"EVEN IF DADDY ISN'T THERE"

Little Girl Remembered to Offer Up Prayer for Protection to the Firemen.

There came to the kindergarten a little new girl, who was as sly as she was pretty. Demurely she followed the other children around the room and when they began building with blocks she sat and watched without saying a word. The teacher was wondering whether or not she could coax her to talk, when the fire bell rang. Instantly the tot was on her feet.

"There's the fire bell, teacher," she said, excitedly. "Count the rings, won't you?" And to please her, teacher counted and reported the call. With a look of happiness on her face the little girl sat down.

"That isn't my daddy's firehouse number," she said, softly, "but I'll have to pray a minute so none of the other firemen get hurt."

For a few seconds her little hand was bowed and her lips moved. When she came back to her blocks she explained to the teacher:

"Mother and I always pray for them, even if daddy isn't there."—Indianapolis News.

The Brain at Its Best.

At what time of day is the mind of the average man, doing an ordinary day's work, most efficient? Suppose that he rises between 7 and 8 in the morning and goes to bed about 11, when is he most fit for the execution of the problems of the day requiring the application of brain power? The answer, according to recent investigations by an eminent psychologist, is "between 10 and 11 a. m." says London Tit-Bits.

Guitar Introduced by Moors.

The guitar was introduced into Spain by the Moors about the year 1288. By the beginning of the Nineteenth century the Spanish guitar had become a fashionable instrument on the continent. Ferdinand Sor, a Spaniard, brought the guitar into great popularity in England with his compositions. He succeeded in banishing the less perfect English instrument. Mauro Giuliani, an Italian, was a distinguished rival of Sor's. Other well-known composers were Legani, Kreutzer and Leonard Schultz. Berlioz and Paganini were guitarists of note.
