Accused Murderer Says Treatment Given Jail Inmate Angered Him—Authorities Believe He is Playing Insane.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.) ROSEBURG, Sept. 23.—Dr. R. M. Brumfield went on the warpath today. He hurled a chair at Jailer "two gun" Hopkins when the latter opened his cell door. The chair fell splintered. Hopkins went into the cell, covered the dentist with a gun, and threatened to kill him if he "tried that stuff."

Brumfield then said the attack was caused by the way the officials had treated a man sent in for hard labor. The authorities said the man, Charles Cobb, did but little work despite his sentence of three months at hard labor. They claim Brumfield is attempting to "play insane."

EVANS TRIAL IS NEXT WEEK

INDICTMENT FOR FIRST DEGREE MURDER EXPECTED TO BE CONTENDED BY PLEA OF IN-SANITY.

THE DALLES, Sept. 23.—Abe Evans, confessed slayer of James Doran, will probably be tried next week, it is announced by District Attorney Francis V. Galloway. Evans was indicted on a charge of first degree murder, and at his arraignment was represented by his attorney, W. P. Myers of Bend. The case is to be tried before Judge Fred W. Wilson. It is quite definitely established that insanity will be the chief defense.

Since his arrest, Evans is said to have been acting queerly in his cell in the county jail. At times he appears perfectly lucid, and converses with Jailer Coleman and visitors. At other times he seems to recognize no one, Coleman says.

At one time he is said to have showed signs of violence. Jailer Coleman was standing beside his cell, when Evans suddenly tore his own shirt from his back, at the same time turning to Coleman and asking: "Why did you do that?"

The committee approved of the pacts by a vote of nine to one, Borah opposing it. He will carry the fight to the senate floor, he declared.

COST OF MISSOURI
TO BEND TRIP $48

From Missouri to Bend on an expenditure of $48 was the accomplishment of William Hunt, stepson of R. P. Minter, formerly in the realty business here, who arrived this week. Hunt also lived in Bend several years ago. The expenses of the trip would have been even less except for tire and differential trouble encountered.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—With $400,000,000 of internal revenue taxes on liquor expected, revenue agents today regarded millions of dollars of taxes to be collected on contraband booze as certain. NEW DRAMATIC
STARS APPEAR

B. A. A. C. CAST PLEASURES
AUDIENCE

Amateurs Appearing in "Believe Me, Xantippe" Reveal Unusual Historic Ability—Will be Seen Again This Evening.

Some new dramatic stars among Bend's amateur players made their bow to an audience at the American legion building last night, when the B. A. A. C. players staged the first performance of their first play, "Believe Me, Xantippe." Some members of the cast had appeared in plays presented by the old B. A. A. C., but some of the best work was done by those whose talent in this line was being displayed for the first time.

Among these were Jack Wright and Margaret Thompson, in the leading parts. While both were already recognized as entertainers, this was their first appearance here in a play. Nevertheless they performed in a way which revealed complete ease on the stage and a realization of the lively story they enacted.

The energy of the western girl revealed itself in every action of Miss Thompson, while the leading man carried a difficult part through to the end without a slip.

Parts Well Chosen Craig Coyner as the lazy jailer was a revelation to his friends. With almost no previous experience before an audience, he was the hit of the show in the comedy part assigned to him.

Act 1, in which the plot is laid, is one which might drag a little unless well handled, but Dr. L. W. Gatchell and Willard Houston as the lawyer and the detective kept up the interest while the details necessary to appreciation of the remainder of the play were brought out. Ralph Curtis appeared as a desperado in acts two and four.

John Gagen was perfect in the role of the typical western sheriff, presenting a dominating figure at all times. As his sister, Mrs. Craig Coyner played the part of "Dolly's" guardian aunt with a nice balance between comedy and propriety. Miss Fern Aellen as the bad man's unrefined accomplice presented an effective picture.

