

CRANE PRAIRIE NOW FAVORITE

ANGLERS DECLARE FISHING IS BEST AT HEAD OF DESCHUTES—ODD LIGHT EFFECT IS NOTED AT ODELL LAKE.

Crane Prairie is declared the favorite fishing ground of Central Oregon. Redfishes are plentiful at the north end of the prairie, according to anglers. Trout are not biting to any alarming extent anywhere else at present, and fishing has struck a mid-season slump.

A new explanation of the Indians' fear of Odell lake is advanced by A. E. Anderson, who observed a peculiar phenomenon while fishing there recently. Whether Anderson was frightened or not he does not say.

The sun, shining through clouds, cast for a time a red glow on the lake, which was reflected with full intensity on the forest nearby, Anderson relates. Then the wind rose, and high waves rolled up on the shore where Anderson was fishing.

BLAME SOLDIERS FOR DRUG SALE IN PARIS

Cocaine Bought in Germany At Low Price Distributed in France At Big Profit, Charged.

By John O'Brien.
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
PARIS, Aug. 3.—American soldiers coming to Paris on leave from Coblenz are in great part responsible for the enormous increase in the sale of cocaine, according to a communication made to the Academy of Medicine by Dr. Courtois-Suffit, who added that the American go so far as to employ airplanes for the introduction of the drug into French territory.

Dr. Courtois-Suffit declared that the Americans buy the drug from Germans at 200 to 600 francs a kilo (about 50 cents an ounce) and find it easy to dispose of it in Paris at 12,000 to 15,000 francs a kilo, sold in packages containing a few grains at 10 francs a package. The French police have arrested many American soldiers accused of being in league with the keepers of "coco" resorts in Montmartre, but although the law of 1916 permits the courts to impose a sentence of five years in jail and a fine of 10,000 francs, the drug vendors have almost invariably got off with a nominal fine.

It is believed that the road can be smoothed out so that the trip can be made without difficulty.

WILL ESTIMATE FLUME REPAIR

COST OF PUTTING IRRIGATION SYSTEM OF C. O. I. DISTRICT IN SHAPE TO BE COMPUTED IN MONTH BY JOHN DUBUIS.

Estimates of flume repair and replacement cost, which must be incorporated in the annual assessment of the Central Oregon Irrigation district, are to be compiled by John Dubuis, who was retained for this purpose by the district directors at their regular meeting in Redmond last night. He is expected to finish the work within a week's time.

The directors failed to order the filing of the deed transferring Central Oregon Irrigation Co. holdings and water rights to the settlers, desiring that the instrument should first be checked over by the district's attorney.

Many of the ditch riders formerly employed by the irrigation company are to be retained by the district, it has been decided.

Hall Cannot Be Prevented.
The theory that hail could be prevented by firing cannon or discharging explosives never was accepted by scientists, and careful experiments have shown that it has no foundation. The theory was advanced that the agitation caused by an explosion would prevent the formation of hailstones.
