AUTO TAXES IRK JAPANESE OWNERS

Geisha Pay Less, Motorists More—Opposition Laughs At "Bonehead" Play On Part of Selyukai.

TOKIO, March 16.—The geisha think the taxation program of the recent government is fine—just perfectly charming. And the owners of automobiles in Japan think the policy is rotten.

The new budget has trimmed the taxes of all the geisha, who are the waitresses and entertainers in Japanese tea-houses. And it has added another boost to the already stiff automobile taxes.

In political circles the opposition parties are laughing at what they term a "bone-head play" by the Selyukai, which is the party in power.

"The geisha can't vote, whereas most automobile owners can. So just wait until election day!" they chortle.