Stage Business Difficult Particular business is due the amateur actors for the perfect manner in which they handled the complicated business of the play. Numerous trifling properties, the absence of any one of which would cause a serious break in the action, are necessary in this play. Yet not once did a mistake of this kind occur. Norman Cobb as property man deserves credit for his work, even though he did not appear on the stage. Grease paint is an important part of acting, and C. H. Smith is to be complimented on the artistic work he accomplished behind the scenes.

Erskine Wanted as Gridiron Mentor, Declared—Rockwell Ready to Give up Coaching But Would Remain on Faculty.

As the outcome of agitation under way during the last two weeks against Frank L. Rockwell as coach of the Bend high school football team, City Superintendent S. W. Moore acting on instructions from the teachers' committee, wired today to George (Admiral) Dewey, asking him to come at once to take the position of coach of high school athletics. Up to late this afternoon no answer had been received. Dewey was a star in football and basketball at O. A. C. and last year was coach at Baker.

Coupled with this information it was learned that Mr. Rockwell had been advised by the teachers' committee in the course of a conference held yesterday, to resign. He declared this afternoon that he would continue as an instructor of high school subjects. He has no desire to continue as an athletic director.

Students Object

That the course taken in regard to the coaching season will be opposed by the football squad and quite probably by the high school student body was strongly intimated this afternoon by representative students, who asserted that Charles W. Erskine, Bend attorney who coached during the latter part of last season, is their choice. "Erskine or no coach," was the sentiment they expressed. They declared also that they were opposed to the removal of Rockwell as an instructor, although anxious that he be replaced as a gridiron mentor.

It is understood that a student committee will be given a hearing as to student preferences at the next meeting of the school board.

CONFERENCE IS MARKING SHIFT
FROM BALKANS TO THE PACIFIC

By Webb Miller,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Sept. 23.—The Washington conference is the beginning of a new phase in diplomatic history and marks the permanent shifting of the center of the world's diplomatic equilibrium from the Balkans and Mediterranean to the Pacific. This is the general opinion of French statesmen and publicists. For the first time French public opinion regarding the Washington conference is beginning to crystallize. Hitherto, statesmen and the public have given little attention to the conference, owing to the Franco-British differences over Upper Silesia. With that troublesome question side-tracked, the public is turning its attention toward Washington.

The closer the project of the conference is examined the more French officialdom is convinced of the worldwide significance and importance—but it is regarded primarily as a question between the United States, England and Japan.

There is a widespread impression that the question of disarmament in the conference is subsidiary and depends upon some successful solution of the Pacific problem and was injected as "bait" that the big vital problem of the conference is the future trend of Anglo-American rela-

Kamanoff, head of the Moscow soviet, member of the bolshevik cabinet told the United Press that the soviet government had decided to return all industries throughout Russia to private capital except four railways, metallurgical, textile, and fuel sources.

Kamanoff declared that Russia is on the eve of a sweeping reorganization including reinstallation of a large part of the capitalist machinery abolished in the 1917 revolution.

DRAFT OF PREMIER'S PRO-

NOTE.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.) LONDON, Sept. 23.—A fateful and possibly a final decision regarding the Irish peace situation with an attendant conference between representatives of two governments, impending today with members of the British cabinet individually inspecting drafts of Lloyd George's proposed reply to Sinn Fein.

Ireland is reported to be looking hopefully toward a satisfactory reply insuring a conference and termination of the age-old struggle.

Japanese-American relations, with the less important but equally interesting question of future relations between England and France and Japan forming the third side of the triangle.

Although she has wide financial and economic interests in the whole Far East and her colonies in Indo-China, French statesmen recognize that France's role in the Pacific question is considerably less important than that of any of the other three major powers. Therefore they foresee that she will be in a position to act with mediatory influence.

An article by Jacques Balville in La Liberté capably sums up the views of a certain section of French opinion regarding the Pacific question. He says:

"The Washington conference approaches and the object is becoming more clear. It is a matter of high politics and of diplomacy in a new and considerably widened domain. The case is very simple. England and France have records with Japan. Thanks to these which envisaged the protection of India, the British possessions and those of France were not menaced during the war. The Japanese alliance rendered uncountable services. Naturally, Japan demanded recompense and it was at the expense of China."

