

BEND REALIZES TRUE VALUE OF HOME PRODUCTS

STORE WINDOWS AND DINNER FEATURES

FREEMAN IS VISITOR

Heads Delegation of Manufacturers and Business Men Who Are Guests of City—Awards To Be Made This Evening.

With store windows showing the value of the home product and an Oregon products dinner to be given tonight at Epworth hall looming as the perfect end of a perfect day, realization that Bend is fully alive to the importance of stimulating Oregon's industries was brought home to the delegation of Portland manufacturers and business men, who, headed by D. C. Freeman, manager of the Associated Industries of Oregon, arrived in the city this morning.

Cash prizes for the best educational value, best advertising value, and for the most artistic window displays, will be awarded tonight at the Civic league dinner. Only one feature of the program remains uncompleted—the school essay contest on Oregon products. This can not be finished until next week as the work of the pupils has been seriously interfered with by the trouble over the local teaching situation.

Valuable Prizes Offered

Prizes offered in this contest are a Stradivari photograph of the value of $150, donated by the Stradivari Phonograph Co., a framed landscape by Kiser, a Jantzen sweater by the Jantzen Knitting Mills, a cap by the Jacobs Hat & Cap Co., a mackinaw by Neustadter Bros., and a pair of shoes by the Bergman Shoe Co.

Portland visitors who will be Bend's guests at the dinner tonight are: H. J. Frank, president of Associated Industries, and head of the Blumauer-Frank Drug Co.; E. N. Strong, manager of the Oregon Life Insurance Co.; E. D. Carter, of the Beaver-Portland Cement Co.; L. D. Cook, Kerr-Gifford Co.; M. R. Johnson, sales manager Pacific Coast Biscuit Co.; E. J. Berry, Whitfield-Whitecomb Co.; C. H. Bullen, Concrete Pipe Co.; H. M. Durston, Pacific Telephone Co.; D. C. Freeman, manager Associated Industries.

Windows Are Attraction

It required no special effort to arrange an Oregon display at the Bend Furniture store, because 75 per cent of the goods that are in stock there are made in Oregon, says Manager McPherson. Bedroom furniture made by the Dorobecker Manufacturing Co., office furniture by the Oregon Table Co., and blankets made by the Oregon City Woolen mill, are shown.

Special displays of Carnation milk and of Golden West coffee and Nurray-a tea are shown in windows of the Miner building.

The Owl Drug store shows Pupils and Wallace-Stearns products, and also some preparations which are not only made by Oregon chemists, but on the formulae furnished by the Owl company.

R. H. Loven has the most unique display of Oregon products shown. It consists of a moonshine plant, complete with mash barrel, boiling vat, worm and coil, and several samples purporting to be the product of the still. The moonshiner is there, with his rifle, guarding the plant. Unusual interest has been manifested in the display. In the opposite window, leather goods are attractively shown, the product of the George Lawrence Co. of Portland.

A showing of Maypole yarn—from the grease wool to the finished product—features the attractive display at the Mannheim store. A pile of raw wool just as it comes from the sheep's back, is shown, then in the scoured and combed stages. The staple from the fourth to eighth drawings, then in the spun and twisted stages, and finally as colored yarn, is seen in one of the store's big windows, which also contains woolen goods, including blankets and cloth. An Oregon City woolen mill display is in the store's other window.

At the O'Donnell market, Carnation milk, Swift's premium hams, and lard produced by the O'Donnells, are used in a neat window.

PUPILS STRIKE, STAGE PARADE FOR PRINCIPAL

B. H. S. STUDENTS YELL FOR PAULSON

SUSPENSION IS VOTED

Execution of Sentence Passed On Ringleaders Left With Principal And Superintendent—Many Attend Classes In Afternoon.

Students of the Bend high school declared a strike this morning, serpentine through the streets of the city for nearly two hours, chanting "we want Paulson and fair play" as they marched. Some 300 were in line. Addressed by Deo McRoberts, president of the student body, in front of the gymnasium, they voted to return to their classes tomorrow morning. The demonstration was staged as a remonstrance against the discharge of Principal Mark A. Paulson two days ago on charges of incompetency and insubordination.

