

CHAMBER GETS TONNAGE DATA

NEW RAIL LINES ARE CONSIDERED

Figures Collected From Various Sources Show Vast Timber And Agricultural Resources Which Would Be Tributary To Bend.

Bearing on the question of connecting of the stub lines in the south central and eastern part of the state with the main railroads radiating from Portland, keeping trade in Oregon rather than taking it to Nevada, California and Idaho, a map has been procured from the office of the state engineer, giving data of the probably tonnage tributary to the proposed extensions, says the monthly news letter of the Oregon Chamber of Commerce. Information so far secured is chiefly in regard to timber and irrigated or irrigable lands, much of the territory reported on being either directly or indirectly tributary to Bend.

Thus far the following information has been obtained:
From Office of the State Engineer

Acres	Acres
Irrigated Proposed
Klamath district.....	95,000 148,580
Lakeview district.....	100,090 84,777
Crane district.....	158,000 141,870
	353,000 375,227

From a Well Posted Klamath Falls Citizen

"Roughly, I would say five billion feet of privately owned timber and five billion feet of reservation timber at the very least should be considered tributary to a railroad from Bend to Klamath Falls. In addition there is some National Forest timber in the Crater and Deschutes forests which would go out by such a road.

"A road extending from Lakeview to Bend would draw considerably less tonnage from lumber owing to the fact that such a road would parallel from Lakeview to Fort Rock, a belt of yellow pine lying to the west. Possibly two billion feet might be properly deemed tributary to such a road.

"You may be interested in knowing that the county cruse develops 377,120 acres of pine lands in Lake county in private ownership, and 1,082,524 acres of timbered lands in private ownership in Klamath county. A very conservative estimate for the private lands in Lake and Klamath counties would be 10,000 per acre, which means at the very least fifteen billion feet. In addition, it is estimated that there is at least several billion feet on the Klamath Indian reservation, besides a considerable volume belonging to the National Forests and the so-called O. & C. grant lands."

From the Forest Service
"In response to your telephone request for our estimates of the amounts of timber tributary to certain possible transportation lines in Central Oregon, I have the following to offer: The possible railroad transportation routes you suggested were: (1) Crane-Bend, (2) Bend-Kirk via Crescent, and (3) Lakeview-Bend.

Below are presented our estimates of the amount of merchantable timber in each of the several regions above defined; they are necessarily very much generalized.

1. Tributary to existing Vale-Crane railroad:

Private	Million Feet B. M.	500
Government		1,000
Total		1,500

2. Tributary to Crane-Bend extension:

Private	Million Feet B. M.	960
Silver River		300
Government		3,540
Silver River		350
Logan Valley		760
Silver Creek

Total		5,940
About 90% western yellow pine.

3. Immediate vicinity of Bend accessible to logging railroads:

Private	Million Feet B. M.	1,000
Government		300

Total		1,300
About 95% yellow pine.

4. Tributary to Bend-Kirk road GAL TWO—CHAMBER except for timber directly accessible to logging railroads from these two present terminals:

Private	Million Feet B. M.	7,000
Government		4,000

Total		11,000
Over 85% yellow pine.

5. Tributary to existing portion of main line from Klamath Falls to Kirk, including the region east and northeast of Klamath Falls, whose outlet seems probably to be to Klamath Falls:

Private	Million Feet B. M.	9,000
National Forest		6,000
Indian Reservation		5,000

Total		23,900
Over 75 per cent yellow pine.

6. Tributary to Lakeview-Bend railroad:

Private	Million Feet B. M.	5,000
Government		6,000

Total		11,000
Over 85% yellow pine.

ILL-LUCK IN "THREE PIECES"

Ancient Superstition That Has Strong Hold on the Mind of Almost Every Japanese.

You must never take three pieces of any cut food on your plate at one time, nor must you ever offer three pieces of cut food to anyone at one time. There will be bloodshed if you do, according to old Japanese superstition. Why? Well, three pieces is Mi Kire, three cuts, and it may also be, in the spoken language, Mi wo kiru, in another inflection, meaning "to cut the body." Somewhat far-fetched, but it holds strong sway in the minds of every living Japanese. Furthermore you must never cut only three baby dresses out of one piece of material. One "tan" the usual length of piece goods will make exactly three baby dresses, and leave a small remnant. This remnant, if you wish the baby you are sewing for not to suffer from grievous body wounds, you will cut into some part of another dress, the neckband, the belt, or anything you please, so long as the entire cutting from the piece is more than Mi Kire, "three cuts." The curious belief in sympathetic magic is strong in every walk of Japanese life, and in every act of daily existence.

Jewish Physicians Honored.
During a long interval the popes were attended by Jewish physicians. In 1285 the Roman senate reduced the amount of tribute payable by the Jewish community because medical men of that race had refused to charge poor people for their services. Pope Boniface IX, gave a certificate or diploma to the Jewish physician Elias Sablais and later addressed a document of the same scope—a sort of letter of recommendation—to Angelo di Mantua.

Fatal Imagination.
Jnd Tankins says that just an instant before he saw a moth get its wings stung he imagined he heard it exclaim, "At last I am in the spotlight."
