Letter To Medford Woman Brands Statements of Ku Klux Klan Speaker As False.

MEDFORD, April 29.—Denial that he is friendly to the Ku Klux Klan is made by President Harding in a letter to Mrs. Frank L. Applegate of this city replying to her query on this point. Mr. Applegate's question was prompted by a statement of a Klan speaker here recently to the effect that the nation's executive approved of the organization. The letter from the White House was as follows:

"My dear Mrs. Applegate: Your letter of April 12 to the president is received. You may be very sure that any statement of the president's interest in or approval of the Ku Klux Klan is a complete and egregious misrepresentation of the president's attitude. In some quarters it has even been represented that the president is a member of this organization. Not only is that untrue, but the fact is that the president heartily disapproves of the organization and has repeatedly expressed himself to this effect. Very sincerely,
"GEORGE B. CHRISTIAN, Jr.,
"Secretary to the president."

CALIFORNIANS PLAN LENGTHY LION HUNT

BERKELEY, Cal., April 29.—Even in these days when there are plenty of dangers in crossing metropolitan streets, lion hunting is still drawing men to the wilds of Africa.

Ryan Curtiss Baird, of this city, is making preparations for a trip to darkest Africa with Leslie Simpson, famous lion hunter.

The two men will go via London, and expect to reach Cape Town, South Africa, sometime early in the summer. The trip will take more than a year. They will explore parts of Africa practically unknown to white men.

Fashion Suggestions Given In Reach Of Small Incomes

By HEDDA HOYT
(Written for The United Press.)

NEW YORK, April 29.—This article is written expressly for the girl with the "cotton flannel" coin and the "crepe de chene" soul. Fashions are created for her—though her worn purse is filled with monthly bills—just as much as they are for the lady whose gold mesh bag is filled with hundred dollar bills.

Time was when it was considered the best policy for the girl of limited means to confide her longings for clothes to one good inconspicuous suit with long lasting qualities, rather than to several garments cut on whimsical lines and of inferior materials.

Styles fancies of the moment were not for her. Stiff shirtwaists, unlabeled shoes, dark gloves and sensible hats were the standards fashion writers set for her. She was never to attempt substitutes or imitations, such as cheap jewelry of furs. There are women who still carry out that idea but they are the women who eat alone in small lunch rooms and who buy their own movie tickets.

Women of little means are no longer content to be the inconspicuous background for the women of wealth. To use the phrase of a well known cartoonist, "Them days are gone forever."

It's a silly idea to think that if we can't have the best things on the market we won't attempt style at all. Why make a dull looking mouse of yourself simply because someone says it is vulgar to attempt imitations? Who shall say that a woman with lovely eyes and rosy cheeks looks vulgar because she wears earrings of green glass? The lady in the limousine who peers at her through a lorgnette, whose cheeks are parafined and whose ears are long lobed by the weight of her four carat emeralds?

If we can't afford $4.50 silk stockings we can have fiber silk or silk boat hose and wear them with stylish duplicates of the more expensive shoes. They will wear just as well in the long run as the cotton hose and heavy shoe and give us a lot more soul satisfaction.

If we can't have sable, chinchilla, cross-fox or mink, there are other furs which are attractive. One of the cleverest looking girls I have seen this spring wore a short coat of imitation caracul, trimmed heavily with shaggy black-dyed wolf which so nearly resembled monkey fur that it could only be discerned by closest scrutiny. Her close fitting turban was of draped caracul cloth, caught with a huge pompon of the wolf at one side. Only the trained eye discovered how well she had utilized these imitation furs. The whole outfit probably cost less than the average store tailor-made.

It is effect that counts these days—not the cost of the article. It is better to have three useful little gowns of different design than to have one expensive one which becomes an eye-sore to you in time. Women don't want their clothes to wear too long. Styles change so often that one looks conspicuously out of date in last year's dress regardless of its cost or material.

My advice to the women of small means is to always choose colors that will harmonize well when worn together. You will find this a great saving. I know a charming girl who always uses tones of grey, rose or lavender. They are all becoming to her and look well when combined. It is expensive to buy garments of vastly different colors, such as browns and blues. Brown usually necessitates brown shoes, hat and gloves, and these will not look smart with a blue gown. Blues, greys and lavenders combine nicely. Black, of course, can be used with almost any color.

Always buy gowns that are becoming to you and don't worry so much about how long they are going to last. They'll last long enough to get out of style, that's a certainty.

to take a sarcastic judicial whack at venemore in his court.

George Lusk, charged with selling liquor, was about to be tried. A jury had just acquitted another defendant on grounds of "insufficient evidence." Just before the trial started, Lusk decided to plead guilty and accept a $500 fine.

"Gentlemen," said Judge Van Fleet turning to the jury, "this defendant by changing his plea to guilty has denied you the chance to find him not guilty. You are excused until tomorrow morning."

PADDOCK IMPROVES ON MANY RECORDS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29.—Charles Paddock, world's champion sprinter, beat the time of eight world's records during his trip to Honolulu, according to his statements on returning here. The records were not allowed by the A. A. U. because they were made on a circular track.

"The best record I made," said Paddock, "was in the 50 yard dash, which I did in 5 seconds. The old record was 5 1/5 seconds, made in 1915 by Joe Loomis. I also broke one record which has stood since 1886—the 125 yard dash, which I covered in 12 seconds. The old record was 12 1/5 seconds.

Keeps Silver Bright.
In order to keep silver that is not in constant use in a good condition, fill a paper with alternate layers of forks, spoons and other objects and common flour that is perfectly dry. If the silver is bright and dry when you put it away it may be used at any time without being cleaned for a year or two. After this time the flour needs drying again. This plan saves a great deal of cleaning.

The good will that we enjoy as motor car dealers in Central Oregon is worth too much to be endangered by the sale of a single Used Car that is not of good value.

MAXWELL Most Popular Car!

If ever a motor car won complete and rapid acceptance, it can be truly said the NEW SERIES of the GOOD MAXWELL is that car.

General popularity welcomed the New Maxwell series into the motor car field. And every day that has passed since its first appearance has brought a steady and rapid increase of public favor everywhere.

The Maxwell's popularity in Bend has produced such rapid sales that, should it experience another month's business such as this has been, it will be impossible to secure sufficient cars to fill the orders.

To give some idea of how Portland has accepted the New Maxwell series we are printing here the police records of the car sales for March, showing the Maxwell leading all other cars selling for over $1,000.

Some of the Maxwell detractors are trying to give this concern all the credit for pushing the GOOD MAXWELL ahead with such rapid strides. We appreciate their good opinion and are willing to accept all the credit to which we are entitled—but it is absurd to believe that any organization can take a poor automobile and overcome almost immediately, other cars with years of established prestige.

The Good Maxwell Is Truly Good

Otherwise such an accomplishment would have been impossible.

WE SINCERELY BELIEVE IT TO BE THE BEST CAR IN ITS CLASS

As durable and dependable as any—superior in appearance, more flexible, easier riding—along with its perfectly balanced motor, which is in itself a large element of driving comfort—the Maxwell is a remarkable easy car to drive—steering, clutch, brakes, gear shift—all operate with a minimum of effort.

Any driver, who is a prospect for a new car, may borrow a Good Maxwell for a day and demonstrate to himself the truth of our claims—what better evidence of our sincerity could be asked?

Let your next small car be a Maxwell and prove to yourself that The Bend Motor Service Co. service satisfies
