THE FELLOWSHIP OF PRAYER

A daily Lenten Bible reading and meditation prepared by the Commission on Evangelism of the Federal Council of Churches for the use of the churches and individuals.

SATURDAY—THE VICTORY OF THE CROSS

Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit. St. Luke 23:46. READ ST. LUKE 23:35-56: "If you wish the crown of joy, take up the cross of sacrifice."

MEDITATION: Whatever my understanding of the atonement, I may be sure of this, that if I have welcomed the Christ as the dominant spirit of my life, I am saved.

PRAYER (That Christ may be lifted up before all men and nations): O thou Father of Jesus Christ, we bless thee for the Matchless One, and for His victorious life and death. May no shallowness or hypocrisy vitiate our allegiance to him. Save us, we beseech thee, from choosing any other foundation for our lives. If there are Gethsemanes and Calvaries for us to brave, may his spirit not fall in us in the testing; and grant us the joy of the Easter song of life that defied death, now and always. Fulfill our desires, we entreat thee, through the crucified and risen Lord. Amen.

Hymn

Beneath the cross of Jesus, I fain would take my stand,
 The shadow of a mighty rock, within a weary land;
 A home within the wilderness, a rest upon the way,
 From the burning of the noontide heat,
 And the burden of the day.

EASTER SUNDAY—THE VICTORY OVER DEATH

Why seek ye the living among the dead? He is not here, but is risen. St. Luke 24:5-6.

READ ST. LUKE 24: "To believe in God is to believe that our spirits, rather than our bodies, express Eternal Reality."

MEDITATION: For the disciples the evidence of the blessed fact that their Master was alive lay in his Easter appearance. Their testimony indeed is valuable to me, but for me the real assurance that my Master lives is his appearance in my life this Easter and every day. In this is redemption worked out.

PRAYER (Thanksgiving for the living Redeemer): O thou Father of Jesus Christ, we bless thee for the Matchless One, and for His victorious life and death. May no shallowness or hypocrisy vitiate our allegiance to him. Save us, we beseech thee, from choosing any other foundation for our lives. If there are Gethsemanes and Calvaries for us to brave, may his spirit not fall in us in the testing; and grant us the joy of the Easter song of life that defied death, now and always. Fulfill our desires, we entreat thee, through the crucified and risen Lord. Amen.

Hymn

Christ the Lord is risen today,
 Sons of men and angels say:
 Raise your joys and triumphs high,
 Sing, ye heavens, and earth reply, Alleluia!

EARLY STARTING OF SWEET PEAS ADVISED; SIX INCH SPACING AND ENRICHMENT OF SOIL NECESSARY

Everybody wants sweet peas. No annual gives more beautiful flowers for cutting and this plant is particularly useful for cutting. It makes a beautiful display for a time but its real value is to provide bouquets for the house.

No one can have sweet peas without giving them an extra start. They will not endure hot, dry weather and flourish. Consequently they must be planted early.

It is much surer and safer to plant them in pots or boxes or in a cold frame for an early start. The paper flower pots of small size which can be very cheaply purchased or the paper drinking cups which can be had at a small outlay are ideal for starting the individual plants, pricking holes in the water cups for drainage. They may be started at any time now and it is a good plan to have some light sticks seven or eight inches long if they must be kept indoors or under glass for some time upon which the tiny plants may start to climb. Otherwise they become hopelessly entangled and almost impossible to transplant to permanent quarters.

Sweet pea growers are with great difficulty weaned from the habit of thick planting of the seed, much the same as with the garden pea. The idea of spacing the individual plants six inches apart is hard to convey to an old fashioned gardener yet one so spaced the soil being thoroughly enriched and a good supply of moisture supplied shows the advantage in the greatly increased vigor of the vine, size of the stem and height to which it will climb to say nothing of larger and more numerous flowers per plant.

These little pots may be placed in a cold frame for an early start, or started in the kitchen window in limited quantities.

Soil for sweet peas cannot be too rich. One element is necessary, that is plenty of humus—decayed vegetable matter—to retain moisture. When the ground dries out, the life of the pea is lighted. Dryness tends to make the vine an easy victim to red spiders, the whole plant turning gray and dying.

Bravely she fought four wild, dark skinned slaves, she challenged an entire bandit cavern, but at last she fell, pierced to the heart by the arrow—of cupid. The Sheik.

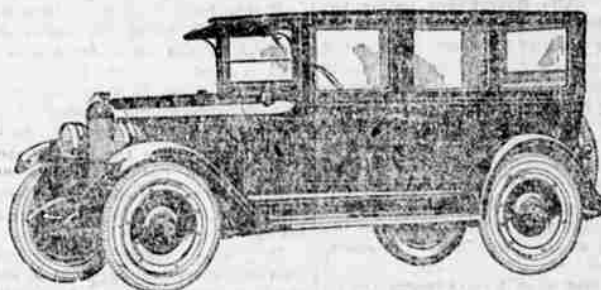

What scenes! What devilish riding! What acting! What fighting for a woman! What realism! What thrills! What a story! What play! The Sheik. What theater? The Liberty. A photoplay of tempestuous love between a madcap English beauty and a bronzed Arab Chief, stripped of the superficial, shorn of the unnecessary, boiled down to a pyramid of sensational sensations—a banquet for the eyes, at least for the emotions—you'll leave thrilled, shocked, quivering but satisfied. The Sheik.
