmers trading in Bend will be discussed at the meeting of the Commercial club directors Thursday, it was announced today by Secretary L. Antles. Members of the city council will be asked to attend, as well as other city officials. Complaint has been made of the location

The Prophets

The wise old prophets of the ring now figure in the daily news, and they explain, like everything, why Carp will win or why he'll lose. These seventh sons of seventh sons are always here to guide us right, whenever pugilistic ones are scheduled for a drastic fight. The mantle of Elijah falls upon the wise men of the ring, and every dead game sport recalls that prophet-erring has its sting. For if the prophets all unite to say that Jack will win the scrap, and Jack is beaten in the fight, how shall each prophet save his map? The prophets told me, years ago, that Willard had a lead pipe cinch, and after seven rounds or so, poor Jack would be too dead to pinch. And so I wagered all my means, according to the prophets' rede, and when the winners got their beans my bank account was gone to seed. The prophets said, in days of old, that Corbett was the prince of blows, and he would knock Fitzsimmons cold, among Nevada's ghastly snows.
And so, to bet on Jim's success, I put my watch and cow in soak; conceive my subsequent distress—I never was so badly broke. I shall not bet on Jack or Carp, no matter what the prophets say; while they predict I'll tune my harp, and spring a mad and merry lay.

of the hitching rack, several blocks from the business center.

"The lack of conveniences for the farmer who wants to do his trading here has, in my opinion, already cost the city $100,000," Mr. Antles said today.

"Redmond has hitching racks in front of practically all of the stores, or at least on the side streets. Every town which expects country trade lets the farmers know that it appreciates their business. Unless Bend makes provision for the convenience of the visitor from the country, we will lose more trade than we already have."

Roads between Bend and Portland were in the best shape he had ever seen them, reports Mr. Davidson. A recent rain made them like a pavement most of the way. They drove in the rain from Portland to Hood River, seeing one car wrecked as a result of slippery pavement.

INSANITY FEARED
C. N. Hardy, arrested last week on suspicion of insanity and later released, was taken into custody again today by the city officers, and was slated for an examination this afternoon. Mrs. Hardy, who came from Portland to look after her husband, will testify to his insanity, the offi-about the World war, which he believed was still in progress, the police say.

A Penny Still Has Value

Another electrical expert, figuring the cost of electricity at 10 cents per kilowatt hour, says that one cent's worth will:

- Operate a 6-pound flat iron 15 minutes.
- Drive an electric vacuum cleaner long enough to clean 450 square feet of carpet.
- Lift 100 gallons of water 100 feet.
- Run a 12-inch fan for two hours.
- Run a sewing machine two hours.
- Keep a heating pad hot for two hours.
- Do a machine full of washing.
- Shell 8 bushels of corn.
- Thresh one bushel of barley.
- Separate 60 gallons of milk.
- Churn 33 pounds of butter.
- Groom two horses.
- Stuff 200 pounds of sausage.

CREDIT IS OUR GREATEST ASSET

The commercial world is standing on the foundation of credit. Every individual is a cog in the great wheel. When one neglects his credit and fails to pay his honest obligations, he makes it impossible for some one else to meet theirs, therefore it is extremely vital that each and every one see to it that we
