

AT THE CAMP GROUND

When a family comes to town And locates more or less permanently,
And the man gets a job at the mill,
And they avoid paying rent
By staying at the camp ground,
And use up all the free wood That the city provides, Hog the best piece of shade in the park:
Have a bunch of ornery kids that throw litter around the grounds and refuse to clean up; Holler about poor accommodations,
And never say "Thank you" During the six weeks they live at our expense.
Then the city council and the Commercial club and the Auto Dealers' association and the Woman's Civic league and the Common People wonder if it pays to spend a lot of money on a camp ground for such people to monopolize.
Somebody said the other day that a charge should be made for the accommodations. It'd take a lot of nerve to charge anything for the accommodations we've got now, but it might keep some of these undesirable citizens away.

Somebody else suggested a time limit of two weeks. Anyway, people oughtn't be allowed to live down there forever while the rest of us have to pay rent and taxes and wood and water and light bills and street assessments and dues to the Commercial club, and everything.

POSTERS ANNOUNCE COMING OF CIRCUS

ance in Bend today. The circus will rest here a week from tomorrow and on the following day will give two one in the afternoon.

Why Unlucky to Go Back.

How many people would be willing to acknowledge that they believe it is bad luck to return, after leaving the house, for something they have forgotten? Some popular superstitions can be explained psychologically—and this is one of them. The psychologists agree as to the bad luck part of it, but say that the bad luck consists not so much in the going back for the article as in the forgetting of it in the first place. This shows that you do not keep your mind sufficiently upon the details of what you are doing.
