JAPANESE SHORT OF CHIEF STAPLE

Must Now Import Rice, Principal Article of Diet of Islanders, From United States.

By Clarence Dubose
 (United Press Staff Correspondent)
 TOKIO, Dec. 20.—The carrying of coals to Newcastle is being duplicated here.

Rice is being imported into Japan. A few days ago a shipment of 5,600 bags of American rice reached here from San Francisco, and negotiations were under way for the importation this winter of considerable large lot quantities of rice from the United States.

Japan faces the serious situation of finding itself unable this year to produce a sufficient home consumption supply of the food upon which most of its people principally subsist.

Bills have been prepared for introduction in the new session of the diet in December lifting temporarily the import duty on rice. Meanwhile an emergency order will be issued, removing the duty for the time, if the diet is slow in action, and if the necessity for quick imports justifies.