A special school board meeting held this noon at the residence of C. A. Hayden on Congress street resulted in the suspension for insubordination of the students responsible for the parade, leaving execution of the sentence to Miss Harriet Umbaugh as principal, and S. W. Moore as city superintendent.

Board Stands Firm

Classes were nearly deserted this morning a few moments after assembly at 10 o'clock. Ervin McNeal had addressed the students and asked if they desired to serpentine for Paulson, someone shouted "let's go," and the parade started.

This afternoon the attendance had greatly increased, over 200 being in class and study rooms.

Further demonstrations of the kind, according to opinions expressed by individual members of the board, will be met by suspension of all athletics, and a request to city and county authorities to take the situation in hand.

A final demonstration which will test to the utmost the flow of the artesian well recently drilled on the John Ernst ranch in the Fort Rock valley, is set for Saturday. Henry M. Parks, director of the state bureau of mines, stated this morning on his arrival in Bend.

Mr. Parks now on his way to Bend, has with him N. C. Jamison, expert driller, who will look over the work already accomplished in preparation for the final test. Pumping at the rate of more than 600 gallons a minute has already failed to diminish the flow appreciably.

ANDERSON CASE HEARING ENDED

DECISION IS EXPECTED FRIDAY MORNING

Witnesses Identify Alleged Alterations in Cash Book As Anderson's Handwriting—Defense Silent—Case Under Adjudication

Alleged alterations in the cash book of the Bend Water Light & Power Co., sheets of which are exhibits in the hearing of A. E. Anderson today on a charge of larceny, were identified by John T. Pasquill, auditor, and by J. A. Wesson, handwriting expert, as made by Anderson. The alterations, Pasquill testified, tended to reduce the balance in the cash on hand column. The testimony was ended at 3:20 this afternoon. Anderson declined to make a statement, no evidence was introduced by the defense, and neither attorney offered any argument. Judge Sawyer took the case under advisement, and will render a decision at nine o'clock tomorrow morning. Anderson may be released for lack of sufficient evidence, or bound over to the grand jury.

The original entries in the cash book were made by Miss Hilah Brick, one or two corrections by L. T. Dawson, the cashier, and the alterations by Anderson, said both witnesses, except in cases where the handwriting could not be determined, in one or two cases the number first written could be distinguished, they testified.

Thorough Probe Made
Investigation was made of the bank balances for several months back of all office employees of the company, said Pasquill. Deposits in excess of Anderson's salary checks to the amount of $650 were discovered, he said.

Anderson was asked to explain this, and said his wife gave the money to him. She corroborated this. Asked where she received the money, according to the witness, she said she brought $600 from the east. She still had $75, and had given her mother $50. Later, said Pasquill, Mrs. An-

EVANS DEFENSE LAYS EMPHASIS UPON INSANITY

DORAN'S KILLER GOES ON TRIAL

PICK JURORS RAPIDLY

Slayer Studies Fingers During Hearing And Takes Little Apparent Interest In Proceedings, But Is Believed Nervous.

(Special to The Bulletin.)
THE DALLES, Ore., Sept. 29.—A defense of insanity will interposed to save the life of Abe Evans, Bend logger, whose trial began here today on the charge of murdering James Doran. By his emphasis of the insanity question entering into the guilt of the defendant, in examining the prospective jurors during the morning, W. P. Myers, Bend attorney, clearly indicated the means that will be sought to save Evans from the gallows. Mrs. Evans and children are in the court room.

Seven veniremen had been passed for cause by both sides at noon today, and the jury will probably be complete tonight. The opening statements and testimony for the prosecution will begin Friday morning, it is believed.

Evans Apathetic

Evans was a figure of curiosity to the crowd which comfortably filled the court room. He was brought in by Sheriff Chrisman neatly dressed in a blue suit and spent the morning engaged in close scrutiny of his fingers while the attorneys pressed upon the qualifications of the veniremen. Although outwardly quiet Evans is said to be very nervous. He made no attempt to assist his attorney in the selection of jurymen, and much of the time appeared to know very little of what was transpiring.
