BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

SAFETY WHILE ASLEEP:—
 I will both lay me down in peace, and sleep: for thou, Lord, only makest me dwell in safety.—
 Psalm 4:8.

THE NEED OF UNDERSTANDING

Perhaps the besetting sin of the average American is his imperfect knowledge of economics. He is a splendid business man individually, but nationally he is not so well informed, and many times the governmental factors that decide our financial policies operate without either the guidance or the check of public opinion. This is a more serious matter than might appear on the surface. A manufacturer, for example, suggests that the government issue money backed not by the gold reserve but by the power in the great rivers. It is contended that the security of power is more stable and beyond doubt a more certain asset than metal.

On the other hand, we find the gold worshippers who insist that the yellow metal is the only basis of national stability. Gold production, of course, is quite limited, footing up at most to a few hundred millions. But also it is a fact that the water power of the country is not an asset until it is harnessed and put intelligently to work.

When we come to consider the production of national wealth on which all credits must be based, we find that the farms of this country last year produced $12,366,000,000; so that this ignoring of agriculture, this turning of the public mind aside from the real American fundamentals means that the powers that be are playing fast and loose with the heart of the nation. The sooner a basis of understanding be reached between the government financiers and the agriculturists, the better will all of us be financially, and nothing will bring the dawning of the day sooner than the pressure of public opinion, which in turn can make itself felt only when there is intelligent understanding of our economic structure.

PERPETUATING A STRIKE

(Oregon Journal)
 The mill operators in the Klamath Falls district should accept the findings of the state board of mediation and put an end to the strike.

They had a hearing before the board, and presented their side of the controversy. All the contentions and all the facts on both sides were given full consideration by the

Farewell, Winter

It has been a weary season, this old winter that departs. Spring arrives, and with good reason we have gladness in our hearts. Always when the winter's aging we grow weary of its curves, weary of its futile raging, and its presence jars our nerves. When the wind, in nook and cranny, howls through dark and bitter hours, how we yearn for Gentle Annie, with her apron full of flowers! When the winter first comes chasing, we pretend we like its play; "Ah, this cold," we say, "is bracing, it is good for any jay; it is fine to face the blizzard, and it makes us young again; heat may suit the clammy lizard, cold is for the sons of men." For a week we smile and chortle as we jog through drifted snow; but our mirth is frail and mortal, and a fortnight lays it low. Oh, the night wind is uncanny, and it has a ghostly sound, and we yearn for Gentle Annie with a yearning most profound. Snow will do for crazed explorers who would find some sort of pole, but the spring winds are restorers of the weary human soul. And I sit here with my granny, arm in arm we twain abide, and we root for Gentle Annie, gladly letting winter slide.

mediators. After the hearing the board decided against the operators as to the nine hour day, but suggested a wage compromise, with a minimum of not less than $3 a day.

In the negotiations the employees at Klamath Falls were far more tractable than the operators. The employees readily consented to mediation, while the operators did so only after numerous refusals. Though clinging tenaciously to the eight hour day the employees quickly consented to a compromise in wages. One mill has accepted the board's findings. If the others continue to stand out, upon them will rest full responsibility for continuation of the strike and the depressing influences that the continued idleness and controversy may bring upon the district.

The decision of the mediation board for an eight hour day is a good decision. The eight hour day is the plan of the Loyal Legion. It is the plan of civilization.