Al Semmner, Miss Rappe's manager and formerly Arbutckle's close friend, was expected to make this accusation on the witness stand. Dr. Arthur Beardslee, whom both prosecution and defense claim as a witness, reached San Francisco and will meet the district attorney today. He may testify in the preliminary hearing.

He was the first physician attending Miss Rappe.

FEW TRAVELING ON SETTLERS' SPECIAL

Eight Induced to Come West as Result of Summer Campaign Conducted by State Chamber.

When the settlers' special arranged by the Oregon chamber of commerce arrives in Bend Tuesday, the Bend Commercial club will be put to no trouble whatever in entertaining the visitors, according to Secretary L. Antles. The reason is that the entire number secured by representatives of the chamber in the middle west for the entire summer is only eight. Part of these will go to Portland, the remainder coming to Bend.

The party was organized by J. R. Heuring, agent of the state chamber, who has been in the middle west during the last summer. It was expected the party would be considerably larger, but owing to inability of farmers to market their products, many who planned participating in the trip to Oregon cancelled their reservations.

BONUS ATTORNEYS
ARE U. OF O. GRADS

EUGENE, Sept. 23.—Ten of the 35 bonus attorneys for the counties of the State are University of Oregon men, as is revealed by a comparison of the list of attorneys with the records of the alumni secretary. Of the others, scarcely any two are graduates of the same school, giving the university a large plurality over the other institutions represented.

A former member of the class of 1910, Charles W. Erskine of Bend, is bonus attorney for Deschutes county and a graduate of a still earlier class who will aid world war veterans in adjusting their claims in Galloway, of The Dalles, a graduate with the class of 1907, who will serve Wasco county.

State's Case Weakens When Own Witness Admits Aged Bride Was Still Alive When Carried Away in "Death Trunk"

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.) SEATTLE, Sept. 23.—Attorney Lee Johnston, James Mahoney's counsel, is expected to ask Judge Ronald to stop Mahoney's murder trial forthwith by directing the jury to return a "not guilty" verdict.

Mahoney and his lawyers are jubilant following state witnesses' admissions yesterday that Mrs. Mahoney was still alive when the truck driver got the supposed "death trunk" from the Mahoney apartment.

Witnesses continued to testify today in the trial of James Mahoney, accused wife murderer, with the case against the alleged slayer admittedly weakening.

The majority of the testimony trunk centered about the "mystery" truck.

PARENTS WANT
REID SCHOOL

McKAY, GILCHRIST, AND RIVERFRONT RESIDENTS, IN PETITION, AGAINST SENDING CHILDREN TO KENWOOD.

Residents of McKay, Gilchrist and Riverfront are the signers of a petition on file with Clerk J. C. Rhodes of the Bend school district, asking that the recent change made in the boundaries for the territory cared for by the various grade schools be so changed as to allow their children to attend the Reid school. The streets represented in the petition were formerly included in the Reid district, but were changed because of lack of space at the Reid and a surplus at the Kenwood.

The petitioners set forth that the distance to the Kenwood school is much greater, and that because of lack of sidewalks the children are unable to attend classes in inclement weather. An opportunity for a hearing before the directors is asked. Eighteen pupils are represented in the petition.

STUDENT CREED IS FORMULATED

CITIZENSHIP IS OUTLINED FOR PUPILS IN CIRCULAR PLACED IN EACH GRADE SCHOOL ROOM—MOORE IS AUTHOR.

A civic creed for the school children of Bend, arranged by Superintendent S. W. Moore, has been published and is today being placed in each grade school room in the city. The pupils are all expected to familiarize themselves with its clauses, which are as follows:

I am a citizen of Bend, of Oregon, and of the United States.

I will help to make my city a clean, healthful, and beautiful place to live in.

I will help to make my State better by obeying the laws, and by helping others to obey them.

I will be a good American, and will always love my country and my country's flag.

I will try to learn to make an honest living, so that I may be happy myself and helpful to others.

I will always try to be fair in play and true in work.

I will try to be kind to every living thing,—the poor, the weak, the old, and especially to dumb animals. I pledge these services to my city, my state, and my country.
