ALLEGED KILLER IS UNMOVED

STATE URGES DEATH

District Attorney Neuner Promises To Prove Murder And To Show That Brumfield Was Sane— Charge Suicide Attempt.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.)
ROSEBURG, Oct. 11.—Facing a full permanent jury chosen and sworn in late yesterday afternoon, and an array of 60 witnesses through whom District Attorney Neuner hopes to prove, through a chain of circumstantial evidence, Dr. R. M. Brumfield's guilt as the murderer of Dennis Russell, Brumfield started the first day of his actual fight for life as court convened this morning.

Neuner presented the state's case in the opening argument, and called the state's first witness.

Brumfield attended court apparently unmoved at the more sinister turn his trial has now taken. Mrs. Brumfield sat with him.

Dennis Russell's relatives were absent at Boomer Hill, where Russell's aged father, Thomas Russell, died yesterday.

Insanity Affirmed
In his opening statement District Attorney Neuner told the court briefly he would show Brumfield murdered Dennis Russell on July 13 while in full possession of his faculties. He demanded death as the punishment.

Dexter Rice, chief attorney for the defense, said he would prove Brumfield insane at least three times—once on the night of the murder, once when arrested in Calgary, and once when brought here and put in jail.

The state charged that Brumfield tried to commit suicide by taking strychnine in Calgary; that his wife was in collusion with him in the murder; and that the letter written by Brumfield, purported to be from Dennis Russell, was an open confession of his guilt.

Jury On Inspection
The court adjourned the case at 10 o'clock today while the jurors inspected nearby places connected with Russell's alleged murder. Taking of testimony was resumed at 2:30 o'clock.

PORTLAND MAN MAY BE SIXTH POISON VICTIM

TWO LEFT TWIN FALLS

Vain Search Is Made For Couple's Trunks, Thought Stored In Portland Hotel—Prosecution In The Southard Case Finds Clue.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.)
TWIN FALLS, Idaho, Oct. 11.—The possibility that a sixth victim fell before Mrs. Lydia Southard's alleged poisonous attacks, for which she is now answering through a charge of first degree murder for the death of Edward Meyer, her fourth husband, developed today when the prosecution said that Mrs. Southard had left Twin Falls with Ben Chesman, a salesman, possibly of Portland, early in 1920.

They were thought to have been married in Oregon, Washington, or Montana. Mrs. Southard returned to Twin Falls where she married Edward Meyer. Chesman has not been seen since.

Their trunks are thought to have been stored in a hotel in Portland. Efforts to locate these trunks have failed.

GILBERT FOULS, WOODS WINNER

SPECK GETS REFEREE'S DECISION ON OPPONENT'S LOW PUNCH—LURBES, SOWARD TAKE PRELIMINARIES.

After six rounds of hard battling, during which both men underwent severe punishment, Fred Gilbert lost to Speck Woods last night on a foul, leaving the bitter rivalry of the two still to be satisfactorily settled. Woods outpointed Gilbert most of the time, but Gilbert always came back just at the time when he seemed beaten, and administered some damaging blows in return.

Gilbert, weighed in at 140 1/2 pounds just before the contest, resembled a starved wolf when he threw off the robe he wore into the ring, and seemed weak when the fight began.

Early in the first round Gilbert adopted the old crouching defensive position which was so familiar to Bend fans months ago. His long absence from the ring made him a poor judge of distance, missing many of his swings. Woods drove Gilbert to the ropes and began the punishment at close range which was the system used by both men throughout the fight.

In the second Woods again forced the battle, but Gilbert also began doing some damage. After some tough fighting, Gilbert went to the floor for the count of three, but was not hurt. Woods had caught him off balance and pushed him over with a right to the chest.

Gilbert appeared so helpless at the opening of the third that Woods began playing with him, whereupon Gilbert laced out a right to the body which almost finished Speck. Gilbert forced Woods to cover his face, battering him severely while the crowd went wild.

Woods was not nearly so confident in the fourth, Gilbert taking the lead with a hard left to the face. Speck got in one good blow—a right to the chest. The round was fairly even.

