Felt hat making was still in its primitive stage in 1556. Here's a hat factory of that period. Father whips the felt cone to shrink it to proper proportions, big brother blocks the hat, while little brother trims the brim.

Today the Gordon hat is the finest product of modern methods.

changes in the playing system this week, the effort being to perfect the execution of the plays already in use. This has been successful in that fumbling has been virtually eliminated. A much more efficient attack will be uncovered by the local team tomorrow as a result.

Guy Claypool, captain of the Bend team, will have as an opponent on the Prineville team his cousin, Winfield Claypool.

During the past week the goal posts have been erected and the field put in shape for the game, which will commence at 2:30 o'clock. Yancey of Prineville has been agreed upon as referee. Gates, who refereed last week's game at Redmond, will umpire. Other officials have not been selected.

A football rally was held at the Bend high school this afternoon at 3:20 o'clock preparatory to the game tomorrow. Franklin Forrester, of the high school faculty, talked on the value of athletics to the high school. The remainder of the period was given over to yell and song practice.

THE USE of Oregon Products is fundamental or even elemental if Oregon is to prosper. The population of Oregon cannot be sustained if Oregon payrolls decrease.

It is a matter of vital interest, then, to every inhabitant of the state to keep Oregon dollars in the state!

To buy our own products and use them is like eating the cake and having it, too. It is keeping the products and the money also. Let's do it with renewed energy! Let's patronize those merchants who feature Oregon-made merchandise.

Let an Oregon product give us pleasure and strength at every dining hour. Let's go to the greatest extent reasonable to build and furnish our homes with Oregon Products and let us daily as we enter the store rooms and shops keep before us an obligation that we cannot shift—BUY OREGON PRODUCTS!