Again at the opening of the fifth Speck cut loose, pounding Gilbert at close range until his face was a mass of blood. Gilbert slipped to the floor, but was up immediately. The fiercest fighting of the bout occurred in this round, both men landing damaging body blows at close range. Some of Gilbert's punches were low, and Woods' seconds claimed a foul.

At the opening of the sixth Woods again forced Gilbert to a helpless seat on the ropes. Gilbert had just recovered and was coming back strong at close range, when the foul

OREGON ESSAYS ARE EXCELLENT

IMPORTANCE OF BUYING HOME PRODUCTS CLEARLY SHOWN BY GRADE PUPILS IN CONTEST PAPERS.

Thorough appreciation of the importance of buying Oregon made goods is shown in the essays of Bend school children, now being graded in the contest arranged by the Associated Industries in connection with Home Products week. The prize winners will be announced soon. The following excerpts from the essays were taken more or less at random. All of the essays are excellent, according to members of the judging committee.

The three quotations are from essays written by pupils of the 5A grade, the first two from the Reid school, the third from the Kenwood. "In our state millions of dollars are paid to men for manufacturing work every year. If we can keep these millions in our own state we will have a richer state. Let us make it a rule to buy from this state and not from Germany, China, Japan, England or New York. We simply must help our state to grow. We must work to increase every industry in the state in which we live, so that we may have larger manufacturing plants."

"Once my mother thought she would go to Seattle to buy me a coat, because she thought the coats would be better there. So we went to Seattle and she bought me a pretty coat, and when we came back to Bend we saw a child on the street with a coat just like the one we had bought in Seattle. We found out the price, and it was cheaper than the coat mother had bought for me. Mother said, 'Just think of the money I spent to take you to Seattle.'"

"Oregon has in the neighborhood of 25,000,000 acres of Douglas fir, yellow pine, spruce, cedar, hemlock and other varieties of merchantable timber yet in reserve. The timber in the state of Oregon, if cut into lumber, would require 33,000,000 cars to transport it. These cars would make a train that would encircle the globe about eighty times. It would require 300 sawmills, each cutting 100,000 feet per day, 110 years to accomplish this task. The products of Oregon timber bring into the state every day of the year more than $110,000."

The dodgers do not mention the person or organization calling the meeting, but state that the question of obtaining the services of Mark A. Paulson as high school principal and Frank I. Rockwell as science teacher in the high school, will come up for discussion.

Paulson was removed by the board recently on charges of incompetency and insubordination. Rockwell had previously been dismissed on charges of incompetency based on his alleged inability to coach the football squad.

ORDER AUTOPSY FOR AL STEIN

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.)
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 11.—A murder charge may be preferred today in the case of Al Stein, movie comedy director, who died following a "wild party" in his apartments here. An autopsy will be held today. If it shows Stein died of poison, responsibility for his death will be charged to Mildred Bellwin, and Jean Monroe, girls who had lived with him, now jailed here. Prohibition officers say if the autopsy shows he died from liquor, bootleggers, now being traced, may be held.

B. H. S. ELEVEN MAKES STRIDES

FINISHED TEAM WHIPPED INTO SHAPE IN LITTLE OVER A WEEK—PLAYS THOROUGHLY LEARNED—BACKS FAST.

What wonderful strides toward the turning out of a finished football team have been made by Charles Erskine, mentor of the Bend high school squad, in a short two weeks, can be realized only by watching the team in action. The accomplishment is all the more remarkable for the reason that many of the best players have really been out for only a week.

The repertoire of plays which Erskine has taught his men is necessarily limited, but they have learned perfectly the few that he has given them, so that every man knows what he is to do in each play. The backs are moving with lightning speed the moment the ball is snapped, and fumbles are very rare. The linemen are becoming well versed in the important art of blocking, and are learning to use their hands on defense.

Two full teams turned out last night, and heavy scrimmaging was the program for most of the evening. Scrimmage practice will be in order again this evening. Marking of the field for the boundaries was begun last night, and the goal posts will be up Wednesday, so that Erskine's kickers may try their skill at the regulation target.
